Canvas and MYSJSU Messaging

All course materials (syllabus, handouts, notes, assignment instructions, etc.) will be posted on the course website in Canvas, SJSU's learning management system. Students are responsible for checking Canvas regularly to stay apprised of course assignments and due dates, updates to the course syllabus, and messages from the instructor.

Course Description and Objectives

ENGL 70 is the third course in the lower-division literature survey sequence for English majors. The course engages principal literary works, literary history, and historical events that shape British and American literature from 1860 to the present. Students will learn about the philosophical movements, literary themes, and genres of the time period while engaging in close readings of works by selected major authors. 3 units. Normal grading rules. Prereq: ENGL 1A or equivalent.

Course Student Learning Objectives

The Department of English and Comparative Literature has established the following Student Learning Objectives for courses that are part of the English major:

1. read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric;
2. demonstrate familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World literature;
3. write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject;
4. develop and carry out research projects and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively;
5. articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

Required Texts/Readings
Students are required to have physical copies of the required texts in class. All books are available in the campus bookstore.

These texts will be supplemented with short stories and poems published on various open access websites. All supplemental readings will be housed in the Canvas course site.

Other Required Materials
Because this class employs a process-based approach to analyzing literature, students need to
1) keep their work in some kind of a binder and 2) bring PRINTED COPIES OF ALL READING ASSIGNMENTS to the class meeting during which they will be discussed or workshopped.

- 8.5” x 11” writing paper
  - Loose-leaf or a bound journal is fine.
  - writing paper and a pen or pencil to every class meeting.
- Writing implements
  - Blue or black pen for in-class writing assignments
  - Pencils are useful for marking text
- Green books for exams
  - 4 small green books or 2 large green books

Policy on electronic devices in class
Students are encouraged to bring laptops to class to complete in-class writing assignments. Any other use of a laptop, or of any other electronic device, in class is strictly prohibited.

Policy on late work
Except in cases of documented need (e.g. health, legal, family emergency), late work will not be accepted. Exceptions will be made at the discretion of the instructor and only when compelling documentation is provided by the student. Extra credit is not an option in this course.

Help with writing
All students are encouraged to make use of SJSU’s Writing Center, which employs undergraduate students who have been trained to help students improve their writing. Peer tutors in the Writing Center can help with any stage of the writing process, from brainstorming to drafting, revising, and finishing formal paper assignments.

University Policies

Credit Hour Requirement
Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities.

Culminating Activity Requirement
Faculty members are required to have a culminating activity for their courses, which in our case will be an in-class final exam at the time scheduled by the Registrar.

University policies relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, are available on the website of the Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/.

Course Requirements and Assignments

Course assignments include required readings; attendance at and report on one author talk; papers in various stages of drafting and revising, along with ancillary steps for each writing assignment; and active and regular participation in class. Unless otherwise indicated, assignments must be submitted in person at the beginning of the class period on which they are due.

Formal writing assignments
Students will write two out-of-class papers of literary analysis (1500 words each, excluding preliminary assignments). Classroom activities and homework assignments are designed to create strong foundations for each of these assignments. Peer review workshops are an essential aspect of the writing process; as such, all four papers must have been peer reviewed by students in our class. The two formal assignments themselves must be typed in Word according to current Modern Language Association standards for format and parenthetical documentation.

In-class exams
This class will have two in-class exams, a midterm and a final. Both exams will require students to identify passages from literary texts and to discuss the significance of the passages using standard terms of literary analysis used in class. Exams will also require students to develop close readings of passages. Passages selected for exams will be those discussed in class.
Course Grade Distribution

This course is divided into four units, each of which counts for 25% of the final course grade. Each unit grade is determined as follows:

- Class participation 10%
  - includes class discussion, oral presentations, peer review
- Preparatory exercises 20%
  - includes author talk, homework assignments, and in-class writing assignments
- Paper assignments and exams 70%

Class Participation Expectations

Our class constitutes a community of readers and writers who work together to develop their understanding of literature and to produce coherent and compelling papers of literary analysis. At least once a week, students will complete assignments in or out of class that they will hand in at the end of the appropriate class meeting period. Students will also read one another’s writing in class and give constructive, helpful feedback to their peers. In-class assignments cannot be made up.

Students are expected to be in the classroom and ready to contribute at 1:30 p.m. for every class meeting. Regular, timely attendance, along with a clear engagement with the learning opportunities in class, contributes to a positive environment for everyone’s learning.

Your class participation will be assessed as follows:

A: Regular, helpful questions and comments that demonstrate full preparation for class meetings. Active, positive participation in all classroom discussions and activities. Conformity to all course policies as stated in this syllabus.

B: Occasional, pertinent questions and responses; good listening. Conformity to all course policies as stated in this syllabus.

C: Infrequent, tangential questions or comments; attentive. Conformity to all course policies as stated in this syllabus.

D: Inconsistent conformity to policies stated in this syllabus; disengaged from discussion; not prepared for class.

F: Regularly absent, physically or mentally; failure to contribute meaningfully to the classroom’s learning community; repeated violations of classroom policies.

Students are STRONGLY ENCOURAGED to review the course calendar in light of their other commitments. The instructor will determine on a case-by-case basis whether or not an out-of-class commitment merits special consideration.
Grading Standards for Papers and Exams

English 70 is an A-F course that conforms to the grading scale defined in the University's official Catalog. In addition to the standard grades of A, B, C, etc., plus (+) and minus (-) grades will be used in evaluating assignments. Work that is assigned a + or – along with a letter grade is somewhat better than or somewhat weaker than the criteria in the standards of achievement described below.

The standards of achievement described below give a general idea of the criteria applied when assessing students' written work. Detailed rubrics for papers and exams will be provided in class.

- The “A” essay will engage in close readings of literary texts. The essay will be well organized and well developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment. It will contain original ideas expressed in sentences distinguished by syntactic complexity and variety. Such essays will follow Modern Language Association formatting guidelines and be essentially free of grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors.

- The “B” essay will demonstrate competence in the same categories as the “A” essay. The chief difference is that the “B” essay will show some slight weakness in one of those categories. It may slight one of the assigned tasks, show less facility of expression, or contain some minor grammatical, mechanical, or usage flaws.

- The “C” essay will complete all tasks set by the assignment, but show weaknesses in fundamentals, usually development, with barely enough specific information to illustrate or support claims. The sentence construction may be less mature, and the use of language less effective and correct than the “B” essay.

- The “D” essay will neglect one of the assigned tasks and be noticeably superficial in its treatment of the assignment. The essay may reveal some problems in development, with insufficient specific information to illustrate or support claims. It will contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that are serious and/or frequent enough to interfere substantially with the writer's ability to communicate.

- The “F” essay will demonstrate a striking underdevelopment of ideas and insufficient or unfocused organization. It will contain serious grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors that render some sentences incomprehensible.
