The Fellowship for SJSU Faculty Women presents

Get to Know Your Fabulous Colleagues and their Research

A Lecture Series hosted by the Center for Faculty Development

12:00-1:30 pm, IRC 101

An opportunity to listen to women faculty on campus share their research interests, achievements, and to create much-needed conversation about faculty interests on campus.

Anne Marie Todd, Professor, Communication Studies
“Environmental patriotism: A communication strategy for mobilizing social change”

Rosemary Henze, Professor, Linguistics and Language Development

Katherine Masters, Lecturer, English & Comparative Literature
“Problem Posing, Partnership, and Inquiry-Based Language Learning in Nicaragua”

Susan Shillinglaw, Professor, English & Comparative Literature
“Carol and John Steinbeck: Ecology of Marriage”

Miranda Worthen, Assistant Professor, Health Science and Recreation
“Reintegration of War Affected Young Mothers: Findings from a community based participatory action research study in Liberia, Sierra Leone and Northern Uganda”