Course Description
This hands-on course is designed to simulate actual business communication scenarios (oral and written) that are encountered by business professionals daily during the course of their careers. Assignments will enable students to practice and immediately apply both practical and theoretical aspects of organizational communication directly in real-life work situations. Communication mechanics and style (practical), and the appropriateness of messages and methods, based on specific organizational situations (theoretical) will be emphasized.

Course Objectives
Upon completion of this course, students will be expected to:

A. Apply the mechanics of effective communication by demonstrating the ability to
   1. Communicate to a group in written and oral formats.
   2. Observe standard principles of grammar, punctuation and spelling, either by memorization and/or through the use of resources.
   3. Recognize and appreciate the importance of concise and timely communication in organizational settings.
   4. Identify and articulate the “take-away” message in every communication.
   5. Recognize and utilize a variety of communication tools, techniques, and modes.
   6. Demonstrate an ability to format, compose, and revise a variety of written documents.

B. Apply theoretical analysis to make communication decisions by demonstrating the ability to
   1. Understand the importance of “crafting” messages.
   2. Recognize a variety of organizational communication needs and constraints.
   3. Analyze an audience and compile appropriate communication options.
   4. Develop a communication strategy based upon organizational needs, constraints, and audience type.
   5. Be effective at a variety of work situations: interviewing, impromptu speeches, meetings, structured presentations, instant messages, emails, articles, reports, etc.
   6. Evaluate and critique various communication behaviors for “effectiveness.”
   7. Make communication decisions using common sense logic and defend those decisions.

C. Assumptions
   1. Improving communication skills will benefit you in every aspect of your life. Every individual can improve his or her communication skills, and the ability to communicate well, increases with practice.
   2. Effective communicators are attentive to both practical and theoretical elements of organizational situations and they appropriately “craft” their message, depending upon the audience, situation, and data.
   3. Finally, students learn best when the topic is practical, and the learning environment is engaging, challenging, safe, and fun.
Prerequisites
Completion of core GE, satisfaction of Writing Skills Test, and upper division standing. Major in business, industrial arts, industrial technology, public relations, or hospitality management.

Course Format
This course involves simulated work communication scenarios, many of which are samples taken from actual events. Class activities provide students with opportunities to practice communication skills necessary for success in industry and will require students to analyze communication scenarios and choose appropriate methods and messages. Students will have an opportunity to learn about, and practice using, several communication tools which can improve the effectiveness of both their written and oral communication. Class time will be divided between in-class simulation activities, writing and editing assignments, and interactive lectures. This course is structured in a seminar format to allow for considerable open class discussion. Success in this class requires perfect attendance and completion of ALL assignments.

Grading Policy
The Department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU Catalog (“The Grading System”). Grades issued represent a full range of student performance: A=excellent; B=above average; C=average; NC=no credit.

- The “A” assignment is organized, well developed, and exemplifies the 7 C’s of communication. It demonstrates a clear understanding of the topic and fulfillment of the assignment. Content is fully developed with interesting details, lively vocabulary, syntactic complexity, and graceful transitions. Assignment appeals to the reader, looks professionally produced, and is virtually free of mechanical errors.
- The “B” assignment develops ideas and supports them with vivid, specific examples, but it may lack the sentence variety, graceful transitional phrases, or technically astute content characteristic of an “A” assignment. The “B” assignment may contain minor grammatical or mechanical flaws; however, it demonstrates overall business communication competence.
- The “C” assignment is logically organized, but usually general, bland, and unpolished. The content need controlling ideas and specific examples. The vocabulary and syntactical complexity is less mature, making the assignment less effective. The assignment may contain a distracting number of mechanical and grammatical flaws.
- The “NC” assignment is poorly organized and generally unclear. It has inappropriate or inadequate examples, is noticeably superficial and simplistic, and/or it contains serious mechanical and grammatical problems. The assignment is generally unclear and shows little real effort.

Exam Make-up Policy: Make-ups will be dealt with on a case-by-case basis. Final exam make-up is offered only on December 18.
Extra Credit: Extra credit assignments may be offered during the semester. They must be completed as instructed and turn in on time to be accepted.

WARNING #1: Late assignments are not accepted unless excused by physician. Attach original doctor’s note to assignment and turn it in at the next class period. Failure to do so will result in a permanent zero grade for that assignment.

WARNING #2: Papers that repeat errors identified in a previous draft or lack in-depth revision work will receive an automatic F grade. For example, if I write “Revise: Use more action verbs and make all bullets parallel” on your resume assignment and I see the same errors on the next revision, you will receive an automatic F on that paper.

Assignments
All out-of-class assignments are due at the beginning of class period on the date the assignment is due. Late assignments will not be accepted – NO EXCEPTIONS. If you cannot attend class, you may email or turn in your assignment to my mailbox in FOB 102 prior to the due date. Please ask the English department office manager to date stamp the assignment. In addition, you may ask a fellow student to turn in the assignment on your behalf.

Unless otherwise instructed, all written assignments should be formatted in MLA style (typed, double-spaced, Times New Roman typeface, 12 pt. font size, printed on plain white paper, stapled at the upper left-hand corner, and includes header information, title of assignment, and word count). Incomplete, late, or missed assignments will result in a zero grade.

Certain writing assignments (designated with *) may be re-written for a higher grade--the rewrite is the FINAL grade for that assignment (not best out of two). A substantial improvement must be made in terms of communication effectiveness in order to receive a higher grade. Merely incorporating instructor and student edits will not satisfy this requirement.

Classroom Protocol
Each class session is important. By attending every class session, you will maintain continuity from class to class. Furthermore, I often introduce new material, assign in-class or out-of-class assignments, or issue pop quizzes that do not appear on the syllabus. Perfect attendance will provide you the best opportunity to succeed in this course. Arrive on time, limit distracting late entries, and ensure that you do not miss assignments or quizzes given at the beginning of class. Turn off and leave out of sight any computers, mobile phones, or other electronic devices. Nooks, Kindles, and other tablet reader devices require instructor approval prior to use during class.

Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person's ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include your assignment or any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU's Academic Policy S07-2 requires approval of instructors.

Students are expected to spend a minimum of 6.5 hours each week [(3 hours x 3 units) - 2.5 hours lecture] reading, researching, writing, rewriting, editing, revising, and studying for English 100WB.
