- Recognize and use a variety of writing applications (short story, biographical, autobiographical, expository, persuasive)
- Demonstrate awareness of audience, purpose and context
- Recognize and use a variety of narrative and non-narrative organizational patterns
- Demonstrate and evaluate oral performance in a variety of forms.
STUDENT LEARNING GOALS & OBJECTIVES:
DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH & COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

I. Preamble: Goals

The Department of English and Comparative Literature seeks to foster the intellectual development of its majors by encouraging study of literature and writing—whether creative, technical, or other professional writing. The Department strives to make its majors familiar with a wide range of works of British, American, and World literature, including folk and popular forms; and with the nature of the canon and of canon-formation, including issues of culture, history, race, ethnicity, gender, and sexual orientation. The English major requires work in textual analysis, including study of the formal characteristics and historical background of a text, on the one hand, and study of its aesthetic and rhetorical presence—what it is as an experience—on the other. English majors should be aware also that textual analysis can be extended with profit to political, journalistic, commercial, technical, and web-based writing. English Majors should also be able to articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts—for example, ideological and political aspects of representation, economic processes of textual production, dissemination and reception, and cross-fertilization with other arts: architecture, sculpture, music, film, painting, dance, and theatre. And English majors ought to know something of the historical development of the English language and have a sense of the literature written in English from Old English to the present, including that of the Commonwealth nations, U.S. Territories, and other English-speaking populations around the world.

The study of English, Comparative Literature, and Writing proceeds best when it involves students in face-to-face exchanges of ideas with faculty and peers, and when it makes use of the cultural resources of the broader university, through attendance of talks, panels, plays, and other performances and events. English majors use the resources of the library. English majors engage in independently-conceived projects, including the stating of a problem or issue and the steps involved in organizing, synthesizing, summarizing, and analyzing information in order to communicate conclusions effectively to a larger audience.

The Department’s long term goals for its majors include these legacies: That each person who graduates with a BA in English from SJSU will have an enduring interest in language and literature; a sense of the presence of the literary and rhetorical past; an awareness of the depth and complexity of human existence, perceived across the boundaries of time, place, culture, race, ethnicity, gender, socioeconomic class, and sexual orientation; a sense of involvement in aesthetic, cultural, and intellectual life, as well as in social and political issues; a developing understanding of the ability of great literature and language to awaken and challenge people to struggle with profound questions of human identity and values; and a personal critical perspective and sense of intellectual independence.

II. Student Learning Objectives:

Students will demonstrate the ability to

1) read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric.
2) show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World Literature.
3) write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject.
4) develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively.
5) articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

Effective Spring 2011
Required Texts:

Reading Language Arts Framework for California Public Schools, K-12, 2007. CA State Dept. of Education (Google “California ELA Content Standards” for free downloadable version)

Course Requirements:

I. 3 Papers—each of these assignments will evolve through several drafts, incorporating peer responses from writing workshops.
   a) Memoir Assignment: Drawn from practices in class, you will write about a significant event from your past. Paper will be 3-4 pages (20% of grade).
   b) Poetry writing/PowerPoint assignment: modeled on the exercises in A Note Slipped Under the Door. Write five theme-connected poems that you will present to the class in PowerPoint format (20% of grade).
   c) Multi-Genre Paper assignment: based on Blending Genre, Altering Style—the writing of a research paper with voice—you will explore a topic of your own choosing related to the practice of writing or the teaching of writing. You will base your paper on your research of two books, two articles, and an interview with a writer/or writing instructor. The multi-genre paper will be approximately 8 pages (30% of grade).

II. Field Experience Component—You will observe five periods of instruction in a classroom, you will teach a single writing lesson of about 20 minutes, and you will tutor two to three students in their writing over three conference sessions (15% of grade).

III. Portfolio—About a page a week (15% of grade). Portfolio topics will be specified as the course progresses and may include the following:

- Topics suggested in course texts
- Ideas for your own writing
- Response to your field experience observing/teaching
• Response to books or articles for multi-genre paper
• Response to class presentations

Grading:

- Memoir: 20%
- Poetry PowerPoint: 20%
- Field Experience: 15%
- Portfolio: 15%
- Multi-Genre Paper: 30%

A=90-100  B=80-89  C=70-79  D=60-69  F=below 60

The Department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU catalog (“The Grading System”). Grades issued will represent a full range of student performance: A=excellent; B=above average; C=average; D=below average; F=failure. In English Department courses, instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of the ideas being conveyed. Student writing should be distinguished by organization, correct grammar and punctuation.

University Policies

SJSU Academic Integrity Statement:
“Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s Integrity Policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the Office of Judicial Affairs.” The policy on academic integrity can be found at http://www2.sjsu.edu/senate/SO4-12.htm. The SJSU rules against plagiarism are set forth in the SJSU Catalog, which defines plagiarism as the act of representing the work of another as one’s own (without giving the appropriate credit) regardless of how that work was obtained, and submitting it to fulfill academic requirements. Plagiarism at SJSU includes, but is not limited to: (1) the act of incorporating the ideas, words, sentences, paragraphs, or parts thereof, or the specific substance of another’s work, without giving appropriate credit, and representing the product as one’s own work. It is the role and the obligation of each student to know the rules that preserve academic integrity and abide by them at all times. This includes learning and following the particular rules associated with specific classes, exams, and/or course assignments. Ignorance of these rules is not a defense to the charge of violating the Academic Integrity Policy.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act:
If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please let me know as soon as possible. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities register with the DRC to establish a record of their disability. The DRC website is http://www.drc.sjsu.edu
University Writing Center:
The Writing Center (Clark Hall 126) is an excellent resource if you need extra help. Some tutoring opportunities might be available too. http://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter
