Course Description
In this seminar we will examine poetry as a literary genre - its patterns and sub-types (including a variety of forms and modes). We will give attention to the theories of poetics applied to practical criticism. Prior permission of graduate advisor may be repeatable once for credit.

Thematic Focus: Williams Carlos Williams’ Poetics and Influence of Bay Area and Pacific Rim Poetics
This semester’s Poetic Craft and Theory seminar will investigate William Carlos Williams’ free verse poetics and the various contemporary poets whose poetic practice has been influenced by Williams’ work. Williams’ poetics and the later Projective Verse theories of Charles Olson have had an enormous influence on San Francisco Bay Area poetry, and on successive generations of American poets. Some critics believe that Williams’ poetics have become a dominant mode of American poetry. On the West Coast, several major poets whose work evolved from the Williams tradition have also been strongly influenced by translations of classical Japanese and Chinese poets (from the Tang Dynasty in particular). San Francisco poet Kenneth Rexroth has written: “… the Pacific Coast of America faces the Far East, culturally as well as geographically…” In our seminar, in addition to Williams, we will closely read the work of poets who are associated with the development of a “Pacific Rim Poetics,” poetics also considered central to the San Francisco Renaissance of the mid-century, including work by: Allen Ginsberg, Joanne Kyger, Kenneth Rexroth, George Oppen, Gary Snyder, Philip Whalen, and Lew Welch. We will also read some works by more Bay Area poets, including Richard Brautigan, Robert Creeley, Robert Hass, Jane Hirshfield, Juan Felipe Herrera, and Adrienne Rich. In addition, we will also read essays on projective verse and poetics by Charles Olson, Robert Creeley, and Adrienne Rich. We will practice close reading of poems, and also write a portfolio of poems in the modes and styles associated with these poets’ signature styles. It is through close reading and emulating texts by these poets that we will learn to recognize individual poets’ poetic styles and their contribution American poetry as it continues to evolve.

Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives

Course Goals:

During the semester students will:

- Understand William Carlos Williams’ poetics and prosody and how it works in the practice of his poetry.
- Understand and recognize Williams’ influence on the evolution of the poetics and prosody practiced by other poets studied in the seminar.
- Prepare a 10 – 15 minute oral presentation closely reading and analyzing several poems by one of the poets on the syllabus. Also, present an imitation or emulation of one or more of these poems in the form of original poems that you will write as well as explicate for the presentation. As part of the presentation, you will prepare a 1-2 page Handout/PPT illustrating your reading of the poems and presenting your poem(s), which will posted on Canvas.
- Reader Response Blog: From weeks 3 – 12, you will participate in a weekly online discussion on Canvas by posting either a 250 – 300 word critical commentary on the week’s readings, including 1-2 discussion questions; or by posting a poem which emulates the poetics of the poet(s) you read preparing for that week’s class, including a 100 word explanation of the poetics adopted for the poem. All students will also write a 50-100 word response one other student’s Response Blog. Typically due Sunday before class each week.

- Write a brief project proposal (250 words) proposing a significant writing project you wish to complete during the semester. You may propose to create either a work of literary criticism or series of 4 to 5 poems that emulate and illustrate the poetics of a poet(s) you are reading for this class. In addition to a brief description, you must provide a bibliography of 3-5 sources and write a plan/schedule for working on and completing your project. You will write your proposal in two stages: a rough draft (due week 4) and a revised final version (due week 6).

- Final Seminar Project: complete a substantive and detailed critical analysis of the poetics of one or two of the poets studied in class, including at least three secondary sources, MLA-style documentation and a works cited list (10 – 15 pages); or complete a set of 4 – 6 poems (depending on length) that emulate the poetics of one or two of the poets we read in the class—include a minimum 1,000 word analysis of how your poems illustrate the poetics you’ve utilized to write the poems. The project much be based on the approved proposal, and may include versions of weekly writings and revisions you made in response to classmates’ and your instructor’s comments.

Because this is a 4-unit course, you should expect to spend a minimum of twelve hours per week preparing for and attending classes and completing course assignments. This course has integrated into the syllabus the following 1-unit enhancement:

1-Unit Credit Enhancement: Teaching a Poetry Lesson to 5th or 6th Grade Students

- Prepare an emulation/imitation lesson teaching one or two of the poems (you’ve discussed in class) to 5th or 6th grade students in a CommUniversity San Jose-SJSU neighborhood school. Use the guidelines for this assignment to teach a poem to 5th or 6th grade student we discuss in class.
- The emulation/imitation should call students’ attention to how the poem uses one or more of the following elements: language (diction); colloquial language or slang; imagery; line length; stanza form; voice; tone; subject and theme. The poetry assignment teaching adult poetry to kids is based on methods developed by the poet Kenneth Koch in his book Rose, Where Did You Get That Red. Click here to read a sample lesson.
- CommUniversity facilitators will match you with a school and arrange for your visit.
- Teach your lesson to a group of 5th or 6th graders at a local SJSU-neighborhood school.
- Plan to visit the school once during the semester, supervised by the classroom teacher or a CommUniversity facilitator. Follow up at school site or after-school venue, or through FaceTime or Skype, or exchange of hardcopy of letters and poems.
- Include a mention of your emulation/imitation lesson in your classroom oral presentation.
- Present your young students’ emulation poems to the seminar for final meeting of the semester.

English Department Student Learning Goals
This course supports several of the English Department’s Student Learning Goals. The Department of English and Comparative Literature seeks to foster the intellectual development of its majors by encouraging study of literature and writing—whether creative, technical, or other professional writing. The Department strives to make its majors familiar with a wide range of works of British, American, and World literature, including folk and popular forms; and with the nature of the canon and of canon-formation, including issues of culture, history, race, ethnicity, gender, and sexual orientation.

Assignments and Grading Policy

Assignments: (More details will be provided in class and on Canvas)

- Oral Presentation: You will sign up to make a short oral presentation. Your presentation will explore the poetry and poetics of one of the poets we read during the semester. In the presentation, you will describe how the poem(s) you’ve selected to present show evidence of being influenced by William Carlos Williams’ poetics. As part of the presentation, you will prepare a 1-2 page Handout/PPT explicating the poem(s) you’re presenting. And you will indicate how you will use your knowledge of this poet’s poetics to teach a poetry lesson to young students. Post your handouts and PPT slides on Canvas. (SLO 3, 4)
• Reader Response Blog: From weeks 3-12, you will participate in a weekly online discussion on Canvas by posting either: (i) a 250-300 word critical commentary on the week’s readings, including 1-2 discussion questions; or (ii) a poem that emulates that emulates one of the poems read during the week along with a brief analysis of the poetics involved. Also all students post a 50-100 word response to one other student’s posting. Typically due Sunday before class each week. (SLO 3, 4, 5)

• Seminar Project Proposal: Write a (2 – 3 pages) proposal for a significant writing project you wish to pursue in the class. This could be either a work of literary criticism or a set of poems. In addition to a brief description, you must provide a bibliography of 3 – 5 sources and a plan/schedule for pursuing and completing the project. You will write your proposal in two stages: a rough draft (due week 4) and a revised final version (due week 6) (SLO 3, 4).

• Writing Workshops: We will have four formally scheduled workshops to provide feedback on your writing project. In addition to submitting a draft of your own work for critique, you will be expected to critique the work of others. Detailed guidelines/protocols will be provided in class/Canvas. (SLO 3, 4)

• Final Seminar Project: Complete a final seminar project; either a substantive and detailed analysis of poet’s poetics and influences, based on the approved proposal; or a set of five poems, with a 250 analysis of the poetics that influenced your poems. You may be repurpose weekly writings, workshops notes, and revisions (10 – 15 pages) (SLO 3, 4, 5).

• Teaching poetry writing; lesson plan and final report: Lesson plan summary and assessment; include texts of your students’ poems in the report. Submit on Canvas.

Grading: (point scale)

Note: In English Department courses, instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs. Grades issued will represent a full range of student performance and will adhere to the SJSU academic standards of assessment.

Classroom Protocol

Attendance & Participation: Regular attendance and active participation in class discussions are extremely important. Please arrive on time and stay for the entire class. Bring your laptop or tablet to class. You are responsible for all materials assigned, presented and discussed. You are encouraged to take notes in class, but you should have studied the materials before class begins. Since most classes will be based on discussions, presentations and workshops it is crucial to keep up with the readings and take an active as well as thoughtful role in all classroom activities. Your questions, comments, insights, and interpretations are valuable no matter how outlandish they may seem!

Conferencing: I encourage you to visit me during my office hours to discuss your poems or your readings of or writings about the poets during the semester. Or to give me ongoing feedback about the course.

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drops, academic renewal, etc. Information on add/drops are available at http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/soc-fall/rec-324.html. Information about late drop is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/sac/advising/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for adding and dropping classes.

University Policies

Academic integrity

Students should know that the University’s Academic Integrity Policy is available at http://www.sa.sjsu.edu/download/judicial_affairs/Academic_Integrity_Policy_S07-2.pdf. Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The website for Student Conduct and Ethical Development is available at http://www.sa.sjsu.edu/judicial_affairs/index.html.

Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the DRC (Disability Resource Center) to establish a record of their disability.

Student Technology Resources

Computer labs for student use are available in the Academic Success Center located on the 1st floor of Clark Hall and on the 2nd floor of the Student Union. Additional computer labs may be available in your department/college. Computers are also available in the Martin Luther King Library. A wide variety of audio-visual equipment is available for student checkout from Media Services located in IRC 112. These items include digital and VHS camcorders, VHS and Beta video players, 16 mm, slide, overhead, DVD, CD, and audiotape players, sound systems, wireless microphones, projection screens and monitors.
