Minimum Qualifications:
Master of Fine Arts degree or Master in Art or Ph.D. in Art History, Visual Culture, Curatorial Studies, or related field with considerable experience teaching studio art or studio artists. Candidates must have a clear demonstration of artistic and/or scholarly achievement, as evidenced by a record of significant exhibitions, publications, or curatorial projects. Teaching experience at the university level is required. The ideal candidate will have a significant portfolio of creative work with research interests in emerging areas of artistic practice and theory. Candidate must read and write at a high level and successfully direct and assess student writing. The ability to break down texts and make them accessible to an undergraduate student audience, is required. The ideal candidate will encourage critical thinking and iterative concept development within class assignments. Interest in interdisciplinary collaboration with peers working in all programs within the Department of Art and Art History, is an asset. The Department of Art and Art History is a dynamic department that encourages cross-disciplinary practice. We seek artists and researchers with a desire to have a voice in curriculum development.

Candidates should have an awareness of and sensitivity to the educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:
Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies and advisement. Candidate will teach one or more of two new undergraduate seminars in Art: “The Artist in Contemporary Culture,” and “Medium and Message.” The courses will have a hybrid format; although they are seminars, they will have a substantial studio component and will be required for all Art students.

Salary Range: Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Eligibility: Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedures:
SJSU is accepting applications on an ongoing basis for our pool of temporary lecturers. To apply, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests/philosophy, and contact information for three references. Please send 20 examples of Candidate’s original work (or URL of portfolio site), and/or examples of published writing to:

San José State University
One Washington Square
San Jose, CA 95192-0025

San José State University is California’s oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San José (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California’s most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San José State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.
San José State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. This policy applies to all San José State University students, faculty, and staff as well as University programs and activities. Reasonable accommodations are made for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose. Note that all San José State University employees are considered mandated reporters under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and are required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The latest San José State University Safety 101 Uniform Campus Crime and Security Report is available.
