ENGL 1A Course Description
ENGL 1A is an introductory writing course that will help you understand the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication. Through interpretation and analysis of texts, you will learn to think clearly and write effectively as you give form and coherence to complex ideas. You will explore writing for various audiences and rhetorical situations.

ENGL 1A Learning Outcomes (GELO)
Upon successful completion of the course, you will be able to
1. read actively and rhetorically;
2. perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance;
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals;
4. integrate your ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres;
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing.
ENGL 1A Course Content

Diversity: SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. You will engage in integrated reading and writing assignments to construct your own arguments on complex issues that generate meaningful public debate. Readings for the course will include writers of different genders and from different socio-economic classes.

Writing: Writing assignments will give you repeated practice in all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. This class requires a minimum of 8000 words, at least 4000 of which must be in revised final draft form. Because in-class writing is valued and you should be able to perform well in timed writing situations, at least one essay will be written in class. In addition, ENGL 1A classes require multiple out-of-class essays.

Reading: In addition to being an intensive writing course, ENGL 1A is also a reading course. Reading is a crucial component of the class, as one must read effective writing to become an effective writer. During the semester, you will read a variety of rhetorical and professional works on the art and craft of persuasive language.

Multimodal: You will be presenting your arguments orally to class both as an individual and as part of a group.

ENGL 1A Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, you are expected to spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf.

Assignments below will be fleshed out in detailed prompts that will be posted on Canvas and/or distributed in class. Below is a general idea of what the assignments will be. All assignments are subject to change at the instructor’s discretion, with notice sent via Canvas email and post in “Announcements” on Canvas.

Weekly Blogposts: Every Monday, a blogpost on blogger.com is required to do activities pertaining to the book, Just Mercy.

Benchmark: Personal response: You have read the syllabus, which outlines this course and what’s expected of you. Considering all that, who are you as a reader and writer? What works for you and what do you need to work on in order to have success in this course and/or in college in general? (Readings: the syllabus and “Shitty First Drafts” by Anne Lamott) in class Essay 1 In a different kind of classroom, are prisons a good place for us to have college courses? Why or why not? Are these courses likely to help prisoners find success? (“N.Y. Governor Says College For Inmates Will Pay Off For Taxpayers” by Brian Mann)

Essay 2 What prison programs should we support? Explain why the two you chose are good models for what prison programs be like and do in order to help this part of our society succeed and to keep prisons a sustainable part of our justice system. Incorporate why we should be concerned about the success of this group. Source needs an Annotated Bibliography and needs approval. (“Prison Gardens Help Inmates Grow Their Own Food — And Skills” by Eliza Barclay, “Building a Prison-to-School Pipeline” by Larissa MacFarquhar, Why Aren’t There More Higher Ed Programs Behind Bars?’ by Eric Westervelt)

in class Essay 3 Victims of major disasters move because they have to and immigrants move because they want to, but the results are often positive. What about ex-cons? (“Starting Over” by Malcolm Gladwell)

Essay 4 Just Mercy: Propose an essay that addresses and expands on a topic that links the book to the topics explored in class. Topic requires approval and one source minimum requires approval and needs an Annotated Bibliography. All sources must be from the databases.

Final Multimodal Presentation of the Portfolio of your Semester: Show us the learning process that you experienced this semester, including excerpts from your writing and connecting to the Benchmark Essay. Incorporate influential and key assignments from the semester. After the presentation, a self-assessment is the culminating experience for this class.

Grading Policy

The department’s standard grading scheme consists of the following: Requirements for particular assignments will vary, but in all cases essay grades will reflect the paper’s effectiveness, which is broken down into three major areas: content (this includes maturity and sophistication of thought), organization, and expression.

An “A” range essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage.

A “B” range essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an “A” essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical or usage errors.

A “C” range essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice. A “D” range essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension.

An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Classroom Protocol

Participation and Active Learning: Participation is essential to active learning and to the learning process in general. Participation includes but is not limited to being engaged in small and large group work, bringing materials to class, focusing on the task at hand and basically contributing to the learning process that will be happening in our workshop style classroom. If you cannot make a particular class, check Canvas and/or email the teacher or contact a dependable classmate to get updated on what you missed. You are responsible for all homework whether you are in class or not.

Peer review: Part of your grade is your involvement in and commitment to peer review. Peer review is a chance for you to get some valuable feedback from your peers on your rough drafts before turning them in. If you don’t come to a workshop for a given paper, or if your essay is not a “good faith” draft, you will not receive credit for that homework assignment (the rough draft is a HW assignment while the final draft is an essay). A “good faith” draft is typed and shows careful thought and planning even though it may be unfinished.

Classroom Etiquette: Please mute all electronic devices before entering the classroom and focus on the class content. In addition, we must treat others with respect and kindness so that we can build a safe and productive learning environment and writing community.

Email: When emailing, remember sign your name at the end of the email. I cannot always know who you are just by the email address. Also, remember that I am your instructor, not your IM buddy, so your language should be appropriate and professional, and I will respond in kind.

Twitter: Please create a free Twitter account for yourself and follow me (@PrasadSarah) on Twitter. It’s not a requirement, but often I will tweet homework and assignment reminders, so it’s a good idea to try this new technology if you can.

University Policies: The link below contains university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc.
