

Fall Semester

Graduate Courses Offered:

Econ 201, Micro Theory
Econ 205A, Cost Benefit
Econ 232, Public Finance
Econ 237, Derivatives or other elective
Econ 298E, Comprehensive Exam

Electives Generally Offered Only in Fall

Econ 3, Statistics
Econ 107, Environmental Econ
Econ 111, Econ History of U.S.
Econ 137A, Fundamentals of Corp. Finance
Econ 141, Law and Economics
Econ 160, Govt. Regulation

Spring Semester

Graduate Courses Offered Only in the Spring

Econ 202 or Econ 235, Macro or Monetary theory (courses rotate approx. every two years)
Econ 203 or 103, Econometrics
Econ 205B, Public Policy
Econ 221 or 121, Industrial Organization
Econ Other Elective (as scheduling and enrollments permit)
Econ 298E, Comprehensive Exam

Courses Offered at Particular Times:

Econ 101, Intermediate Micro, Morning
Econ 102, Intermediate Macro, Evening
Econ 104, Math for Econ. Generally 5 to 6:15 p.m. and evening in odd number years

Electives Generally Offered Only in Spring

Econ 108, Cost Benefit
Econ 135, Money and Banking
Econ 137B, Topics in Corporate Finance
Econ 151, Labor Economics

Courses Offered at Particular Times:

Econ 101 Intermediate Micro, Evening
Econ 102 Intermediate Macro, Late Afternoon
Econ 104 Math for Econ, Generally 5 to 6:15 p.m.

Courses Offered Each Semester:

Econ 1A and 1B Principles

Econ 2A and 2B Online Lab Make-up
Should also be available in summer.

Econ 136 International
Two sections (one day and one evening) offered each semester.

Econ 112 Econ. Development
One section each semester depending on demand.

UPDATED: NOVEMBER 2004