Learning Outcomes and Course Goals

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

GEOG112 is an Area V course: Culture, Civilization, and Global Understanding meant to provide students with an appreciation for cultures outside the United States. With this should come increased awareness of how foreign traditions have influenced American culture and its' global interactions. As a geographic survey of pressing contemporary issues – in politics, economy, security, and human-environmental impact - course readings, documentary films, in-class exercises, and discussions will be used to gain greater understanding of complex problems. Students will hone critical, relational, and contextual thinking and be expected to communicate independent views effectively, particularly in written format.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- GELO 1 Compare systematically the ideas, values, images, cultural artifacts, economic structures, technological developments, and/or attitudes of people from more than one culture outside the U.S.
Students will demonstrate understanding through weekly written online forum responses and threaded discussions. Students will further critically compare these concepts in a written review article.
- GELO 2 Identify the historic context of ideas and cultural traditions outside the U.S., and how they have influenced American culture.
In addition to the weekly written online forum responses and threaded discussions, students will specifically address this in two written essays pertaining to four documentary films shown this term. Students will synthesize the breadth of their understanding in a final exam essay.
- GELO 3 Explain how a culture outside the U.S. has changed in response to internal and external pressures.
Students, in a small group format, will facilitate online discussions covering cultural changes and pressures beyond U.S. borders.

Required Texts/Readings

Textbook

Excerpts from Global Issues: Selections from CQ Researcher (2014 ed.) are available for free online through MLK Library so each chapter covered this term has been provided to you under the 'Files' tab in Canvas.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on.

- Active online participation is imperative to your overall grade in this course (50% of your total grade), and so frequent online engagement on Canvas is expected throughout each week. In addition to posting individual assigned content in the forum you must read through fellow classmate posts and reply to their discussion threads (GELO 1).

- Student groups will be tasked to lead a textbook chapter discussion (GELO 3). This will include guiding understanding by preparing supporting slides to annotate the week’s assigned reading along with any additional supplementary materials to support said content. Then once the online discussion goes live group members are responsible for not just adding their individual responses, but also to moderate all student posts by prompt reply of follow-up commentary and facilitate further questioning and critical thought. At the end of the discussion week the lead group will submit a summarized response recap. All students within each group will earn the same grade.
- Links to four documentary films will be posted during this course. Two times during the term you are to demonstrate in writing how you have thought critically about narratives or images seen in a film from a global geography/social sciences context (GELO 2). Each essay must have 3 typed pages (double-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1” margins on all sides) summarizing new facts gained along with a thought-provoking critique of the film. Essays must include a total word count noted at the end [750 words minimum]. You may write a third film essay for up to 25 points extra credit.
- A Review Article is a concise paper usually written by an editor that summarizes, compares, and contrasts all recent findings on a specific topic or theme. Create a 500-word review article, + or – 25 words, tying together any two textbook chapters (GELO 1). Your article must be one typed page (single-spaced, 12-point times new roman font with no more than 1” margins on all sides).
- The final exam is a single essay prompt. You must clearly support and defend in a written essay what you have gained from this course and how this might apply it to your postgraduate goals (GELO 2). Cite specific examples in your essay to support your argument.
