What Does It Mean to be an Educated Person?

Join your colleagues for brown-bag lunch and discussion

This semester, we focus on helping our students take responsibility for becoming an educated person, an engaged member of their community and a lifelong learner. Please join in the conversation! Bring a colleague!

FEBRUARY 10 (Tuesday), noon-1, in IRC 101

“Feeding many birds with one piece of bread - Restoring Coyote Creek - a campus-wide, cross-disciplinary community engagement project.”

As teachers, we strive to help our students find many kinds of meaning in what they study, and to help them become life-long learners. Come learn about this opportunity to infuse cross-disciplinary themes into your teaching & to create powerful hands-on experiences.

MARCH 3 (Tuesday), noon-1pm, in IRC 210

“Beyond school colors – University Learning Goals as the Spartan imprimatur.”

Join a discussion on the SJSU University Learning Goals and find out how people are using them in and out of the classroom to help our students become “educated persons.”

APRIL 1 (Wednesday), noon-1pm, in IRC 210

“Slowing Down the snowplow & heading off the helicopter”

Following up on our discussion of overly helpful and involved parents… Are we doing too much to clear paths for our students to meet deadlines, complete administrative tasks and understand course requirements? Join this discussion on how to help students take fuller responsibility for their education and, arguably, for their all aspects of their lives.

For further information, contact Gina Marin, at the Center for Faculty Development (gina.marin@sjsu.edu or 924-2303)