Course materials such as syllabus, handouts, notes, assignment instructions, etc. can be found at the Canvas learning management system course website. You are responsible for regularly checking with the messaging system through MySJSU to learn of any updates.

Course Description

English 2 is a thematic course that focuses on the relationship between language and logic when composing arguments. Drawing on systems of analysis from rhetorical theorists and logicians, you will learn to reason effectively and think rhetorically to invent, demonstrate, and express arguments clearly, logically, and persuasively. Reading a variety of texts, you will study conventions of formal writing as well as textual cues that control the development of logical inferences.

Course-specific Theme: Cultural Inquiry

Our ways of seeing, behaving and believing are shaped by the culturally constructed societies. We learn to interpret the meaning produced by all kinds of cultural artifacts and communicate with each other via the cultural lens that have been accepted and yet to be challenged. In this course, we will examine the complexity of culturally infused human activities and thinking from various readings to seek for new insights to understand the present society so as to construct and represent our desired identities and other’s existence. The course is fundamentally based on the idea that reading, thinking, and writing are inextricably linked and that writing is an engagement with what others think and do.
GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to

1. locate and evaluate sources, through library research, and integrate research through appropriate citation and quotation;
2. present effective arguments that use a full range of legitimate rhetorical and logical strategies to articulate and explain their positions on complex issues in dialogue with other points of view;
3. locate, interpret, evaluate, and synthesize evidence in a comprehensive way in support of your ideas;
4. identify and critically evaluate the assumptions in and the context of an argument;
5. distinguish and convey inductive and deductive patterns as appropriate, sequencing arguments and evidence logically to draw valid conclusions and articulate related outcomes (implications and consequences).

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Through this course, students will:

- synthesize and analyze multiple points of view
- articulate and support one's own position regarding various issues
- adjust writing to multiple audiences, purposes, and conventions
- become conscientious and responsible writers, both for college and beyond
- learn to access and become involved with the discourses of the university community
- develop questioning abilities that move them beyond the passive acceptance of new materials to thinkers who can hold those materials up to genuinely informed scrutiny

ENGL 2 Course Content

Diversity: SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. You will engage in integrated reading, writing, and oral assignments to construct your own arguments on complex issues (such as diversity and ethnicity, class and social equity) that generate meaningful public debate. Readings for the course will include writers from different ethnicities, genders, and classes.

Writing: You will write a series of essays informed by research and articulating fully developed arguments about complex issues. Assignments emphasize those skills and activities in writing and thinking that produce the persuasive argument and the critical essay, each of which demands analysis, interpretation, and evaluation. Writing assignments give you repeated practice in prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. This class requires a minimum of 6000 words, at least 4000 of which must be in revised final draft form.

Logic: You will learn methods of argument analysis, both rhetorical and logical, that will allow you to identify logical structures (such as warrants, evidence, qualification, rebuttal; enthymemes and syllogisms) and distinguish common logical fallacies.

Reading: In addition to being writing intensive, ENGL 2 is also a reading course. You will read a variety of critical and argumentative texts to help develop your skills for understanding the logical structure of argumentative writing.

Multimodal: You will be presenting your arguments orally to class both as an individual and as part of a group.
Required Texts/Readings

Additional readings or supplementary materials will be posted in Canvas. You are responsible for printing the articles or download the readings to your own electrical devices, read and annotate them and bring them to the designated dates of discussion. Other readings may be added; check announcement or notices via Canvas for updates.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, you are expected to spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on.

1. Attendance
   Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to ensure maximum benefit for all members of the class. Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading. If a student has been out of school for one or more days, he should report to his instructors upon his return to inquire about making up the work. Students who know in advance that they will miss one or more classes should inform their instructors about their plans.

2. Writing Projects (WP)
   There will be three writing projects in this course. For each project, you need to produce a rough draft, a revised draft and a final product based on my and your peers’ feedback. More detailed instruction will be given at the beginning of the writing project. You will also be required to complete a reflection essay (e.g. self-assessment) in class on the due day of your writing project submission. Note that if you do not submit your writing projects by the assignment deadline, you will lose 100 points by class days from your final writing project grade.

   WP #1: The Profile of a Cultural Space
   In the second writing project, you will write a profile of a public space with the goal of offering a specific and deliberate perspective of the profile subject. Students will combine their experiences/beliefs with empirical/field-based research, will develop an informed stance on the topic, and will through their writing offer a view of the subject that may be new or not immediately obvious to readers.

   WP #2: Construction of Cultural Artifact
   In the first writing project, you will analyze (rhetorically and visually) a cultural “text” (an advertisement, an episode of a TV show, a music video, a video game, etc.) using a secondary reading you have done for this class as a significant “lens” through which the analysis takes place. After discussing the key ideas in the article and various responses to the author’s ideas in class, you might choose to use the ideas in the articles to analyze a specific artifact (or, as a twist, a different text such as a music video or videogame), extending the author’s ideas, challenging her conclusions, or otherwise significantly using the article’s key ideas in the rhetorical and visual analysis.

   WP #3: Reconstruction of Multi/Hybrid-culture + Presentation
   The third project, the informed inquiry, asks you to develop a “a spirit of inquiry,” which is “approaching writing […] with curiosity, moving beyond the familiar, keeping your eyes open, tackling issues that don’t have easy answers” (Bullock et al., 2016, p.281). As such, the project emphasizes framing and pursuing a genuine open question (rather than arguing a pre-formulated thesis) relevant to the community of learners in a given section of ENGL 2, as well as designing the final document in ways that carefully and purposefully invites readers into the writer’s exploration. Toward this end, then, the project invites you to seek out multiple perspectives on an open question; to evaluate the assumptions, evidence, values that inform those perspectives; and to explore the connections and tensions among these perspectives in order for the writer to offer readers informed insights of his or her own.

3. Reading Journals (RJ)

Each time you are assigned reading from our textbook or online materials, please complete a journal entry and post them on Canvas. You can choose to respond to one or all the chapters assigned. Your thoughts and questions help us to orient our discussion and follow-up assistance and adjustment of teaching schedules.

1. Each journal should be posted to “Discussion” board in Canvas, 150-200 words each.
2. For each reading, do 2-3 of the following:
   - Summarize the key concepts in the chapter
   - Connect concepts to other learning, personal experiences, or your observations
   - Stop and clarify unfamiliar language/examples through some research of your own
   - Ask questions
   - Evaluate what you have read

4. Participation, Written Peer Response/Review (for all three projects)

You will be required to respond to your peers’ drafts at least three times during the semester. And at the same time, your drafts will be given feedback by your peers. I will give you a peer response form for each assignment. The peer response session will take place in class, and that means you need to have your draft of each assignment done BEFORE the day the peer response takes place. If you do not have a draft prepared on the day a peer review workshop takes place, you will lose your grade on the peer response. We will practice and evaluate peer review techniques periodically, and you will be given instructor feedback to help you become an effective peer reader.

5. Portfolio

KEEP ALL OF YOUR WRITING for this course, including in-class and out-of-class working notes, drafts, revisions, and final drafts, reader responses, peer response comments, self-assessment pieces and in-class entries. At the end of the semester, you will review all your work to analyze and evaluate your progress to complete a 500-600 word reflection essay, in which you argue how the work you’ve done help achieve the learning goals (GELO), and include all the work you reference in the appendix. Keep backup copies of your work on the thumb drive required for the course—and/or a secure server. You should also keep hard copies of all of your papers.

Grading Information

The department’s standard grading scheme consists of the following: Requirements for particular assignments will vary, but in all cases essay grades will reflect the paper’s effectiveness, which is broken down into three major areas: content (this includes maturity and sophistication of thought), organization, and expression.

The following are the criteria by which essays are typically evaluated in first-year writing courses:

- An “A” range essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage.
- A “B” range essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an “A” essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical or usage errors.
- A “C” range essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice.
- A “D” range essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension. An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Classroom Protocol

Participation Work

You are expected to participate cooperatively, constructively, and to the best of your ability in all classes and conference activities (see more details next page). Participation work includes oral and written responses to readings and other course material, in class writing, group work, drafts, revision work, and anything else we do in the course of the writing process for each project.

I will not accept make-up work for participation work that is done in class, so you need to attend regularly to keep work and grades up-to-date. Homework is due at the beginning of class; late or incomplete work will receive partial credit.

Participation activities will equal 10% of the course grade. It all adds up, so make every effort to come to class and keep up with assignments. Furthermore, be aware that absence is not an excuse for not being prepared for class. If you are absent, call/email a classmate and find out what the assignment for the next class is—and come to class prepared.

Classroom Environment

Please silence your cell phones during class time. We should all give the class and each other our full attention for the duration of the session. If you answer a phone, text message, or use other course-irrelevant media during class, you will receive no participation credit for that day and I reserve the right to ask you to leave the class.

Please note that some course content may be sensitive. As we conduct scholarly investigation and engage in critical thinking about class topics, we will often entertain many different opinions about a topic or text or perspective; please be considerate of others’ contributions and viewpoints. An environment of respect will allow all of us the opportunity to participate and learn.
Conferences
During the course of the semester, we will have both individual and group conferences. For individual conferences, at least once, I will require you to meet me in my office to discuss your papers. Group conferences will take place in class. More details about the group conferences will be announced when you work on your writing projects. However, I am in my office to help you during the hours listed on the front of this document—please don’t be afraid to stop by during any stage of the writing process to talk about your papers! You also can contact me by email.

University Policies
The link below contains university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc.: http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/index.html.
Course Schedule

The following is a description of projects and due dates. While there is a particular curriculum we need to cover within the semester, every class is different, and sometimes we will have to change plans. Therefore, you should view the semester outline as just that—an outline, with details to be arranged as the class progresses and various changes to be made as the need arises. If we make any major change in course requirements, I will inform you of any revisions in a timely manner. Students are responsible for assignments handed out in class as well as for those indicated on the project outlines, so absent students should check with classmates in order to be well.

The schedule is subject to change. Any changes will be announced in class in advance and the most updated schedule will be posted to “Announcement” in Canvas. Reading and writing assignments must be completed by the beginning of class on the dates they appear in this schedule.
