Course Description
English 240 is an MFA-level poetry workshop in which students write, revise, and complete new poems. The course will include regular discussions of poetics and the theory and craft of poetry, as well as an examination of trends in contemporary poetry in the United States and internationally. Students will also learn to how submit poems for publication in small magazines, literary journals, and Web sites. The course may be taken four times for credit (toward the MFA degree).

Thematic Focus
Members of this MFA-level poetry writing workshop and seminar will not only produce new work but will also investigate the traditions of environmental poetry, from its roots in the pastoral to modernist poetry of place to postmodern and experimental ecopoetics. MFA students will create a portfolio of new poems plus blog entries and a presentation on the work of an environmentally-engaged poet. MA students may create new poems and/or conduct literary research--write three short research papers and additional Discussion Blog posts on individual poets or schools/traditions of ecopoetry. All students will give close attention to poetic craft and techniques of composition. MFA and MA students will participate together in weekly class workshops in which new work by class members (poetry and essays on environmentally-engaged poets and poetics) will be read and discussed with an eye toward revision. We will read a number of published poems from The Ecopoetry Anthology and other poems by those poets online. We’ll also read a few poems some poems translation from Pablo Neruda and from classical Chinese and Japanese poets. There will be one short poetry craft paper required for all students in addition to your poetry portfolio. MA students will produce a final portfolio made up of three short term papers on the poets and poems read during the semester.
Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives

Course Goals:

• Complete a portfolio consisting of (depending on length) of eight finished (revised) original poems, at least four of which should be engaged environmental or ecopoetic concerns
• Explore varied modes and forms of ecopoetry—from traditional nature and experimental postmodern poetry. Read a wide range of poets, close reading specimen poems, and writing new poems in a variety of modes, forms, and styles.
• To workshop early drafts student poems in small writing groups whose members post their poems on Canvas for peer comments throughout the semester.
• Workshop classmates’ poems on a weekly basis, finding ways to improve the work through critique and successive revisions.
• Read the critical, craft and ecopoetic essays poetry assigned via online hyperlinks in Canvas during the semester.
• Give two multimedia in-class presentations, workshopping and analyzing individual poems included in The Ecopoetry Anthology. I will list these poems and background critical readings and supplemental critical readings as Playlists on the weekly Course Activities pages in Canvas.

English Department Students Learning Goals

This course supports several of the English Department’s Student Learning Goals. The Department of English and Comparative Literature seeks to foster the intellectual development of its majors by encouraging study of literature and writing—whether creative, technical, or other professional writing. The Department strives to make its majors familiar with a wide range of works of British, American, and World literature, including folk and popular forms; and with the nature of the canon and of canon-formation, including issues of culture, history, race, ethnicity, gender, and sexual orientation.

Overview of Workshop Procedures
This class is conducted primarily as a writers’ workshop, which requires active student participation. For the workshop, students will write (and revise), new poems (or essays) for other class members to read and discuss on the Canvas course site. The instructor will moderate the workshop discussion. All students are expected to actively participate as critics except when their own work is under discussion. In class we will also discuss poems published in The Ecopoetry Anthology. We will conduct this portion of the class meeting as a seminar, where students present reading material assigned each week.

The poems you post should be single-spaced, with a double space between stanzas. Out of respect for yourself and your classmates, please observe the courtesy of proofing your poems before post them. Please follow standard conventions for usage, grammar, punctuation, and spelling. If you deviate from conventional textual practice for aesthetic reasons, you must be able to defend your work to the instructor.
All poems submitted to the workshop must be your own original work (no translations), and written for this course exclusively. You may not hand in any poem you wrote for another course.

Seminar Presentations on Ecopoetry and Poets
Each student will give two class presentations, unpacking and workshopping poems published in The Ecopoetry Anthology. The first presentation will be based on the Instructor’s suggestions (see course calendar). The second presentation should be determined by each class member, based on a list of possible poets to read/workshop from TEA. A list of these poets is included at the end of the Syllabus. Include any relevant secondary critical readings from Felstiner’s book or from articles reprinted on the Internet and hyperlinked in our Canvas course site. Presentations should be no longer than 15 minutes, designed to stimulate questions and further discussion. One week prior to the class date, the presenters should announce which poems class members will be assigned to read and discuss in the following week’s class. Each week presenters will put additional links to the poem(s) and, if relevant, critical works they will present as postings on Canvas. Also post any of your presentation slides, handouts, notes and links to relevant supplemental critical articles used in the presentation.

Required Writing
Poetry Portfolio
By the end of the semester, you will submit a completed portfolio of at least 8 revised and completed poems, which are of publishable quality.

Blog Discussion on Canvas
Each student is required to contribute a minimum of 8 Discussion Blog posts on Canvas—and reply to 4 Discussion Blogs—on poems read in class from The Ecopoetry Anthology, or other poems by linked via the Internet on Canvas. The weekly Discussion Blogs will be used to extend the classroom discussion of these poems, before and after the live in-person class meeting. Blog posts should be about 250 – 300 words, including some close reading of the poems assigned.

Reporting on Two Poetry Readings (Extra Credit)
You can write reviews of two poetry readings you attend during the semester (on or of campus). Write a thumbnail review of each reading, mentioning a few specifics about the poems and the presentation. The reports or reviews should be approximately 250 – 500 words. Post these reviews to the Reading Reviews Extra Credit uplink in Canvas.

Due Dates
You will turn in the poems in two sets: The instructor will provide you with critical comments and a grade-in-progress for the first set.

- Set 1 Due: March 20 (a minimum of 4 completed poems).
- First Presentation: By March 20
- Set 2 Due: May 15: (At least 8 completed poems, including any Set 1 revisions, and a second set of 4. Your portfolio should include at least 4 ecopoems or poems that address themselves in some direct or indirect way to environmental concerns.
- Second Presentation: By May 15
• Critical Paper: May 22

Grades
• 60% -- Final poetry portfolio. (3 critical papers may be substituted by MA students).
• 10% -- Participation in the workshop; in class and on Canvas.
• 10% -- Seminar presentations, including notes, presentation slides, handouts, etc.
• 10% -- Blog Discussion posts.
• 10% -- Critical paper
• 10% EXTRA CREDIT – Two poetry reading reviews

A NOTE ON GRADES:  In English Department courses, instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of the ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs (stanzas).

Grades given conform to the English Department and university grading policy. The Department of English is committed to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU Catalog (“The Grading System”). Grades issued must represent a full range of student performance: A = excellent; B = above average; C = average; D = below average; F = failure.

University policy requires Graduate Students to maintain a minimum 3.0 GPA to remain in good standing in their degree program.

In English Department courses, instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs, stanzas, or poetic form. Grades issued will represent a full range of student performance and will adhere to the following SJSU academic standards of assessment.

Academic Integrity:

"Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University's Integrity Policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the Office of Judicial Affairs." The policy on academic integrity can be found at: http://sa.sjsu.edu/judicial_affairs/index.html

Academic integrity

Avoiding Plagiarism:  Plagiarism is the unacknowledged use of somebody else’s words or ideas and is considered an instance of academic dishonesty that instructors must report. Repeated instances of plagiarism will result in a student’s expulsion from the University. You commit plagiarism by:

1. Buying, stealing, or borrowing a paper or creative work;
2. Hiring someone to write a paper or creative work;
3. Building on someone’s ideas without providing a citation;
4. Or copying from another source or using a source too closely when paraphrasing.

In other words, submit only your own work. To learn how to cite sources accurately and forthrightly, consult your handbook.

The instructor reserves the right to revise the requirements and to notify students of such revision in a timely manner, e.g., “subject to change, announced at least one class meeting in advance. Students should know that the University’s Academic Integrity Policy is available at http://www.sa.sjsu.edu/download/judicial_affairs/Academic_Integrity_Policy_S07-2.pdf. Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The website for Student Conduct and Ethical Development is available at http://www.sa.sjsu.edu/judicial_affairs/index.html.

Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.

Course Calendar

We will conduct an on-going poetry workshop in class until the end of the semester. Poems to be workshopped should be uploaded our Canvas course Workshop Discussion. We will workshop students’ poems mostly in alphabetical order—except when students have been very active submitting work. Workshops will take place in the second half of each class meeting, following the seminar’s conclusion. Please upload poems as Word files (.doc format preferred) or .docx to Canvas in the appropriate week’s Workshop Discussion. Seminar readings and presentations will be assigned by the instructor for the first part of the semester. Then students will select the poems/poets to be read for the ecopoetry seminar.
