Course Description

In this course we will analyze the means by which different institutions and individuals control the actions, behaviors, and thoughts of people in contemporary modern societies—including our own. We will also analyze the dynamics of control—how control mechanisms change over time, as well as the means by which people are able to resist or escape such controls. The course should help you think critically about controllers, their targets, the mechanisms they employ, and the goals they seek to accomplish. It should also help you understand controlling processes affecting your everyday life.

For more than a century, social scientists and others have taken an interest in mechanisms of cultural and social control including "brainwashing" or coercive persuasion, indoctrination, groupthink, and propaganda, among others. Some argue that increasing political and economic centralization on a global scale—together with the wide reach of today's global communication technologies—have led to more efficient and total social and cultural controls. Controllers may use these techniques in an undemocratic (and sometimes dangerous) fashion to convince others to modify their behaviors, to reform their thoughts and values, or to compel them to act in predictable ways.

In this course, we will be particularly focused on analyzing control from an anthropological perspective. We will examine the use of culture as a tool—in other words, the instrumental uses of culture. To help us think critically about processes of social and cultural control, we will begin by reading the classic novels 1984 and Brave New World as ethnographic accounts. Then we will focus upon mechanisms of social and cultural controls in various realms including schools, families, government, science, media, and business. Although much of the course material is set in the US, we will also examine other regions including Germany, China, Israel and Palestine, southeast Africa, Papua New Guinea, North Korea, Brazil, and Iraq. Finally, we will discuss how processes of control influence everyday life and how we might effectively deal with them.

Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives

Over the course of the semester, I intend to help you meet the following learning objectives:

- Identify various mechanisms of social and cultural control operating in contemporary societies (including the US) and dynamic processes that transform them over time.
- Analyze the ways in which institutions such as governments, corporations, religious groups, and other organizations have compelled members to behave and act in specific ways.
- Understand the processes by which mass media, government officials, social scientists, and the advertising industry have interacted to design new means of influencing public opinion, shape habits and tastes, and create mass consumers.
- Gain insight into the ways by which nationalism, ethnicity, and other forms of identity and membership have been incorporated into controlling processes.
- Trace the development of communication, pharmacological, and surveillance technologies for behavior modification, and other inventions which might potentially be used for control.
- Identify how and why individuals and groups resist or revolt against forms of social and cultural domination, and how mutual aid, education, political mobilization, direct action, and other means might be used as a means of countering social and cultural controls.

Required Texts

Brave New World by Aldous Huxley (any edition)

1984 by George Orwell (any edition)

Brazil's Dance with the Devil by Dave Zirin

An Israeli in Palestine (Second edition) by Jeff Halper

The Snowden Files: The Inside Story of the World's Most Wanted Man by Luke Harding

In addition, we will use a supplemental course reader available for purchase at Maple Press (at 481 E. San Carlos Street).

Classroom Protocol

The instructor for this class strongly discourages use of laptop computers, tablets or phones in class. You are better off write lecture notes by hand or making audio recordings of lectures and transcribing them after class meetings. You must turn off cell phones during class to avoid disrupting lectures. Any student who allows a cell phone to ring during class or who texts messages will first be given a formal warning by the instructor. The instructor will promptly report a second infraction of this rule to the Office of Student Conduct, and will submit a formal recommendation that the student be expelled from the course. Students should be aware that according to Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations, "Standards for Student Conduct," grounds for student discipline includes: "Participating in an activity that substantially and materially disrupts the normal operations of the University," {Section 41301(b)(4)} which might be interpreted to include use of unauthorized electronic devices in classroom settings.

Assignments and Grading Policy

Course grades will be derived from six assignments:

1. List of control mechanisms in 1984. This assignment should be typewritten. Instructions will be distributed in class by the instructor. (10% of final course grade)
2. List of control mechanisms in Brave New World. This assignment should be typewritten. Instructions will be distributed in class by the instructor. (10% of final course grade)
3. Midterm exam. This exam will consist of short definitions, multiple choice, and an essay. You will need a blue book. See course schedule below for midterm exam date. (20% of final course grade)
4. Final exam. This exam will consist of short definitions, multiple choice, and an essay. You will need a blue book. See course schedule below for final exam date. (20% of final course grade)
5. Unannounced quizzes. Over the course of the semester, five unannounced quizzes will be given based on the week's reading. (2% each, 10% of final course grade)
6. Term Paper. In this assignment, you will research and write an 8-page (double-spaced, not including cover page or references) term paper that analyzes a mechanism of social control, cultural control, or ideological control that has affected your own life. The instructor will give you more information about this assignment in Week 4 of the course. Term papers are due on the date of the last regular class meeting. (15% of final course grade)
7. Review of Documentary Films. For this assignment, you will write a 4-page (double-spaced, not including cover page or references) paper that provides a critical analysis of several documentary films that you should watch over the course of the semester. Detailed instructions about this assignment will be distributed in class during the second week of the semester. This paper is due at the same time you submit your final exam. Early submission of the assignment is encouraged. (15% of final course grade)

Students must complete all assignments in order to pass. I will not accept late assignments nor will I administer makeup exams unless a student presents appropriate documents as evidence of illness, death in family, jury duty, etc. I will accept no assignments via e-mail. I must receive hard copies of all assignments. Grading distribution is as follows:

Goals <http://www.sjsu.edu/anthropology/departmentinfo/goals/index.html>

Credit Hours

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of forty-five hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities including but not limited to internships, labs, clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

University Policies

Here are some of the basic university policies that students must follow.

General Expectations, Rights and Responsibilities of the Student

As members of the academic community, students accept both the rights and responsibilities incumbent upon all members of the institution. Students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with SJSU's policies and practices pertaining to the procedures to follow if and when questions or concerns about a class arises. See University Policy S90-5 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S90-5.pdf>. More detailed information on a variety of related topics is available in the SJSU catalog, at <http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/catalog/rec-12234.12506.html>. In general, it is recommended that students begin by seeking clarification or discussing concerns with their instructor. If such conversation is not possible, or if it does not serve to address the issue, it is recommended that the student contact the Department Chair as a next step.
