Dear Mr. XXX,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Behavior Therapist position at XXX organization. Working with youth and helping them manage and overcome their learning disabilities has always been a passion of mine as I have battled with my own learning challenges. The mission and values of your organization intrigue me; I would love to start my career with an organization that puts the client first.

Last summer, I was fortunate to have an internship with XXX organization. Through this experience, I was able to observe one-on-one and group therapy sessions with children ages 7 to 12. I was then able to practice my active listening skills while doing intake at the front desk. This internship really gave me the opportunity to develop as a therapist and hone my communication skills.

As a part of my senior seminar, I wrote a research paper on school age children and the effects of learning disabilities on their self-efficacy. This led me to present at the Santa Clara County Office of Education professional development day. My writing, research, analytical skills, and ability to present and speak publicly are all strengths that I would like to bring to your organization as a Behavioral Therapist.

I appreciate your time and attention to my information, and I would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you in order to share more about my experiences that help make me a fit for this position. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best,

Im A. Spartan
