Course Description
This course is a workshop for all behavioral science majors. Students assess methods and knowledge of anthropology, psychology and sociology, and synthesize them by reflecting upon case studies of individual, organizational, community, and global issues. Emphasis is on cooperative learning, reflection and synthesis of skills and knowledge and career preparation.

Prerequisites
Senior standing, declared major in Behavioral Science or Behavioral Science double major.

Course Focus
The focus of the class will reflect critical issues within the three disciplines that contribute to Behavioral Science—Anthropology, Psychology and Sociology. Those focal topics will form the basis of discussion within the course. This semester, we are focusing on immigration, using an interdisciplinary investigation to understand the distinctions and commonalities of the parent disciplines. The students will sharpen and identify their analytic skills through these discussions allowing them to articulate clearly their own skill sets. Each student will produce a portfolio and participate in a presentation that will reflect this synthesis and create a platform for articulating a “Behavioral Science” identity to graduate programs and potential employers. Portfolios and presentations will be used to assess (1) synthesize knowledge from the disciplines of anthropology, psychology and sociology and (2) apply that integrative perspective to behavioral issues.

Course Goals and Students Learning Objectives (SLO) include:
Students who successfully complete this course will be able to:
1. assess the major methodologies and contributions to understanding human behavior of anthropology, psychology and sociology;
2. apply the disciplinary perspectives of the behavioral sciences to case studies at individual, organizational, community and global levels;
3. access important sources of information about the behavioral sciences and data relevant to them;
4. synthesize the disciplines of anthropology, psychology and sociology in support of professional career development; and
5. prepare a portfolio that will support the transition to professional education or career.

Assignments and Grading Policy

We will proceed this semester through three themes: (1) assessing the disciplines, (2) synthesizing behavioral science through application, and (3) portfolio and professional development.

- First, students will be given a structure for assessing the individual disciplines in which they have taken courses. The goal here is to describe and understand the methodologies and knowledge of each discipline in a way that can be communicated to an educated audience.
• Second, students will synthesize and communicate their understanding of a major social issue, in this case, immigration, using multiple disciplinary perspectives. The goal here is to provide an opportunity to go beyond the assessment of individual disciplines and by doing so to synthesize a deeper and broader behavioral science perspective.

• Third, students will prepare professional portfolios based partially on materials they produce for their disciplinary assessments and behavioral syntheses. The portfolios will help the university understand what Behavioral Science students learn as well as the student’s transition to graduate education or career.

1. Resume and skills assessment. You will develop a resume or CV for your portfolio. You will also prepare a one to two page assessment of your skills couched as a letter to a potential employer or a graduate program. These must include skills and experiences developed through the educational experiences, particularly in the behavioral science disciplines. You will present the material as an introductory letter to an employer, a graduate program or through a specific application, such as an Americorps application (question 21, http://www.americorps.gov/forms/americorps_application.pdf)

2. Disciplinary Assessments. You will prepare a paper of 3-5 pages (exclusive of references) in which you describe and assess the methodologies and state of knowledge in anthropology, psychology and sociology. You will form support teams to share information and generate ideas. Your experiences and knowledge form the foundation of the paper.

3. Final Exam/Completed Portfolio. Each student will complete a professional portfolio as their final exam. It will include a resumé or CV, the skills assessment, the disciplinary assessment, and a two page synthesis of behavioral science as a distinctive, particular perspective on human behavior.

4. Case Study Presentation. Each student, working as a member of a team, will prepare an analysis of one of four topics that emerges from their reading and discussion. In this semester the case will be drawn from the study by Suarez-Orozco and Todorova in comparison to our own region. Topics include cross-cutting disciplinary concerns such as 1) school-immigrant family relations; 2) immigrant youth counseling; 3) immigration and less-than-optimal schools; 4) the ecology of “individual” achievement; and 5) policy implications from school districts to Congress. Your teams may develop additional topics not included here. Each team will produce a 20-minute powerpoint presentation and submit a copy of that presentation to the instructor.

5. Participation. Each student will participate fully in both in class exercises and out of class collaborative work with members of their case study team. In addition, each student must submit at least five discussion questions, by e-mail, for class discussion, by 9 p.m., the night before the discussion.

Presidential directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the DRC (Disability Resource Center) to establish a record of their disability.

Classroom Protocol

I understand that multi-tasking is essential to getting through life. BUT NOT THROUGH THIS CLASS. You need to be FULLY PRESENT to be successful. Therefore, please do not text, do not surf the web, do not go on Facebook, e-mail or anything else besides taking notes during class. If you are distracting me or others, you will have to put your computer away. No computer note-taking during films, of which there are many. If you must arrive late or leave early, please do not slam the door.
