Dear Prospective Client/Family,

Thank you for your interest in the Kay Armstead Center for Communicative Disorders (KACCD). KACCD is a non-profit community clinic that has been serving the needs of individuals of all ages, demonstrating a wide variety of speech, language and hearing difficulties and differences, for over fifty years. The mission of the center is to provide excellent support and services for our clients while enhancing the training of our speech-language pathology student clinicians. KACCD provides services for speech articulation, language delays and disorders, aphasia, brain injury rehabilitation, social pragmatics, fluency/stuttering, accent modification, voice disorders, transgender voice therapy, augmentative and alternative communication (AAC), hearing, and more.

KACCD is a training facility for students enrolled in the Communicative Disorders and Science Program. Supervision is provided at all times by fully licensed and certified clinicians with extensive experience. Clinics operate as coursework for students and therefore follow the San Jose State University semester schedule. Sessions are not offered year round. Applications for assessments are processed throughout each semester as spaces are available. Applications and invitations for treatment clinics are offered at the beginning of each semester only.

How to apply:

1. Fill out the attached application and mail, fax, or email it to our clinic. Include any reports from previous services so that we can better serve you.
2. Someone will contact you when a spot becomes available. Most clients will require a comprehensive evaluation at KACCD prior to receiving an invitation to treatment clinics. At the discretion of the Clinic Director, exceptions to the assessment requirement are made for clients whom provide a comprehensive evaluation report from another provider.
3. Following an assessment with a recommendation for therapy, invitations to treatment services are not guaranteed. Treatment invitations are based on a variety of factors including supervisor expertise, clinical education needs, client groupings, academic scheduling, and enrollment needs.

The Kay Armstead Center for Communicative Disorders (KACCD) is committed to the principle of equal opportunity. The University, College, Department and KACCD do not discriminate in the delivery of professional services or the conduct of research and scholarly activity based on age, citizenship, disability, ethnicity, gender-identity, genetic information, marital status, national origin, physical characteristics, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, and veteran status.

Again, thank you for your interest in our center. We look forward to serving you and your family soon.
