SJSU Course Catalog Description:

Basic concepts, theories and methods used in the comparative study of socio-cultural systems. Includes cultural ecology and change; political, economic and kinship systems; language, art and religion; cultural perspectives on contemporary issues.

Detailed Course Description:

This course introduces the basic principles of cultural anthropology, a discipline concerned with the origins, development, and diversity of human culture and society. Using illustrative materials from a variety of cultures, we will explore variation in human behaviors and beliefs and consider some of the ways that anthropologists have attempted to account for that variation. A particular concern in the course will be the manner in which global processes of economic, political, and social change intersect with the everyday lives of local people. A broader goal of the course is to introduce students to the way anthropologists think about their subject matter.

Course Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

- Think critically and reflectively about the nature of cultural differences
- Understand how anthropologists use field methods to collect data

- Grasp how the various components of a “culture” form an integrated whole
- Understand and apply concepts of cultural relativism and ethnocentrism
- Learn how anthropological thinking can be applied into careers such as medicine, international development as well as other fields

GE Learning Outcomes:

Area D1 Human Behavior: Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to recognize the interaction of social institutions, culture, and environment with the behavior of individuals.

Course Format:

This course will be delivered via in-person meetings twice a week. Our in-person meetings will be lecture-based, but will incorporate an active learning environment. Class sessions will have a mix of lecture, videos and activities. Students are required to engage in small & large group discussions every class period.

Students are required to purchase and use an online electronic textbook, and the course makes use of both Canvas learning management system and the REVEL online platform that is affiliated with the electronic textbook. All students are required to check their SJSU email address regularly, as course material, updates, and announcements will be disseminated through both SJSU email and the course platforms.

Pre-requisites/Co-requisites/Anti-requisites:

There are no pre-requisites for this course

Required Texts/Readings (Required):

- Miller, Barbara (2015) Cultural Anthropology. 8th Edition. Pearson (ISBN-13: 978-0134419077). Students are required to purchase e-text that connect to REVEL as you will be completing some coursework within REVEL. You can purchase a loose-leaf copy of the text separately if you prefer to read using a hard copy (but you’ll still be required to purchase REVEL and complete assessments there). Information located on the course Canvas site about purchasing the e-text.
 - Note there is also a free-app associated with the e-text that will allow you to access the readings and assessments from your phone or tablet, even allowing you to listen to an audio-version of the textbook.
- Other readings will be provided to you

Final Grades (based on percentage of total possible points)

Grade	Percentage of Total Course Points	Assessment
A	92.5-100	Excellent
A minus	89.5-92.4	Excellent
B plus	87.5-89.4	Good
B	82.5-87.4	Good
B minus	79.5-82.4	Good

F	Less than 59.5	Failure

Note on “rounding” grades: The grades here have already been “rounded up” – meaning, if you earn an 89.5, I round up to give you an A minus (rather than a B plus). Grades will not be rounded up further than what is already stated here.

For your own protection, you should keep a copy of everything you hand in, and you should keep your graded assignments at least until grades are finalized at the end of the semester, and in the event you wish to contest any grades.

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week, or 9 hours per week for a 3 credit course) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

In this course, the time breakdown is as follows:

- 3 hours/week of in-class meeting
- 2-4 hours/week of required reading
- 2-4 hours/week of out-of-class assignments/activities

Final grades for the course will be assigned on basis of the following. Refer to the course schedule located on Canvas for due dates.

Class Participation

This will be based upon attendance and group discussion participation. All students begin the class with 250 participation points. Lack of participation will result in docking points from this total.

There are two ways you could be docked participation points:

1. Absence from class discussions and activities: We will have small group discussions and activities each class period. Students will each need to write down their own individual and their group discussion points. These written responses will be collected on 17 random days throughout the semester. You are allowed two absences (no questions asked) and starting on the third and each subsequent absence you will be docked 10 points from your participation grade (unless you have an instructor-approved absence). If you are late to class and miss submitting your participation check, you will be counted as absent (unless you have an instructor-approved reason for being late, or arranged to be late to class with the instructor prior to that day).
2. Unprofessional Behavior: Students are expected to participate in class in a professional manner (see below for expectations of class discussions). Students who choose to engage in an unprofessional manner and/or are inattentive in class (e.g. tardiness, talking while others are talking, on their phones or laptops view non-course related material, etc.) will lose participation points after being given a verbal and written warning.

Syllabus Quiz

Each student is required to read through this syllabus and complete a syllabus quiz (located on Canvas) within the first week of the course. You must receive an 80% or higher and you can repeat the quiz until you reach it.

Twice-weekly Reading Checks

There are assigned readings that need to be completed before each class. Students are also required to complete assigned reading checks via REVEL before each class period. Refer to the course schedule for information on due dates. There are a total of 12 chapters, and in each chapter there are 3 sections. There is a reading check after each section worth 5 points and you have one chance per question. The original total points possible for this was 180 (12 chapters x 3 reading checks x 5 pts), but I will be counting it out of 150. This means that you have 6 reading checks that you can skip (or 30 pts). However, if you choose to complete those reading checks you can earn extra points (assuming you miss some points) to help you meet the 150 needed (although no extra credit above 150 points will be allowed).

NOTE: If you are sick, even with an excused absence/doctor's note, you will not be able to make up reading checks—those will count as part of your 6 “free” checks. If you experience technical difficulties you need to contact the instructor and TA immediately in order to document the problem and so we can help come up with a solution. Inaction on your part will not be an excuse to get an extension.

Weekly Chapter Quizzes

There will be a quiz for each chapter covered in the course. Quizzes will cover materials covered in the readings as well as lecture and classroom activities. These will be made available via Canvas and are due by the date and time listed on the course schedule. These are open book and open note quizzes.

Assignments

There are two written assignments for this course: 1) Exchange of Chocolate and 2) Religious Ethnography. These assignments will require you to gather data, write up your notes/observations, analyze your data and answer questions. Refer to Canvas for a complete list of instructions.

Final Reflection

For the final culminating activity of the course, students are required to write a short essay reflecting on how concepts in the class can apply to their future careers. Refer to the course Canvas site for instructions. The final reflection is due via Canvas no later than the scheduled final exam period for the course (see beginning of syllabus).

Extra Credit

There will be no extra credit opportunities assigned for this course.

Incompletes

A mark of "I" (incomplete) is given by the instructor when you have completed most of the course (at least 80% of coursework) and are otherwise doing acceptable work (have a passing grade) but are unable to complete the course because of illness or other conditions beyond your control. You are required to arrange with the instructor for the completion of the course requirements.

Late Assignments

Students are responsible for knowing the course due dates (listed on Canvas), and for turning work in on time.

- If you need an accommodation/extension on course assignments for religious practices, please follow the university procedure to request an accommodation.
- If you have a personal or medical reason for requesting an extension on an assignment, you must do so in advance of the assignment due date. Requests for excuses must be written, either on paper or email, and approval must be obtained, either by an email reply or by having the paper excuse signed by the instructor. In order to get credit, with the late assignment you must turn in a copy of the email approval or signed written excuse.
- Quizzes/Reading Checks - If a student misses a quiz or a reading check for any reason, they will receive a grade of 0 (zero). There are no make-ups for reading checks as students are all allowed to miss up to 6 reading checks with no penalty. A make-up quiz will only be given in the case of a serious emergency that is documented by a physician's letter or the equivalent and approved by the instructor. Please discuss any circumstances with the instructor.
- Written assignments will be accepted up to 5 days late (including weekends) and will be docked 10% points (i.e. one letter grade) for each day that they are late on top of assigned grade. Students can request an extension without penalty only in cases of documented medical or personal emergencies/circumstances approved by the instructor.

Please note: If there is a system-wide outage when an assignment is due you will not be punished for not turning it in on time, but will be required to turn it in by the newly stated day and time.

Absences

Students are allowed two absences (excused or unexcused, meaning no documentation is needed). On the third absence you'll lose points off your participation grade (see above for details), unless it is an excused absence approved by the instructor. Students MUST provide proper documentation for excused absences. The conditions for approved absences include:

- Illness/medical or other personal situation in which the student can provide documentation or has discussed their situation in advance with the instructor. Having to work is not grounds to request an excused absence or extension on assignments.
- Excused absences related to religious observances/practices that are in accordance with S14-7 "Accommodations to Students' Religious Holidays."

Tardiness

Tardiness is very disruptive to the class and repeated tardiness will not be tolerated and will result in a decrease participation grade. If you happen to be tardy, you should enter the classroom as quietly as possible to diminish the disruption to your fellow classmates.

Cell Phones

Cell phone ringtones should be turned off upon entering the class and speaking on cell phones during class is prohibited. Excessive use of cell phones that is not class-related will result in a decrease in participation grade.

Laptops

Students are allowed to be on their laptops for the purpose of course-related activities. Excessive use of computers on non-course related activities will result in a decrease in participation grade.

Discussions

This course will rely heavy upon your thoughts and insights as we complete discussion and activities

- Respect others' rights to hold opinions and beliefs that differ from your own. When you disagree, challenge or criticize the idea, not the person.
- Listen carefully to what others are saying even when you disagree with what is being said. Comments that you make (asking for clarification, sharing critiques, expanding on a point, etc.) should reflect that you have paid attention to the speaker's comments.
- Be courteous. Don't interrupt or engage in private conversations while others are speaking. Use attentive, courteous body language.
- Support your statements. Use evidence and provide a rationale for your points.
- Share responsibility for including all voices in the discussion. If you have much to say, try to hold back a bit; if you are hesitant to speak, look for opportunities to contribute to the discussion.

- Recognize that we are all still learning. Be willing to change your perspective, and make space for others to do the same.
