Our Theme: 21st Century Literacies for a Global Citizen

“Most of us probably feel we couldn’t be free without newspapers, and that is the real reason we want newspapers to be free.”

Edward R. Murrow

The veteran broadcaster, Ed Murrow, renowned for his journalistic integrity, is declaring that our freedom, our democracy, is inextricably bound to the freedom of the press and to our access to news. You may or may not get your news from a newspaper but there is little doubt that you, like me, like most of us, are now connected to a constant stream of information about what's going on around us - not only in America, but across the globe. We have never been, we are constantly told, more connected to world events than we are now - but what has this achieved? Do you feel connected to those stories, those headlines you catch on that long list of notifications on your phone? How does your reading of the news – via Twitter, blogs, or newspapers, impact you, your sense of yourself as a citizen, and your participation in society? And does the never ending access to this feed of global news make you feel part of a bigger, global society? If so, how do you want to change the world you live in, for yourself, for others? Are these digital literacies helping you become the kind of citizen you’d like to be? What are the capabilities and limits of these literacies and what can we do to find a way to contribute to our communities here and elsewhere despite their limitations? How can we become the citizens we want to become, that the world needs us to become?
To tackle these broad and complex questions, we will read widely and extensively – we will analyze stories from the International NYT alongside a range of other texts (from essays to audio-visual texts) which will focus on this theme. We will consider the tactics the authors use in their writing and assess how effective they are. Do we buy what they are saying or not? Why? And, if not, why not? As we try to understand how these authors use language to persuade a specific audience to agree with them we will also look at where these texts sit within a wider context – who are the authors responding to, who are they challenging, who do they agree with? This process of mapping where the texts you read stand in relation to other opinions involves an open and inquiring approach, which will, in turn, prepare you, to enter into the conversation. Armed with a greater knowledge of the context, built through your readings and research, over time, of a story that matters to you, you will be able to use your own selection of writing strategies to present, to advocate, for your opinion. So whilst we will be looking at how others exercise influence over us through their words what I’m most interested in is what YOU think, your process in arriving at your position and how you will, through your writing, convince the different audiences you will engage with during this class to see things from your perspective.

What We Do in Stretch English

Catalog Description of English 1A F and English 1AS.

Stretch I and II, together, fulfill the written communication general education requirement. Courses in GE Area A2 cultivate an understanding of the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication, with special attention to the nature of writing in the university. Students in these courses develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. A grade of C- or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

Stretch I is the first semester of a year-long ENGL 1A that will help you understand the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication. Through interpretation and analysis of texts, students will develop clear thinking and effective writing that give form and coherence to complex ideas. Students will practice these skills by writing for various audiences and rhetorical situations.

Stretch extends your course of study: The Stretch English course in which you have enrolled “stretches” the English 1A curriculum from one to two semesters, allowing us more time to hone your reading and writing skills. This added time to prepare will ensure that you are ready to transfer those skills to the writing you will do in your other courses here at SJSU.

Stretch invites you into a learning community: This semester you are enrolled in Stretch English I, and next term, provided you successfully complete the fall course, you will enroll in Stretch English II. I will once again be your instructor, and your colleagues from fall will be your colleagues in spring. Together we will explore reading and writing for a full year.

What You Will Learn in Stretch English I and II

As part of your general university education, you are offered this course to explore how reading and writing inform the work we do together at the university. Across the university, in all disciplines and majors, reading and writing inform the collaborations between students and faculty as we create new knowledge together.

The General Education guidelines for instructors outline five broad learning outcomes for all courses that satisfy Area A2. I have designed this course to ensure that you meet these outcomes.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically
2. demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals
4. demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing
Through a variety of writing assignments and projects in this yearlong course, you will continuously practice all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. As you see in the sample table, the major assignments and projects require you to produce about 9500 words. Exact word counts may vary from section to section. Several of your essays will be drafted in class, both to give you experience in timed-writing situations and to give you the opportunity to observe and confer with your instructor and your cohort about your drafting process. Several assignments will give you opportunity to explore multiple modes of presenting arguments—orally, visually, in print and on screens.

Table 1 maps how the yearlong course will meet Written Communication I requirements and standards as well as the GE learning objectives.

How to Prepare for Class Sessions.

This year we will collaborate to answer the question: What is the relationship between 21st century-literacies and democratic engagement as citizens in a global world? We will use reading and writing to collaborate in researching this question. You will come to class everyday ready to explore ideas, share research, analyze source materials, critique samples and workshop drafts. In short, to write. Each class session will engage you in activities that work toward the current essay assignment or project and in reflection on those activities to observe the reading and writing strategies you are practicing and their practical effects. Our goal is, by May, for you to have at the ready a set of reading and writing practices that will sustain your college study.

You will want to save this daily class activity and reflection. Some of it will be saved to your Canvas account; you will also want to keep a copy of your work on your laptop. (You always have a backup!) So bring your own laptop or tablet to each class, or check one out in the library. (See the Stretch program syllabus for information on campus technology access.). In addition, I’d like you to have the following:

- A journal (a notebook) for informal assignments and free response writing. Ideally this will have a subject divider so that you can use part of it as an editing journal. You must bring your journal to every class, and of course, pen/pencils and highlighters to annotate readings.
• A folder to keep ALL coursework together, labeled with your name. This work includes formal and informal: responses, reflections, assignments, peer responses, etc. Should you be interested in getting more information about your progress in the class at other points over the course of the semester, I will review these materials. KEEP ALL OF YOUR WORK IN YOUR FOLDER AT ALL TIMES.

Where to Find Course Assignments and Materials.

Course materials such as syllabus, handouts, assignment sheets, and some readings can be found on the Canvas learning management system course website. You are responsible to check the messaging system through MySJSU to learn of any updates to our schedule.

Where to Purchase the Texts You Need.

You will read stories daily in The New York Times (International) as well as articles and essays that are part of the extended investigation we will conduct this year into the relationship between literacy and democracy; reading the following texts will allow you to practice reading to learn, to reflect, and to respond. These texts will also serve as writing samples for study, and models for imitation.

All books are required.

Textbook Available from Amazon.com, or the Bookstore

I suggest you purchase these as you will need them for the entire year (renting will be more expensive).

  ISBN-10: 0134724097

  ISBN-10: 1416590560

Free access to our handbook

- Lunsford, Andrea. A digital version of The Everyday Writer called Writer's Help can be found by clicking the link in our Canvas course menu. Access is free to you.

Newspaper Subscription

You will also purchase a digital version of The New York Times for the full year (4 weeks @ 99 cents, then $1.88 per week). This digital version will allow you to keep a personal archive of stories you are following for your writing assignments in this course. Use the following link to access the educational subscription page. You will use your MySJSU account (@sjsu.edu) to set up a special education rate for the subscription: http://www.nytimes.com/subscriptions/edu/lp1474.html?campaignId=48U9F

Additional readings which may take the form of essays, blogs and visual texts will be posted to Canvas.
The Work You Will Do in This Course: An Overview

The Core Stretch Curriculum. Table 1 outlined the major writing assignments for Stretch English. All sections of Stretch English share this core curriculum. The fall writing assignments include: 2 critical reading and reflection essays, written in class; a personal essay; an essay for a public forum; a self-reflection essay (written in class). The spring writing assignments include: An interview project, a profile essay, a critical/reflection essay (written in class), an ethnographic project, a critical essay, and a self-reflection essay.

Midyear and Year-End Self-Reflection and Portfolio Review

At the end of the fall and spring terms you will submit a portfolio for Stretch instructors to review. These portfolios will ask you to enter into an assessment of your writing with two members of the Stretch faculty: me and one of my colleagues.

Our Daily Learning Activities.

The schedule of reading and writing assignments at the end of this syllabus breaks this work down into daily activities you will engage both in and out of class.

The Time You Will Spend on This Work

This class has been designed to help you achieve the learning goals that define its role in your progress to earn a degree. In a 3-unit course like this one, faculty expect that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week). This time includes preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf.

While all students will complete these same assignments, the course design does not and cannot account for the individual needs of each student. There may be added work you need to do. You may need extra hours for tutoring; you may take longer to read texts so that you can look up words you find unfamiliar; you may need more time for editing.

Reflecting on Your Own Learning: The Stretch Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

When you have completed this coursework, you will have made considerable progress in developing yourself as a reader and writer. At the end of the fall and the spring term, you will assemble this work in a portfolio, and reflect on the work to gauge and define your progress. Presenting this portfolio to me and to one other member of the Stretch Faculty Learning Community, you will demonstrate to us your own ability to:

Read to learn:
- annotate a reading selection to develop a summary and response in your writing (GELO 1);
- identify audience & purpose in several genres (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- explain how genres work to serve audience and context (GELO 1, 3).

Read to write:
- identify rhetorical appeals and devise strategies for an effective appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- develop a text to appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- identify choices a writer has made to produce a text (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use readings as models for your own writing strategies (GELO 1, 4);
- concisely, accurately explain and critique information and ideas from your reading (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use information gleaned from your reading as evidence in your text and cite that information (GELO 1, 4);
- use quotation & summary to create context for readers (GELO 1, 4, 5).

Write with an increased awareness of the process:
- discuss specific strategies for prewriting and revision that have worked for you (GELO 2);
- repurpose acquired skills and information to tackle new writing problems (GELO 2).

Read and write with an increased awareness of the language you use:
- identify new grammatical forms and imitate them (GELO 1, 2, 3, 4, 5);
- analyze and discuss the structure of sentences and the grammatical choices you make (GELO 2, 3, 5);
- identify editing problems in your own writing (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective strategies for editing your work (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective proofreading strategies (GELO 2, 5).

Reflect on and assess your own writing, process and product, to support continued language and writing development (GELO 2, 3, 4).
Your goal in this class is to learn what you need as a writer in order to develop your skills as a writer—and to get what you need. That will take commitment, of your time and your attention, to the work of this class; commitment to seek out the support and resources you need, both in class and out of class. Be sure to factor into your study plan for this semester, the time and attention you need to develop your writing skills.

How Your Work Will Be Assessed and Graded in This Course

Feedback on your work is intended to help you apply lessons from class as you complete assignments, and to transfer lessons learned from one assignment to the next. Grades are intended as a tool for assessment and reporting of outcomes during a course of instruction.

Note that “All students have the right, within a reasonable time, to know their academic scores, to review their grade-dependent work, and to be provided with explanations for the determination of their course grades.” See University Policy F13-1 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F13-1.pdf for more details.

Feedback for Individual Assignments
You and I will both assess how effectively your finished writing is achieving the goals outlined for the course; this part of the grading will detail how effectively you are performing the skills that you are learning and practicing in the class. Your grade on an assignment will measure your progress and achievement so that you can manage your learning through the entirety of instruction.

Scoring Guide: For each assignment, you will be given a rubric that details how the assignment will be evaluated and scored. Typically, the assignment will be evaluated both as a process completed and as a product of that process.

Cover Sheet: Because we have “stretched” the English 1A curriculum to a year, each assignment is the result of weeks of work you will have completed both in class and out of class: when you submit your work for my evaluation, you will account for the learning you have achieved through this process. These cover sheets will help you to practice self-reflection as a writer, and so will prepare you to write the midyear and final self-reflection essays.

Canvas Discussion Boards:
There will be regular online discussions on which you will be graded. Please post your responses to discussion threads. The deadline for these is midnight Sunday, before our Monday class. Enter in the text box please (no attachments). Late posts are not accepted.

How Assignments Are Weighted Assignments to Determine Grades

Fall 2017: Grades in the fall are based on measured progress toward proficiency in the learning objectives outlined above. To earn credit in the course, you will need to have completed all the assigned work, and you will need to demonstrate measurable progress in at least 3 out of 4 (75%) of the CLO categories to earn credit (CR) in English 1AF.

How I Calculate Course Grades

In Stretch English, your course grade is based on a full year’s work. All the work you engage to produce the learning you do through both semesters is weighted to determine the final grade. Weighted grades are not averaged.

What happens if I don’t earn credit in the fall course?

If you do NOT have a UGRM designation and you earn No Credit in fall, you will enroll in English 1A in the spring to complete your Area A2 requirement in one semester.

If you entered SJSU with a UGRM designation and you earn a NC in fall, the Developmental Studies advisors will help you transition to a course that will allow you to complete your remediation within the year. More information is available online: https://sites.google.com/site/developmentalstudiesatsjsu/

How to Get the Most Out of This Class

- Office hours: I am a resource for you and here to help with queries or to clarify any concerns you might have about the class or your assignments. Make use of me! You may make an appointment or drop in during office hours.
- Attendance: is required. Absences on workshop days will adversely affect the grade for that paper. Assignments in this class are cumulative, with each one preparing you for the next one so missing class also means you will fall behind on crucial preparatory work for your written assignments. To be clear: if you do not come to class, or if you skip assignments your grade on individual assignments AND your overall grade will be adversely affected.
- Excused absences (for illness, family emergencies, etc.): these must be communicated in advance of class and will require documentation. Work that needs to be made up as a result of an EXCUSED ABSENCE only must be done so by arrangement with me.
- Punctuality: In addition to the statement on attendance, I ask that you arrive on time. If you know you are going to be late (as with an absence) tell me ahead of time.
- Deadlines: I regard late work as highly unprofessional. Work submitted late will receive an automatic grade deduction by a letter grade for each late day. An excused absence does not excuse late work; please do not assume you can turn in late work because of an excused absence.
- Format: your papers should be double spaced, Times New Roman, point 12, and page numbers should be marked. Please be prepared to print your papers. A hard copy should be handed to me at the START of class and an electronic copy (when appropriate) should be posted to Canvas ahead of class. Please do not email your papers to me.
- Email: is the best way to communicate with me. If you email after 5pm please note that I may not be able to respond till after 9am the following morning. Similarly, with queries that come in on Friday night - be prepared that I may not respond till the following Monday. Please plan accordingly for this scheduling issue. Longer queries specific to your writing or an assignment are best addressed during office hours.
Online discussions: will be posted to Canvas (these may be based on readings you have completed from the text book or articles I ask you to post). By midnight on Sunday (before class), I will expect you to have contributed something to the online discussion. Please write in the text box; no attachments please. Please also note, midnight, Sunday is a hard deadline: I do not accept late discussion posts.

Your work is public in this class, part of our collective inquiry into writing, reading, and democracy. We will share work in Canvas regularly. I reserve the right to publish your work to the class as part of our workshop activities.

Workshops: are an essential part of this class. Your participation in workshops which take place IN CLASS is critical to your success, and mandatory. These workshops are conducted in class: You must bring to workshops a completed draft, and you must turn in to me the workshop copies as well as the final, revised draft of the essay. (Only with documented reason and prior approval will I allow you to complete workshops with your group via email.) Unexcused absences on workshop days will result in a letter grade deduction.

I also expect you to actively engage with the work of your class mates during workshops and treat their work with respect and consideration, whilst also pushing your colleagues to improve their work as much as they can. Points for participation in workshop will be built into the rubric of each major assignment.

Participation: Class participation takes a number of forms from listening to your peers, contributing to discussion, completing in class assignments to workshopping. I expect you to participate in ALL these ways. Learning to express your ideas in a public forum is an important life skill and this class is a safe place to learn how to master this. It does not come easily to everyone but I expect to see improvements in this skill over the year – as hard as it might feel to speak up, I expect you to try. Remember: participation in class (and on Canvas Boards) accounts for an overall 15% of your final grade. Earn those points! The more prepared you are before class, the easier this will feel: do the reading and any required written work so you don't have to ‘hide’ in class.

Classroom Etiquette: Please do not sleep, text, eat, do homework for other classes, play around with cell phones or socialize in a distracting manner during this class. You will get a great deal more from this class if you come prepared to really engage with the material we will be discussing.

Plagiarism: Don't do it. Make sure you understand what plagiarism is – if you have any doubts about how you are handling your material and sources please come and see me before you turn in your work. Academic dishonesty has serious repercussions and will certainly result in an F on any assignment that shows evidence of plagiarism. Be honest with me and with yourself.

Where You Can Go to Get Support as a Writer at SJSU: Resources for Stretch Composition Students

Part of becoming a successful writer is learning how and when to seek the support you need.

- Peer Mentors: Dedicated Writing Support for Stretch English Students. Some Stretch Instructors have requested a peer mentor for the section. A Stretch peer mentor is a fellow SJSU student trained to work with Stretch English students and instructor as part of the learning community of the classroom. This type of writing support offers you a rare opportunity to work one on one with an advanced writer who knows the assignments and materials you are working on and with. Your peer mentor will schedule appointments and workshops on a weekly basis. Look for Canvas announcements about upcoming meeting times and places. Sign up immediately when these appointments open.

- SJSU Peer Connections: Peer Connections offers course-content based tutoring, enhanced study and time management skills, more effective critical thinking strategies, decision making and problem-solving abilities, and campus resource referrals. There are three mentoring locations: SSC, Room 600 (10th Street Garage on the corner of 10th and San Fernando Street), at the 1st floor entrance of Clark Hall, and in the Living Learning Center (LLC) in Campus Village Housing Building B. Visit Peer Connections website at http://peerconnections.sjsu.edu for more information.

- SJSU Writing Center: Located in Clark Hall, Suite 126; the Writing Center offers appointments with tutors who are well trained to assist you as you work to become a better writer. The Writing Center offers both one-on-one tutoring and workshops on a variety of writing topics. To make an appointment or to refer to the Center's online resources, visit the Writing Center website at http://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter. For additional resources and updated information, follow the Writing Center on Twitter and become a fan of the SJSU Writing Center on Facebook.

Where to Access the Technology You Will Need to Do the Work of This Course

You will need an electronic device out of class that allows you to access the internet and Canvas, and to read the online Stretch English I and II, English 1AF and 1AS, Fall 2017 and Spring 2018. The University provides students access to technological resources at several locations on campus:

• Academic Success Center (Clark Hall). Computer labs for student use are available in the Academic Success Center at http://www.sjsu.edu/at/asc/ located on the 1st floor of Clark Hall and in the Associated Students Lab on the 2nd floor of the Student Union. Additional computer labs may be available in your department/college.
• Media Services (Martin Luther King Library). Computers are also available in the Martin Luther King Library. A wide variety of audio-visual equipment is available for student checkout from Media Services located in IRC 112. These items include DV and HD digital camcorders; digital still cameras; video, slide and overhead projectors; DVD, CD, and audiotape players; sound systems, wireless microphones, projection screens and monitors.

Where Can I Find Information about Earning A2 Credit and Clearing Remediation?

The Stretch program syllabus is located in our Canvas files and on the Department website: http://www.sjsu.edu/english/ENGLgreensheets/2016ENGLfall/Stretch%20Program%20Syllabus.pdf. In that syllabus you will find information about how, in Stretch I and II, you can earn A2 credit and, if you need to, clear your remediation in English.

Where Can I Find Information about University Policies?

The Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs (GUP) maintains university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. You may find all syllabus-related University Policies and resources information listed on GUP’s Syllabus Information web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/
