Student Conduct and Ethical Development at San Jose State University is seeking a practicum student who can commit to working with us for a minimum of one year. Our work focuses on educating students, fostering critical thinking, and improving our students’ decision-making. We focus on teaching students about ethical standards and consequences, improving our students’ understanding of how their actions impact others, while imparting our students with the tools to successfully manage and resolve conflict.

We are seeking a candidate who will be an integral part of our team. Your responsibilities would include counseling college age students who are going through the conduct process, case managing student conduct cases, helping students develop strategies to address and change problematic behavior, developing workshops and programs that support student development, participating in assessment and investigations, and helping with the day-to-day functions of our office.

Applicant requirements or expectations: Must be able to commit to a minimum of a year working for Student Conduct and Ethical Development. Must be a graduate student to apply.

Method of application for fieldwork: Please submit a letter of interest and a CV to heather.akin@sjsu.edu

Name of Site Supervisor: Dr. Heather Akin
Deadline for application if any and expected start date: Expected Start Date August 23, 2017. We will continue to accept applications until position is filled.

Name and contact information to apply: Please send a letter of interest and a CV to heather.akin@sjsu.edu by August 1, 2017 for best consideration. We will continue to accept applications until position is filled.