ENGL 1A Course Description

General Course Description
Welcome to English 1. It is an introductory writing course that will help you understand the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication. Through interpretation and analysis of texts, you will develop clear thinking and effective writing that give form and coherence to complex ideas. In English 1 you will practice these skills by writing for various audiences and rhetorical situations. You will learn to communicate meaning clearly and effectively; since written expression is something that you will practice in every profession, you will learn skills in this class that you will utilize throughout your life. This course is demanding, and I will expect a great deal of work from all of you; however, I am here to help you learn, and I hope you come away from this course with an increased appreciation for writing.

Section-Specific Course Description:

Global Citizenship, Sustainability, and Creativity
How can we live with each other and the world? How can we have a sense of belonging to a world community? These questions will be explored on an extensive basis in this course as we explore the themes of global citizenship, sustainability, and creativity. Global engagement is helping people identify themselves as global citizens and this is happening because of modern information, communication, and transportation technologies. We are able to connect to the rest of the world through the internet; through participation in the global economy; through the environment and climate changes and how they affect us; through the empathy we feel when we hear and see the occurrence of humanitarian disasters and wars in other countries; or through the ease with which we travel and visit other parts of the world. All this helps us into becoming better global citizens. We are not losing our identities or abandoning our roots, but rather, we are becoming more responsible and joining the members of a world-wide community of people who share the same concerns and values. These include human rights, religious pluralism, gender equity, environmental protection, sustainable worldwide economic growth, poverty alleviation, prevention and cessation of conflicts between countries, humanitarian assistance, and preservation of cultural identity. Our focus in this English 1-A course will be to address some of these issues creatively and sustainably with the idea that we as Americans can contribute to the betterment of our world by becoming global citizens.

ENGL 1A Learning Objectives (CLO)

Upon successful completion of the course, you will be able to:
1. communicate meaning clearly and effectively.
2. identify focus, tailored to a particular audience and purpose.
3. perform effectively the essential steps of the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing).
4. explain, analyze, develop, and criticize ideas effectively.
5. use within your own essay supporting material drawn from primary and secondary sources, including appropriate citations.
6. organize individual paragraphs and entire essays.
7. construct sentences with accuracy, variety, and clarity.
8. use appropriate diction and tone.
9. control conventions of written English (e.g., punctuation, spelling, reference, agreement).

GE A2 Course Description

ENGL 1A fulfills your written communication general education requirement. Courses in GE Area 2 cultivate an understanding of the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication, with special attention to the nature of writing at the university. Students will develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. A passing grade of C or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

GE A2 Learning Objectives (GELO)

In addition to the learning objectives stated above, ENGL 1A also measures the learning goals of GE Area A2. Upon successful completion of the course, you will be able to
1. demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically.
2. demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance.
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals.
4. demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres.
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing.

ENGL 1A Course Content

Diversity: SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. You will engage in integrated reading and writing assignments to construct your own arguments on complex issues that generate meaningful public debate. Readings for the course will include writers of different genders and from different socio-economic classes.

Writing: Writing assignments shall give students repeated practice in all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. This class requires a minimum of 8000 words, at least 4000 of which must be in revised final draft form. Because in-class writing is valued and students should be able to perform well in timed writing situations, at least two essays shall be written in class. In addition, ENGL 1A classes require multiple out-of-class essays.

You will receive frequent evaluations of your writing from the instructor. Evaluative comments will be substantive, addressing both the logic of the argument and the quality and form of the writing. Comments will encourage and acknowledge your success as well as note problems and suggest ways to improve.

Reading: In addition to being writing intensive, ENGL1A is also a reading course. You will read a variety of rhetorical and professional works on global citizenship, sustainability, and creativity. All readings will include useful models of writing for academic, general, and specific audiences.

Final Exam: As part of your final experience in the course, you will be doing a group multimodal presentation. Projects will be related to the primary issues discussed in the course. You will also be required to take a separate in-class written final exam.

Participation:

University policy F69-24: “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to ensure maximum benefit for all members of the class. Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading.

We will complete daily work in class that will be collected at the end of class period and count towards your participation grade; you will not be able to complete these assignments if you do not come to class. I expect you to attend on a daily basis and come on time. Absences and tardiness will affect your grade. Class participation does not simply mean that you are physically present in class. You must have all class materials, contribute to discussions, actively listen to your peers, and take notes as necessary.

Requirements for particular assignments will vary, but in all cases essay grades will reflect the paper’s effectiveness, which are broken down into three major areas: content (this includes maturity and sophistication of thought), organization, and expression. All assignments, quizzes, and exams are graded on a traditional A-F scale.

The following are the criteria by which essays are typically evaluated in first-year writing courses:
- An “A” essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage.
- A “B” essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an “A” essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical, or usage errors.
- A “C” essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice.
- A “D” essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension.
- An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Grading Breakdown:

Grading: A-F. This class must be passed with a C or better. A passing grade in the course signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English. English 1-A is graded on a system of A, B, C, D or F. Students will be awarded letter grades for the essays assigned above. Each grade will be worth points and will constitute a certain percentage of the total grade (as given in the breakdown). The final grade for the course will be calculated out of a total of 100%. The point range for each letter grade is as follows. A 93 or above; A- 90-92; B+ 87-89; B 83-86; B- 80-82; C+ 77-79; C 73-76; C- 70-72; D+ 63-66; D- 60-62; F 59 or lower. For homework and class participation, students will receive a point each time they turn in homework and participate in class for the day. 10% homework + 10% class participation will be calculated on the basis of the points received by each student out of the total due.

In English department courses, instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs.

Classroom Protocol

Reading:
Reading for the course shall be extensive and intensive and include models of writing based on creativity, sustainability, and global citizenship, for academic, general, and specific audiences. You will be required to complete reading assignments on a daily basis. All reading must be completed by the beginning of each class period. Our class discussions, quizzes, and essay prompts will relate to the assigned selections, and the readings provide excellent examples of the various types of writing that we will be studying throughout the semester. In addition, you must submit reader responses every class period throughout the semester (as noted on the schedule). Remember: The more you read, the better you will write.

Writing:
This is a composition course – every class period will involve a writing component. You will be asked to revise and rewrite the in-class and out-of-class essays. Remember that you must complete all essay assignments plus the final multi modal project in order to pass this course. Bring pens, yellow books, and a dictionary for in-class essays. These cannot be made up unless you have contacted me in advance.

Out-of-class essays must be typed, double spaced, and in 12 point, Times New Roman font. These must be in accordance with MLA citation guidelines (we will have a class discussion on the MLA format; additional information can be found in The Everyday Writer). Out-of-class essays will have specified minimum page length/word count requirements that will be listed on the prompt sheets. Essays will be due at the beginning of class period on the date indicated on your greensheet.

Late Policy:
I am a prompt person, so I expect the same from you. While late papers will be accepted up to one week after the due date, they will be graded down significantly. For each calendar day that your paper is late, it will be graded down one full letter grade. If the paper is turned in after the class period on the assigned due date, the essay will be graded down half a letter grade. After one week, I will no longer accept the essay. If extenuating circumstances apply for either in-class or out-of-class essays, you must contact me before the due date in order to request an extension or make necessary accommodations for in-class essays. Turn in essays on time!

Workshops:
Workshops are an important component of the writing process; they give you the opportunity to get valuable feedback from your peers and your instructor. Bring 3 copies of your essay (a completed rough draft), on each workshop date as listed on the class schedule. You must turn in all workshop materials with the final copy of the essay. If you miss a workshop, your essay will be graded down one full letter grade.

Homework/Reader Responses:
Homework is essential, and the more effort you put into it, the better you will do overall in the course. It will be assigned every day the class meets in the form of grammar exercises from The Everyday Writer and written responses to the readings. Reader responses are an important part of your homework and our due every class period throughout the semester, as noted on the schedule. In these responses you shall record analysis, thoughts, opinions, questions, and personal reactions to the texts. Each entry must be dated, and it must be a minimum of one full page (typed, double spaced, with one-inch page margins). To receive full credit, you must analyze/evaluate the text selection AND share your own thoughts, feelings, and opinions. Do not simply summarize plot – show some in-depth thought and interaction with the text. Reader responses will be graded on their quality of content though your score will be marked down if there are serious grammar errors that make your writing difficult to comprehend. Reader responses and grammar homework will not be accepted late – no exceptions.

Please note: Once again, as a courtesy to others, attend every class meeting on time and do not leave during class. If you expect that you will be late, absent, or unprepared once in a while, this is not the class for you. Turn off your cell phones or put them on silent mode during the class period; you will lose participation points for the day if I see your cell phone (this especially includes under the desk/table text messaging – I do see you!).

Quizzes, grammar exercises, debates, and short presentations will also factor into this portion of your course grade. I will occasionally give pop quizzes on the assigned readings, and you will be notified of grammar quizzes in advance.

Do not schedule appointments that conflict with class meeting. If you must be absent from class due to an emergency, be sure to get the missed information and/or assignment from a classmate. For this purpose obtain names and phone numbers and/or email addresses of at least three of your class mates.

University Policies

General Expectations, Rights and Responsibilities of the Student

As members of the academic community, students accept both the rights and responsibilities incumbent upon all members of the institution. Students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with SJSU’s policies and practices pertaining to the procedures to follow if and when questions or concerns about a class arises. See University Policy S90–5 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S90-5.pdf. More detailed information on a variety of related topics is available in the SJSU catalog, at http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/catalog/rec-12234.12506.html. In general, it is recommended that students begin by seeking clarification or discussing concerns with their instructor. If such conversation is not possible, or if it does not serve to address the issue, it is recommended that the student contact the Department Chair as a next step.
Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendars document on the Academic Calendars webpage at http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/. The Late Drop Policy is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes.

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

University Policy S12-7, http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course and the following items to be included in the syllabus:

- “Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”
  - It is suggested that the greensheet include the instructor’s process for granting permission, whether in writing or orally and whether for the whole semester or on a class by class basis.
  - In classes where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well.
- “Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

It is the responsibility of the student to inform the instructor, in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify the instructor, in writing, at least three days before the date that he/she will be absent. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed.
