COURSE DESCRIPTION
ENGL 2 is an introductory writing course that focuses on the relationship between language and logic when composing arguments. REQUIRED TEXTS/READINGS
Course readings are available on Canvas, online, or through the MLK Library databases
Digital access to the Chronicle of Higher Education and the New York Times (both available free through the MLK database)

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS / EQUIPMENT / MATERIAL
You will need access to a laptop or tablet to access course materials on Canvas (e.g., syllabus, handouts, notes, assignment instructions, etc.). You are responsible for regularly checking with the messaging system through MySJSU at http://my.sjsu.edu to learn of any updates. You will also need access to a laptop or tablet to participate in the classroom activities and submit assignments. You will not be able to use a smartphone.
Laptop rentals are available on campus. With advanced notice, I can bring a limited number of Apple iPads to use in class.
COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

University Policy S16-9 (www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S16-9.pft) requires me to include the following statement:

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.”

The course writing assignments (see below) will give you repeated practice in all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. You will receive frequent evaluations of your writing from me and your class peers. Evaluative comments will be substantive, addressing both the logic of the argument and the quality and form of the writing. Comments will encourage and acknowledge success as well as note problems and suggest ways to improve.

1. Discussion boards: You will post weekly writing assignments on Canvas designed to stimulate your thinking about “issues, questions, and problems raised in class discussions and course readings.” For the most part you will be rewarded “for the process of thinking rather than for the end product produced.” Most of the discussion board activities are collaborative and take place in class. So, you must be present in class to receive credit.

2. Short Writing Tasks: You will write a number of informal assignments designed to provide practice in the different rhetorical concepts discussed in class and in the course readings. These tasks will require you both to analyze and to create arguments using the strategies and frameworks developed by the different theorists.

4. Blog: You will keep a weekly blog that documents your learning process.

3. Critical Thinking Map: You will construct a detailed outline that maps out an argument.

4. Formal Writing Assignments: You will write three formal essays. Each essay will go through at least one revision before submitting it for assessment. Refer to the daily schedule for each assignment due date.

5. Multimodal Project: You will design multimodal projects related to the invention, arrangement, and style of arguments. Projects must contain visual, written, and audio design elements.

6. Discussion Facilitator: You and a fellow classmate will lead a class discussion on an issue discussed in The Chronicle of Higher Education.

7. Course Portfolio: You will submit 3 portfolios consisting of course assignments that document your progress over the course of the semester. Your final portfolio will be used as part of ENGL 2 department-wide assessment.

GRADING PHILOSOPHY
Please refer to the grading contract posted on our course Canvas page.

CLASSROOM POLICIES

Attendance: University policy F69-24: “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to ensure maximum benefit for all members of the class.” If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to check Canvas or contact a classmate to find out the assignment.

Cell Phones: It is disrespectful to text in class. To resist temptation, please keep your phone out of sight. Class notes will be posted, so please do not take photographs.

Leaving the Classroom: Once class has started, please do not leave without permission. It is disruptive to class discussions when students are walking in and out of the room. During group work, you will have the opportunity to leave class briefly to use the bathroom facilities.

Lateness:
1. Drafts are strongly encouraged, but not required. If you wish to receive feedback on your drafts, you must submit them on time. I do not comment on late drafts (refer to the grading contract above).
2. I do not accept late short writing tasks and other informal writing assignments completed in or outside of class time (refer to the grading contract above). To account for illnesses and other emergencies, I will dismiss three in-class writing assignments. So, a few missed classes will not affect your grade.
3. Computer excuses / printing problems are not acceptable in this class.

Essay Feedback: On your major assignments, you will receive feedback from me but not a grade. Because my primary focus is on the writing and learning process (and not the written product itself), I will use the scores “exceeds expectations” for writing that is higher than a B, “meets expectations” for writing equivalent to a B, and “falls below expectations” for writing quality below a B.

Extra Credit: There are no opportunities for extra credit in the course.

Other Course Policies: To review all other course policies, please go to www.sjsu.edu/english/frosh/program_policies/index.html.
