POSITION: Mandarin/Chinese Tutor

HOURS: Part-time, 5 hours per week

ABOUT GOALS

Here at Goal Oriented Academics & Learning Sciences (GOALS), our mission is to foster students’ self-sufficient learning through the application of individualized learning strategies and habit (re)formation. Most tutoring has one objective in mind: to help students remember information long enough to succeed on the next test. As an academic support facility rather than a tutoring center, we approach learning differently. We recognize that, in order for students to succeed in life, they must understand how their own mind processes information. Only then can they tailor their own way of learning to maximize their efforts and potential. We create systems and strategies to help each student achieve their academic and personal goals and build the habits they need to succeed on their own. We are passionate about helping our students and want to hire people who think the same way. For more information, please visit us at www.goalorientedacademics.com.

JOB SUMMARY

As a Mandarin tutor, you will work with students both individually and in groups to help them learn to process new content and improve study habits. You will personally help students expand their skill set and change their habits under your guidance and instruction. You will also support innovation and creation of new content and teaching methods and stay up-to-date on techniques and resources developed by other GOALS Staff.
