Prerequisites: The Reflection on College Writing is a prerequisite to Stretch English I (English 1AF).
Credit for Stretch English I (English 1AF) is a prerequisite for Stretch English II (English 1AS).

GE/SJSU Studies Category: English 1AS satisfies Written Communication I, GE Area A2.
To earn graduation credit in this category, you must complete the yearlong course with a grade of C- or better.

Satisfying EO 665 If you are UGRM in English, you must be enrolled in a writing course that will allow you to clear that remedial requirement within your first year of study. Stretch English is one of the two courses that satisfy this requirement.

Clearing Remediation Students who pass English 1AS clear their remedial English requirement. This means you must earn a D- or better in the spring term in Stretch.

What We Will Explore Together in This Section of Stretch: 21st Century Literacies for a Global Citizen

"The basis of our governments being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right; and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."—Thomas Jefferson

Jefferson extols the role that newspapers play in a functioning democracy: informing citizens is their first step to access the power needed to exercise the right to self-determination promised to all in a democracy. Increasingly democracy plays out on an international stage; increasingly the world turns toward democratic values and systems for protecting those values. In the 21st century, we are called on to be citizens in a global community. On this global stage, there is much for millennials to do to secure their own rights and the rights of their international brethren—and there are global media tools available to do that work.
Americans read the stories of daily lives in the pages of newspapers and journals, accessed through the internet. In doing so, they engage a narrative and dialogue of global dimension: The stories of the conflicts in the Middle East, of debates about immigration laws, of floods and fires and extreme storms, of ecological disasters and political triumphs. These are the stories of our neighbors and neighborhoods, of our fellow citizens and our country, of our global brothers and sisters and our global community.

This year we will explore together the digital pages of the International New York Times, to explore the role of reading the news as a mode of 21st century democracy: what role does public reading play to create a public dialogue and to generate civic action in a global community; where can we (locally) see such dialogue and action modeled for us; do current platforms for public information and debate serve us well as global citizens?

SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. I chose the International New York Times as the main text for our reading precisely because you will find and engage in these pages a full range of voices in our democratic conversation on global issues.

Why You Are Stretching This Year

As part of your general university education, you are offered this course to explore how reading and writing inform university work. Across the university, in all disciplines and majors, reading and writing inform the collaborations between students and faculty as we create new knowledge together.

As they work together to create new knowledge, students and faculty use reading to gather new information and ideas to answer their questions about the subjects they study; they then transform this reading through writing to share their discoveries with others. The Stretch curriculum is designed to engage you in this process of sustained inquiry through reading and writing and, through practice and reflection, give you a chance to develop the habits of mind to strategically use reading and writing as you learn at SJSU.

Reflect on Your Own Learning: The Stretch Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Log in to our Canvas course. You will find there an exercise that allows you to begin right now your reflection on your learning.

You will explore in this Canvas activity the 5 main learning goals of our Stretch together this year:

- Read to learn.
- Read to write.
- Write with an increased awareness of the process.
- Read and write with an increased awareness of the language you use.
- Reflect on and assess your own writing, process and product.

What You Will Learn in Stretch English I and II

The General Education guidelines for instructors outline five broad learning outcomes for all courses that satisfy Area A2. I have designed this course to ensure that you meet these outcomes.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically
2. demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals
4. demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing

For more information on the Stretch Curriculum designed to meet these learning outcomes, see the Stretch English Program Syllabus: http://www.sjsu.edu/english/ENGLgreensheets/2016ENGLfall/Stretch%20Program%20Syllabus.pdf. Table 1 maps how the yearlong course will meet Written Communication I requirements and standards as well as the GE learning objectives.

Table 1: Summary of Writing Assignments for Stretch English I and II.

This year we will collaborate to answer the question: What is the relationship between 21st century-literacies and democratic engagement as citizens in a global world? We will use reading and writing to collaborate in researching this question, and writing about it. You will come to class everyday ready to do writing—that is, to explore ideas, share research and reading, analyze source materials, critique samples and workshop drafts. In short, to write. Each class session will engage you in activities that work toward the current essay assignment or project and in reflection on those activities to observe the reading and writing strategies you are practicing and their practical effects. Our goal is, by May, for you to have at the ready a set of reading and writing practices that will sustain your college study.

You will want to save this daily class activity and reflection. Some of it will be saved to your Canvas account; you will also want to keep a copy of your work on your laptop. (You always have a backup!) So bring your own laptop or tablet to each class, or check one out in the library. (See the Stretch program syllabus for information on campus technology access.)

Where to Find Course Assignments and Materials.

Course materials such as syllabus, handouts, assignment sheets, and some readings can be found on the Canvas learning management system course website. You are responsible to check the messaging system through MySJSU to learn of any updates to our schedule.
Where to Purchase the Texts You Need.

Reading is an integral part of writing. The following texts are part of the extended investigation we will conduct this year into the relationship between literacy and democracy; reading these texts, you will practice reading to learn, to reflect, and to respond as part of your daily learning practice. All books are required.

Textbook Available from Amazon.com, or the Bookstore

The following textbooks are available through Amazon, or the bookstore.

Publisher: Pearson; 5 edition (July 16, 2016)
Language: English
ISBN-10: 013449511X

Subscription to the International New York Times: Your Window into 21st-Century Literacies’ Role in Democracy

Together we are embarking on an exploration of the role reading and writing play in being a citizen in a democracy. To study that relationship, we are going to read the newspaper and share our learning and experiences in writing. The information we generate together will help you, in your final assignment, to assess the role of 21st-century literacies in our democratic practice as citizens.

You will purchase a digital version of The New York Times for the full year (4 weeks @ 99 cents, then $1.88 per week). This digital version will allow you to keep a personal archive of stories you are following for your writing assignments in this course. Use the following link to access the educational subscription page. You will use your MySJSU account (@sjsu.edu) to set up a special education rate for the subscription: http://www.nytimes.com/subscriptions/edu/lp1474.html?campaignId=48U9F

Other Readings about Our Theme

The following book is available as a trade paperback. You can order it on Amazon.

Although we will begin reading Wolf's book this term, over January you will read Naomi Wolf’s book in full.

Other readings (newspaper articles, public speeches, and scholarly articles) on 21st century literacy and democracy are located on Canvas, among the Assignments. These shared readings will help us to develop a shared context of reading to inform our arguments.

The Work You Will Do in This Course: An Overview

The Core Stretch Curriculum. Table 1 outlined the major writing assignments for Stretch English. All sections of Stretch English share this core curriculum. The fall writing assignments include: A benchmark essay and 2 critical reading and reflection essays, written in class; a personal essay; an essay for a public forum; a self-reflection essay (written in class). The spring writing assignments include: An interview project, a profile essay, a critical/reflection essay (written in class), an ethnographic project, a critical essay, and a self-reflection essay.

Midyear and Year-End Self-Reflection and Portfolio Review
At the end of the fall and spring terms you will submit a portfolio for Stretch instructors to review. These portfolios will ask you to enter into an assessment of your writing with two members of the Stretch faculty: me and one of my colleagues.

Our Daily Learning Activities.
The schedule of reading and writing assignments at the end of this syllabus breaks this work down into daily activities you will engage both in and out of class. Most of this work will be completed in Canvas.

The Time You Will Spend on This Work

Like all faculty at SJSU, I have designed this course to help you achieve the learning goals that define its role in your progress to earn a degree. In a 3-unit course like this one, faculty expect that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week). This time includes preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf.

While all students will complete these same assignments, the course design does not and cannot account for individual needs of each student. There may be added work you need to do. You may need extra hours for tutoring; you may take longer to read texts so that you can look up words you find unfamiliar; you may need more time for editing.

Your goal in this class is to learn what you need as a writer in order to develop your skills as a writer—and to get what you need. That will take commitment, of your time and your attention, to the work of this class; commitment to seek out the support and resources you need, both in class and out of class. Be sure to factor into your study plan for this semester, the time and attention you need to develop your writing skills.

How Your Work Will Be Assessed and Graded in This Course

Feedback on your work is intended to help you apply lessons from class as you complete assignments, and to transfer lessons learned from one assignment to the next. Grades are intended as a tool for assessment and reporting of outcomes during a course of instruction.

Note that “All students have the right, within a reasonable time, to know their academic scores, to review their grade-dependent work, and to be provided with explanations for the determination of their course grades.” See University Policy F13-1 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F13-1.pdf for more details.

Feedback for Individual Assignments

We will both assess as well how effectively your finished writing is achieving the goals outlined for the course; this part of the grading will detail how effectively you are performing the skills that you are learning and practicing in the class. Your grade on an assignment will measure your progress and achievement so that you can manage your learning through the full thirty weeks of instruction.

Scoring Guide: For each assignment, you will be given a scoring guide that details how the assignment will be evaluated and scored. Typically, the assignment will be evaluated both as a process completed and as a product of that process. As your writing coach, I will mark essays and make notes for revision on the scoring guide.

Cover Sheet: Because we have “stretched” the English 1A curriculum to a year, each assignment is the result of weeks of work you will have completed both in class and out of class: when you submit your work for my evaluation, you will account for the learning you have achieved through this process. These cover sheets will help you to practice self-reflection as a writer, and so will prepare you to write the midyear and final self-reflection essays.
How Assignments Are Weighted Assignments to Determine Grades

Fall 2015: Grades in the fall are based on measured progress toward proficiency in the learning objectives outlined above. To earn credit in the course, you will need to have completed all the assigned work, and you will need to demonstrate measurable progress in at least 3 out of 4 (75%) of the CLO categories to earn credit (CR) in English 1AF.

How I Calculate Course Grades

In Stretch English, your course grade is based on a full year’s work. All the work you engage to produce the learning you do through both semesters is weighted to determine the final grade. Weighted grades are not averaged.

When weighting letter grades, an A+ is valued at 12, an A at 11, an A- at 10, etc. So an A+ on the Profile Essay assignment, for instance, will be calculated as 12 x .6 of the course grade in English 1AS.

How to Get the Most Out of Our Collaboration

I have developed these policies over the last three decades of teaching composition. They are intended to ensure the smooth operation of the class and to encourage a professional working environment congenial to all.

- Office hours are yours: you paid for them; use them. University professors expect students to seek out what they need as they take charge of their own learning outcomes. We make ourselves available during office hours to provide students access to our time as a key resource in their studies.
- Deadlines must be honored I do not accept late work.
• Email is useful to schedule appointments or to advise me of an absence. I will use email to update you on schedule changes or to advise you of my absence. I cannot accept papers via email. Nor is email a suitable vehicle for student-teacher conferencing.

• Format your papers as single-spaced pages. This practice will conserve paper when printing. (Don’t try this in your other classes without clearing it with your professor first; it is not standard form in MLA.)

• Your work is public in this class, part of our collective inquiry into writing, reading, and democracy. We will share work in Canvas regularly. I reserve the right to publish your work to the class as part of our workshop activities.

• Recording class sessions is possible, but you must advise me in writing so that I may seek permission from the class for such a recording. I will need to know what will be recorded, when, how and why, as well as how the recordings will be stored and used. No recordings of the class may be uploaded or shared electronically without written consent from me.

• Make ups for in class work can be made up only with documentation of a compelling reason for missing the planned work in the first place. This includes all discussions, activities, in-class essays, and workshops. I will expect an email advising me of the absence and requesting the makeup.

• Workshops are an essential part of the writer’s working experience. Your participation in workshops is critical to your success in this class, and mandatory. These workshops are conducted in class: You must bring to workshops a completed draft, and you must turn in to me the workshop copies as well as the final, revised draft of the essay. (Only with documented reason and prior approval will I allow you to complete workshops with your group via email.)

Where Can I Find Information about University Policies?

The Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs (GUP) maintains university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. You may find all syllabus-related University Policies and resources information listed on GUP’s Syllabus Information web page.

Where Can I Find Information about Earning A2 Credit and Clearing Remediation?

The Stretch program syllabus is located in our Canvas files and on the Department website: http://www.sjsu.edu/english/ENGLgreensheets/2016ENGLfall/Stretch%20Program%20Syllabus.pdf. In that syllabus you will find information about how, in Stretch I and II, you can earn A2 credit and, if you need to, clear your remediation in English.
The schedule below is intended to provide us all an overview of the work in this class. I based this projected schedule on what worked last year, but that may be different this year, with a new class. We will see as we go. While I expect the general framework of assignment due dates to stay the same, the details of the daily schedule will be adjusted in Canvas as we work together this year to develop your writing. I will publish an updated schedule with each new writing assignment sheet. All updates will also be on our Canvas homepage, which I will revise on a daily basis as needed.

Your January Reading and Interview Assignments

Over January you will be reading Naomi Wolf’s book Give Me Liberty. On a weekly basis you will post comments to the Canvas Discussion Board in response to this reading. During the spring, we will engage a focused apprenticeship in reading in the disciplines. These assignments are highlighted in the syllabus below using the salmon background color within the table cell. The assessments in this reading component are not weighted in your final grade. They count as participation points only. The assessment is conducted as feedback for you and for me, as we see how far we can move you along on reading map this term!
