Course Description: English 100W is an integrated writing and literature course in which students will develop advanced proficiency in college-level writing. Beyond providing repeated practice in planning and executing essays, and advancing students’ understanding of the genres, audiences, and purposes of college writing developed in Written Communication 1A and 1B, English 100W broadens and deepens those abilities to include mastery of the discourse specific to the field of English studies, with an emphasis on close and careful reading of literary texts. This section of English 100W has a special theme of Literature and Medicine.

Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives: As a course that satisfies the SJSU Area Z general-education requirement and counts toward the academic majors housed in the Department of English and Comparative Literature, English 100W has two sets of Student Learning Objectives.

In this course, we will engage in all phases of those reading, thinking, researching, and writing processes that produce clear and purposeful critical essays that demonstrate an understanding of and illuminate for others how literature contains and conveys its effects and meanings. By engaging this work, students will accomplish all of these objectives.
How Area Z Learning Goals Will Be Met

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>GE Learning Objective (GELO)</th>
<th>How will this GELO be achieved?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GELO 1: Students shall be able to produce discipline-specific written work that demonstrates upper-division proficiency in: language use, grammar, and clarity of expression.</td>
<td>Students will participate in classroom activities that require attention to revision as well as editing strategies and standards.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GELO 2: Students shall be able to explain, analyze, develop, and criticize ideas effectively, including ideas encountered in multiple readings and expressed in different forms of discourse.</td>
<td>All writing assignments require students to incorporate their readings of literary texts. Both bibliographic and writing assignments require students to engage in research and argumentation: responding to other critics’ readings of the texts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GELO 3: Students shall be able to organize and develop essays and documents for both professional and general audiences.</td>
<td>The three different genres of literary criticism that students write this term will engage them in conversations with peers and with published critics.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GELO 4: Students shall be able to organize and develop essays and documents according to appropriate editorial and citation standards.</td>
<td>Students will learn to use MLA standards for organizing and citing primary and secondary sources.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GELO 5: Students shall be able to locate, organize, and synthesize information effectively to accomplish a specific purpose, and to communicate that purpose in writing.</td>
<td>Writing assignments are designed to introduce students to the process of reading, research, and revision that leads to professional level critical essays in the discipline.</td>

<tr>
<td>• read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric</td>
<td>Students will read poetry analytically for half of the term; they will study two longer works: a novel and a play. Students will also read critical essays.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World Literature</td>
<td>The readings for this course are drawn from both British and American literature.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and the nature of the subject</td>
<td>The writing assignments in this course require students to practice different kinds of literary analysis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively</td>
<td>In their critical essays, students will do research on and incorporate information from outside sources into their arguments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts</td>
<td>All reading and writing assignments involve cross-cultural, trans-historical, or inter-textual discourse.</td>

Writing Fellow: In this class, we will have a Writing Fellow, Fatema Elbakoury, who can be reached at Fatema.elbakoury@sjsu.edu. Her office hours are 12-1 MW, and she will gladly meet with you by appointment as well. She will be in class with us regularly and her goal is to help you improve your writing. While she does not grade or edit your work, she is here to help with every aspect of the writing process, from brainstorming, to polishing your papers.

Grading Policy

Grades and Grading Statement: The Department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU Catalog. Grades issues must represent a full range of student performance. English 100W is an A-F course. A = excellent, B = above average, C = average; D = below average; F = failure. + or – grades will be used in evaluating assignments; this means that an assignment that is assigned a + or – with its letter grade is somewhat better than or somewhat weaker than the criteria in the following grading standard.
Academic Standards for Assessment: The “A” essay will be well organized and well developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively and to construct sentences distinguished by syntactic complexity and variety. Such essays will be essentially free of grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors.

The “B” essay will demonstrate competence in the same categories as the “A” essay. The chief difference is that the “B” essay will show some slight weakness in one of those categories. It may slight one of the assigned tasks, show less facility of expression, or contain some minor grammatical, mechanical, or usage flaws.

The “C” essay will complete all tasks set by the assignment, but show weaknesses in fundamentals, usually development, with barely enough specific information to illustrate the experience or support generalizations. The sentence construction may be less mature, and the use of language less effective and correct than the “B” essay.

The “D” essay will neglect one of the assigned tasks and be noticeably superficial in its treatment of the assignment that is, too simplistic or too short. The essay may reveal some problems in development, with insufficient specific information to illustrate the experience or support generalizations. It will contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that are serious and/or frequent enough to interfere substantially with the writer’s ability to communicate.

The “F” essay will demonstrate a striking underdevelopment of ideas and insufficient or unfocused organization. It will contain serious grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors that render some sentences incomprehensible.

Course Requirements and Assignments

Students will write one diagnostic paper (500 words). In addition students will write four out of class papers. Three of the out of class papers will be (1,250 word) analyses of memoir, fiction, and drama, respectively. The third out of class assignment will be a 2,500 word research project (on a topic related to literature and medicine approved by the instructor); this assignment will be shaped by attending a library research class, creating an annotated bibliography (300 words), writing a 200 minimum word rough draft, having a conference on the rough draft, and revising the paper to create a final draft. A final essay exam on poetry explication (1,000 words) is given in this course.

Total writing: minimum of 7,200 words, excluding the final examination. All papers will follow MLA, 7th edition rules for format and parenthetical documentation. All out of class papers must be typed and submitted on paper. NO email submissions for final drafts. Late papers are accepted only at the discretion of the instructor and will be penalized for lateness. NOTE: Students must complete and submit all written assignments in order to pass the course.

Course Grade Distribution: Class Participation (includes class discussion and oral presentations): 10%; in class diagnostic paper: 5%; papers # 1 (Chast)= 15%; 2 (Salzman)=15%; 3 (Edson)= 15%; 4 (Research project & preliminary assignments) = 30% (total 75%); final exam poetry explication (May 19 at 12:15pm): 10%. There is no extra credit available in this class. If accepted, late paper grades are penalized 10% per class late after initial due date.
Participation is evaluated by student’s level of preparation and active participation in all classroom discussions and writing activities.

Classroom Protocol

Students are expected to attend all classes and arrive on time. Wireless electronic devices will be used in the classroom only with explicit instructor permission.

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page
