Course Format

Online Course

This course adopts an online delivery format. Video lectures will be posted weekly on Canvas. To keep pace with the course, students are required to view the lectures online in a timely manner in order to gain mastery of the material. While viewing the recorded lectures, students are strongly recommended to listen carefully, pay attention, and take notes just as you would in class. To best view and access the online content, students must have consistent, reliable, high-speed internet access, using a PC or MAC or other compatible device. Please note that it is the student’s responsibility to check for compatibility. Technical issues will not be considered a valid excuse for failure to view lectures or submit assignments on time. That being said, students who diligently seek help from technical support and communicate clearly with me will be allowed a certain amount of grace. See University Policy F13-2 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F13-2.pdf for more details.

Course Description

English 112A is an upper division course designed to introduce the literature of childhood experience to adult readers. Although children are the central characters and the targeted readers, writers of this genre still structure their works using the same complex literary devices and themes found in adult literature. We will therefore apply standard literary techniques in analyzing the readings for this class.
Course Theme

Crossing Borders: Contemporary Children’s Literature from the Periphery

“Touch the sea and at once you are joined to its farthest shore.” – Salmon Rushdie

During this course students acquire an understanding of how children’s literature functions in an international context and how cultural diversity may be reflected in children’s books. This course will focus on a range of contemporary transnational literatures, either originating from or set in various locales around the world. In the study of these texts, students will gain insight into diverse human experiences, helping to broaden their perspectives by offering windows into other cultures. Thematically, we will focus on borders and how by crossing borders or though the journey itself protagonists strengthen or redefine individual, cultural, and national identities. Furthermore, students will be introduced to concepts and contexts that define borders as physical spaces (such as mountains, seas, outer space), ideological spaces (such as national borders), conceptual spaces (such as the past, the future), and imaginary spaces (such as myth, fantasy). With these concepts in mind, texts will be evaluated as literature with the goal of building greater cross-cultural understanding.

The course is designed to meet the subject matter requirement for those considering a teaching credential. The information and curriculum approaches we will explore should be helpful for elementary, middle, and/or secondary levels of instruction. Nevertheless, this is a literature, not an educational methodology course.

English Department Program Learning Objectives (PLO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of children’s literature
2. Show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to children’s literature
3. Write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, context, and the nature of the subject
4. Develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively
5. Articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

Croza, Laurel. I Know Here. Illustrated by Matt James. (Canada; 2010)
Müller, Birte. Herr Meier und Herr Müller. Illustrated by Birte Müller. (Germany; 2001)

Other technology requirements

You will be required to create a Zoom account to participate in one-on-one conferences and group discussions. Creation of a Zoom account is free of charge.

Course Requirements and Assignments

NOTE: Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities.

Reading Logs (10 points total; one point each; 200-250 words per post)

As this is an online class, your class participation will be measured by the quality and timeliness of your posts on the Discussion Board in Canvas. Regular posts in response to the weekly lectures and reading assignments are expected. Discussion Board posts need to be thoughtful and engaging, but they needn’t be perfect. Students should consider the Discussion Board as a low-stakes environment to ask questions and explore ideas about what they know or what they think they know about the texts under discussion. Weekly prompts will be provided by the instructor. A total of 10 posts are required (but you may respond to as many as you wish). (PLO 1-3)
Class Participation & Meetings with Instructor (10 points total)

Another measure of class participation will be via responses to other students on the Discussion Board in Canvas and Zoom meetings with the instructor. Weekly announcements will be sent to direct students to respond to the previous week’s posts utilizing a variety of digital media, including Twitter, Instagram, Gifs, Memes, and other standard written formats. Points will be distributed at the end of the semester based on best responses. Students will also meet with the instructor to discuss a collaborative project. (PLO 1-3)

Book Talks (10 points total)

Students are required to research one international picture book or children’s book not assigned in class and present a 10-minute Book Talk to their peers. In their Book Talks, students will provide brief biographical information about the author and/or artist, some cultural background about the country/culture in which the book is published, any interesting textual history about the publication of the book, a summary of the book’s contents and plot, an evaluation of the text, and a recommendation about pairing that text with others we have read for use in teaching or study. Every student will present one Book Talk in a recorded video format on Canvas. Individual Book Talks will be due the week after the lecture on the country of origin. A sample Book Talk and a rubric will be distributed on Canvas upon assignment. Book Talk books do not need to be purchased, but may be ordered from the library. Book Talk books must be approved by the instructor. (PLO 1, 2, 5)

Academic Essay (10 points total; 3-4 pages, or 750-1000 words required)

Students will demonstrate their ability to form a sustained argument and critically evaluate literature. Using texts of their choice from the assigned readings, students will explain implications of diversity and representation in our society by responding to a prompt based on the theme of this course. Successful essays will have a clear thesis, present ideas in an organized, logical, and coherent form, and use Standard English grammar, punctuation, spelling, and usage. Formal assignment sheets and grading rubrics will be distributed at the time the essays are assigned.

Lesson Plan or Creative Project: A Collaboration (10 points total)

Students will complete a Lesson Plan or a Creative Project as part of a collaboration with another student. Students will be assigned a partner to collaborate with on an agreed upon activity. Students will meet together with the instructor in Canvas to discuss their project ideas and settle on a plan. Students will confirm their project plan after meeting with the instructor. Meetings will be coordinated at the beginning of the semester. The Lesson Plan or Creative Arts assignment will be due at an agreed upon date decided at the time of the conference. Students will be excused from completing the weekly Reading Log on the Discussion Board on the week they turn in their Creative Arts Project.

These assignments will be expected to adhere to the same caliber of college writing as listed above, as well as demonstrate the student’s knowledge of the literary and creative contributions of these texts to world cultures as emphasized in the theme of this course. Written assignments will be submitted in Word .doc, .docx, or Adobe .pdf format in Canvas. As with the quizzes, late papers will not be accepted after the submission window has closed unless provided with a university accepted excuse (illness, etc.). Assignments will typically be scored within two to three weeks of the due date. (PLO 3-5)

Midterm Examination (25 points)

The Midterm Exam will be taken online in Canvas and will be available during a seven day window during Week 8. Once the window is closed, no one may take the exam except with a university approved excuse (illness, etc.) The Midterm will consist of 25 questions at one point each. The Midterm will contain a selection of matching, multiple choice, short answer questions. I will provide a study guide for the Midterm and expectations for the Midterm will be discussed in a recorded lecture. (PLO 2 & 3)

Final Examination (25 points)

The Final Exam will be taken online in Canvas and will be available during a seven day window during Finals Week. Once the window is closed, no one may take the exam except with a university approved excuse (illness, etc.) The Final will consist of 25 questions at one point each. The Final will contain a selection of matching, multiple choice, short answer questions. I will provide a study guide for the Final and expectations for the Final will be discussed in a recorded lecture. (PLO 2 & 3)

Extra Credit

To be fair, no extra credit will be offered to individuals only, but to the class as a whole. Some extra credit will be available in the form of additional Discussion Board posts or as additional questions on quizzes. Extra credit will only be offered while the semester is in progress. No extra credit will be available after the final week of classes. Requests for extra credit on an individual basis (i.e. to boost one’s course grade once the semester has ended) will be denied. (PLO 2, 3 & 5).

Grading Information

Student progress will be assessed by means of reading logs, quizzes, presentations, essays, and exams. Students will receive assignment sheets and rubrics—posted to Canvas and discussed in lectures—that will outline the specific expectations of the assignments. Students will receive written and verbal feedback on assignments along with a letter grade based on the point scale outlined below. As this is an online class, students are encouraged to stay in regular contact with the instructor with regard to any questions about assignments or class expectations.

Determination of Grades

Grades are determined on a 100-point scale, as follows:
10 points = Reading Logs (10 posts minimum; 1 point each)
10 points = Class Participation = Responses to Fellow Students, Meeting with Instructor
10 points = Book Talks
10 points = Academic Essay
10 points = Lesson Plan/Creative Project: Collaboration
25 points = Midterm (matching, multiple choice, short answer)
25 points = Final (matching, multiple choice, short answer)
100 points total

Grading Scale:

A  90-100
B  80-89
C  70-79
D  60-69
F  0-59

This course must be passed with a C- or better as a CSU graduation requirement.
Classroom Protocol

Instructor Office Hours and Email Contact

For this online class, I will keep weekly online office hours where I will be available in Canvas Chat to answer your questions. Please note that the Canvas Chat feature is public, allowing many students to join at once. While this is a convenient way to answer questions common to many of you, it is not the place to have a private conversation. Should you have need for a private conversation, say to discuss your grade, please email me and make an appointment where we can discuss other arrangements (for example, Zoom).

Email and Electronic Communication Etiquette

For this online course, we will do all of our writing in digital spaces—some formal, some informal. An important part of learning to be a successful student and writer is knowing what is appropriate in a given situation. An email to me, to any other faculty or staff member on campus, or to anyone in any position of authority must be respectful and professional in tone, should come from your official SJSU email account or Canvas message board, and should follow this format:

Subject: Request to schedule an appointment

*A subject line is always required and should clearly and briefly represent your purpose for emailing. Emails with no subject line may not be read.

Dear Professor Nathanael,

*Always use a formal address, such as Professor, Dr., Ms., Mr. Never use the person’s first name unless you have been given explicit permission to do so.

I am a student in your ENGL 112A class, and I would like to schedule an appointment with you to discuss my essay draft. I am having trouble with my thesis statement and hope to get your help in clarifying it. Are you available to meet this Wednesday afternoon?

*State your question, concern, or request briefly and clearly, using standardized English. Maintain a polite, respectful tone and avoid using exclamation points, emoticons, texting abbreviations, or coarse language. Avoid asking questions that are answered on the syllabus or assignment sheet, such as “When is our paper due?” or “What is our homework for tomorrow?” Emails that are not professional in style or tone, or that ask questions that are clearly answered on the syllabus or assignment sheets, may be ignored.

Thank you,

*Use a formal closing, such as “Sincerely,” “Respectfully,” “Thank you,” or “Best regards.”

Martha Jones

*Always sign your full name at the end of your email.
University Policies

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drops, academic renewal, etc. Information on add/drops are available here. Information about late drop is available here. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for adding and dropping classes.

Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material. Where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well. Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.

Academic Integrity

Students should know that the University’s Academic Integrity Policy is available on the university website. Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the DRC (Disability Resource Center) to establish a record of their disability.
