Course Description

This course is a creative writing workshop course in nonfiction. In this class, you will learn how to build nonfiction articles and stories from initial proposals to final polished drafts (and public readings). The key to your success in this workshop, and as a writer in general, is serious and constant work. So plan to be part of a “community of writers” this semester, constantly reading, writing, revising, and giving extensive feedback to other writers throughout the semester.

Department Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)

As stipulated by the English and Comparative Literature Department’s Curriculum Committee, students who earn a B.A. from this department will demonstrate the ability to:

- read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric

- show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World Literature write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

Pedagogical Approach
This course operates in a seminar/workshop format, with much more class conversation than instructor lecturing. You are expected to come to class prepared to participate every single day.

Classroom Protocol

Course Requirements and Assignments
Because this is a 4-unit course, students can expect to spend a minimum of twelve hours per week preparing for and attending classes and completing course assignments. This course will have integrated into the syllabus the following 1-unit enhancement: extensive self-directed reading outside of class and consideration of that reading through a series of short blog posts.

*Two manuscript submissions (this includes proposal and draft)
*Interview project
*Reflection paper on required reading
Workshop participation

You will submit about 9,000-10,000 words of polished, revised prose this semester. All four of your writing assignments should be at least 2,000 words long, with some of them being longer so you can reach your 9,000-word minimum requirement. Two of the four assignments must include some sort of research, and only one may be written solely from personal experience. All of the projects may be written in first, second, or third person, or a combination of points of view. You must do the assignments in at least two different genres (i.e. profile, biography, opinion editorial, critical essay, narrative essay, etc.). And, you are welcome to do projects on your own or with one or two partners (you’ll still write the same number of words).

You will also write three short (200-250 word) posts for our Writers Reading for Craft assignment.

All printed assignments and projects (except those completed in class) must be typed, double-spaced, use a normal font (12pt. Times New Roman), and be submitted in the proper format (i.e. a query letter, a manuscript).

All assignments are due on their announced due dates. Late work will be penalized one full letter grade for each class day that the project is late.

Grading Policy and Breakdown

*Two manuscript submissions (this includes query/proposal and final draft)
*Interview project

A+/A/A-/B+/B/B-/C+/C/C-/D+/D/D-/F.

The department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale defined in the SJSU Catalog (“The Grading System”). Grades issued must represent a full range of student performance: A = excellent; B = above average; C= average; D= below average; F = failure.

All projects and assignments are due at the start of class on the announced due dates. In a participatory class like this one, participation is crucial and will be graded accordingly. In its simplest form, good participation is defined as active contribution to class discussion and workshop sessions, including giving and receiving well thought out and considered feedback.

Workshops

Workshops are the heart of this course. You are expected to be prepared for every workshop (which means you’ve read the manuscript, thought about it, and written down extensive ideas about it), and you are expected to be prepared to talk in class every day. 20% of your grade comes from workshop participation and absences will affect your workshop grade.

Students are welcome to disagree with one another during class discussions; however, all our dialogue must be conducted with respect for each individual's opinions and work. In addition, please refrain from using your cell phones during class.
