ENGLISH 131 “WRITING POETRY” COURSE SYLLABUS (SPRING 2015)
(This syllabus is online at: www.sjsu.edu/english/ENGLgreensheets/2015ENGLspring/)

Be subtle, various, ornamental, clever,
And do not listen to those critics ever
Whose crude provincial gullets crave in books
Plain cooking made still plainer by plain cooks...

W. H. Auden, “The Truest Poetry is the Most Feigning”

Required Texts:
Samuel Maio, Dramatic Monologues: A Contemporary Anthology

Course Description, Student Learning Objectives (SLO), and Procedures:
The principal objective of this course is to develop your poetic talent by learning and practicing aesthetics drawn from the English metrical tradition, including vers libre, by a close examination of select poems from various time periods, concentrating on brief Italian and French lyric forms before moving to the longer dramatic and narrative modes. A good portion of the class is conducted in workshop format – that is, critiquing constructively students’ poems.

The Department of English and Comparative Literature has established the following Student Learning Objectives (SLO) for its baccalaureate courses: Students will demonstrate the ability to 1) read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric; 2) show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World Literature; 3) write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject; 4) develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively; 5) articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

~ For the Small Group Workshops, you must bring to class two (2) hard copies of your poem. For the Main Workshop, you must distribute your poem to the class at least one meeting prior the date of your workshop turn. If you fail to do so, you will lose your turn. You must distribute hard copies to me and to your Lead Discussant; distribution via email to the rest of the class is acceptable. Hard copies are required of ALL assignments turned in to me – no email attachments! During the main workshop segment of the course, we will discuss four or five students’ poems (one by each student) every week. Please do not ask for special treatment of any kind. In particular, do not ask to change the workshop schedule once it has been set or ask for an extension of an assignment’s due date. Workshop provides you an audience of your peers and critique aimed at improving your poetry. Please consider thoughtfully the comments, questions, and suggestions raised during the workshop sessions – and treat your classmates’ poems with the same manner of care and respect that you want your poems treated.
In addition to workshop, we will discuss selections of poetry from the required texts. My lectures and presentations will focus on a poet’s aesthetic practice (that is, a poet’s particular craft or poetic technique), the how a poem was made rather than interpretation. To facilitate these discussions, please bring Lewis Turco’s The Book of Forms with you to every class.

All work must be typed. Poems must be single-spaced, double-spaced between stanzas. The form of the poem must be stated on your poem (beneath your name). All poems must be titled.

Adherence to the fundamental tenets of literacy is expected. This includes the correct usage of grammar, punctuation, and spelling. Failure to do so will result in a significant grade reduction, as per department policy. Regarding your poetry, you must have and be prepared to articulate – aesthetic reasons for wishing to deviate from proper grammar, punctuation, and spelling.

Concerning attendance: I strongly advise your making a friend in the class from whom you can get notes and hand-outs, should you happen to be absent, or to distribute hard copies for your workshop. I will not conduct a private tutorial with you, either by email or during office hours, in order to replicate what you missed by not attending class. Please do not ask me to do so. However, after you have considered thoughtfully your friend’s notes, feel free to ask me specific questions should you need clarification. Further, I will not act as your secretary by distributing hard copies of your workshop poems. Do not ask me to do so or leave them in my office or mailbox for distribution.

Assignments and Correspondence to SLO, Grading, and Due Dates:

I. 8 poems, divided into 2 groups of 4, each group worth 40 points (SLO 1, 2, 3, 4)

II. 1 Lead Discussant written critique on a workshop poem, worth 10 points (SLO 1, 3)

III. Participation in workshop when not a Lead Discussant is worth 10 points.

The three assignments and participation comprise 100 points. The points represent percentages which grade in accordance with University policy as follows: 100-98=A+; 97-94=A; 93-90=A−; 89-87=B+; 86-84=B; 83-80=B−; 79-77=C+; 76-74=C; 73-70=C−; 69-67=D+; 66-64=D; 63-60=D−; 59-0=F.

The Department of English and Comparative Literature reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU Catalog (“The Grading System”). Grades issued must represent a full range of student performance: A=excellent; B=above average; C=average; D=below average; F=failure.

Due Dates:

Feb. 4th: Draft of Italian Sonnet due for small group workshop.
Feb. 18th: Draft of English Sonnet due for small group workshop.
Mar. 2nd: Draft of Sestet Stanze poem due for small group workshop.
Mar. 16th: Draft of Blank Verse poem due for small group workshop.
Mar. 18th: Group I Poems Due (4 poems), 40 points
May 11th: Group II Poems Due (4 poems), 40 points

*Lead Discussant critique (10 points) due at appropriate workshop.

All due dates are absolute. Failure to hand in an assignment on its due date will result in a lowered grade for that assignment.
Poems: Of the 8 required poems, at least 6 must be formal (that is, metrical and adhering to a particular lyric or narrative poetic form). The remaining two poems may be in any form you choose, including free verse (nonmetrical poetry). Your workshop poem may be any of the required 8.

The 6 required formal poems must consist of the following 4 forms:

1. Italian sonnet
2. English sonnet
3. Metrical poem of three stanzas minimum, each stanza a rhymed sestet
4. Blank verse poem, a minimum of 20 lines and any 2 of the following forms:

- Metrical sonnet variation
- Villanelle
- Ballade
- Metrical couplets, a minimum of 20 lines
- Terza rima, a minimum of 21 lines

Note: At least one of the required poems must be a dramatic monologue, and at least one must be composed in a meter other than iambic.

Free verse poems (nonmetrical) must be a minimum of 20 lines, each line at least of medium length: 35 or so characters.

Some Suggestions for Poems: Remember that poetry is possibility. Ideas for poems are boundless, originating from one’s personal history, private thoughts and ideation, observations, or any combination of these – and more, of course. Following are but few suggestions for poems that might help you to get started:

~ Write an “imitation poem,” in the manner of a masterful poem. Your poem should be imitative of the master-poet’s style, rhythm, essentials of craft, and principal subject matter – as these relate to a specific poem. (The exercise isn’t as successful when you try to imitate a master-poet’s style in general.) Should you workshop an “imitation poem,” please provide a copy of the poem you have imitated along with your poem.

~ Write a poem about a particularly memorable childhood experience. Try to evoke the mood of a child while retaining an adult’s capacity for descriptive language. Mark Strand’s “Shooting Whales” – discussed in my book Creating Another Self – is exemplary, as is Countee Cullen’s “Incident”.

~ Write a poem about the far future and your place in it. Imagine yourself 100 years from now. What will be the circumstances? What will you be doing? Where will you be?

~ Write a “dictionary poem” in which you use – correctly – ten words previously unknown to you. In addition to a dictionary, make use of a thesaurus or synonym finder.

~ Imagine yourself as another person, maybe a member of the opposite sex, or an animal (or your relation to one, such as Galway Kinnell’s “The Bear”, also treated in Creating Another Self), or a mythic figure, and write a poem as that subject, in the imagined voice, to evoke a significant event in the life of that “other.” Dramatic Monologues is replete with examples, such as “Andrew” (p. 7), “Tantalus” (p. 100), “Pilate” (p. 117), “Lot’s Wife Looks Back” (p. 119), and “Hades Welcomes His Bride” (p. 191) – among many others.
University Policies: You are responsible for reading the SJSU academic policies available online (http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html): Academic Integrity Policy (http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/S07-2.htm); Add/Drop Deadlines (http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/index.html); Late Drop Policy (http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy). [Tuesday, February 3rd is the deadline to Drop; Tuesday, February 10th is the last day to Add courses and register late.]

Campus Policy in Compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act: If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please see me as soon as possible. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) (http://www.sjsu.edu/aec/) to establish a record of their disability.
