GE/SJSU Studies Category: American Institutions U.S. History (F1) and SJSU Studies Area S

Courses to meet Areas R, S, and V of SJSU Studies must be taken from three different departments.

Canvas and MYSJSU Messaging
This course meets entirely online; all sessions will be asynchronous. Course materials such as syllabus, handouts, notes, assignment instructions, etc. can be found on the Canvas learning management system course website. You are responsible for regularly checking with the messaging system through Canvas to learn of any updates. In addition, we will be using the Globalyceum online textbook site through a Canvas link for document analysis activities and readings.

Course Description
Catalog description: An investigation in depth of selected periods or problems.

This topic focuses on historical relationships between social groups and the political, social, economic, and cultural institutions they created. Students will examine American politics as a struggle between various groups associated with and often organized around racial/ethnic, gender, class, regional, religious, ability, sexuality, and culturally-based identities. Interactions, including examples of both cooperation and conflict, will be highlighted in order to better understand the historical development of American political, social, economic, and cultural institutions. As a result of learning by comparison and combining the learning objectives of American Institutions U.S. History (F1) and SJSU Studies Area S, this course will promote cosmopolitan citizenship, by which we mean the understanding required to be a responsible citizen at all levels--local, state, national, and trans-national. Students completing this topic will satisfy both the American Institutions U.S. History (F1) and SJSU Studies Area S requirements.
American Institutions US History (US1) Learning Outcomes

To fulfill the requirements for US History, students should be able to describe the principal events, developments, ideas, politics, and international relations in all the territories now in the United States from the beginnings of this society until the present. While considering these topics, students should be asked to analyze certain subtopics, including:

a. the continent’s earliest inhabitants, colonization, slavery, the American Revolution and the early Republic, territorial expansion, economic development, political reform and reaction, Civil War and Reconstruction, foreign relations, wars and conflicts, religious, labor, and civil rights movements, feminism, environmental and identity politics; and

b. within the study of these subtopics should be a consideration of women and gender relations; the history and experience of racial and ethnic minorities; immigration to the United States and the experiences of immigrants; and patterns of race and class relations.

SJSU Studies Area S Learning Outcomes

After successfully completing the course, students will be able to:

1. describe how identities (i.e. religious, gender, ethnic, racial, class, sexual orientation, disability, and/or age) are shaped by cultural and societal influences within contexts of equality and inequality,
2. describe historical, social, political, and economic processes producing diversity, equality, and structured inequalities in the US,
3. describe social actions that have led to greater equality and social justice in the US (i.e. religious, gender, ethnic, racial, class, sexual orientation, disability, and/or age), and
4. recognize and appreciate constructive interactions between people from different cultural, racial, and ethnic groups within the US.

Library Liaison

History’s Library Liaison is Nyle Monday who can be reached at Nyle.Monday@sjsu.edu or (408) 808-2041. While he is available during working hours for e-mail inquiries, you should schedule appointments with him if you need extensive one-on-one research help using library resources.

Classroom Protocol

This course will consider controversial issues in the political, social, economic, and cultural history of the United States and the effects of inequality and privilege on the development of American society and institutions. Students are expected to read and be prepared for class discussions during which they will conduct themselves in a civil and respectful manner. Students should avoid colloquial language, characterizations, remarks, or outright slurs that pertain to groups in the abstract or to their fellow students in particular.

Academic Honesty

Your commitment, as a student, to learning is evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University. The University Academic Integrity Policy S07-2, at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S07-2.pdf requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The Student Conduct and Ethical Development website is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/. All work submitted in this course must be your own and plagiarism detection tools such as Turnitin and Arc will be used to monitor academic honesty.

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic calendar web page located at http://www.sjsu.edu/academic_programs/calendars/academic_calendar/. The Late Drop Policy is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes.

Information about the latest changes and news is available at the Advising Hub at http://www.sjsu.edu/advising/.

Midterm examination. The midterm will ask students to consider coalitions and conflicts between different ethnic groups in the early United States, and how identities were formed through institution-building. The exam will consist of one document analysis (25%) and one essay question (75%). The exam will be conducted online and open book.

Activities: Analyze the Evidence. Short analyses of historical documents will be completed using the Globalyceum site (link through Canvas). Primary sources will include written documents, pictures, photographs, and data.

Final Examination. The final exam will ask students to consider this period (post-Reconstruction) as a whole and to describe the net effect of government policies on the lives of groups of people – such as African Americans, Chinese immigrants, or women voters. The exam will ask students to consider the possibilities opened up in the United States for different people by the Civil Rights Movement and also the limits (for example, gay rights). The online open-book exam will consist of five short analyses (25%) and one longer essay (75%).

Discussion Forum:
As this is a “virtual” class, participation in course discussions are heavily weighted in your grade to ensure you get the most out of this format. Discussion postings will be graded according to the rubric on the course canvas site. For each discussion, students should make one substantive post based on course reading and resources by Thursday night at 11:59pm and two follow up posts by Sunday night at 11:59pm.

Video Journal:
In many modules you will view an episode of a related documentary on the experience of diverse groups in U.S. History and write a journal response detailing the main issues raised in the film and your analysis and interpretation of the events. You will post this on the Video Journal board by the end of the Module.

Metareflection Paper:
After viewing all the assigned films, you will write a reflective essay on your experience and how your perception of United States history has changed over the course.

Late policy
Late papers will be severely penalized (at least one full letter grade per day). The instructor reserves the right to refuse late papers.

Extra Credit
Students may get extra credit for viewing related movies (list of films on Canvas). For films viewed at home, you should upload a receipt, still, or selfie as proof to the Extra Credit assignment on Canvas.
Grading Information:
The grading scale for this course will be:

\begin{align*}
90-92\% &= \text{A-} \\
80-82\% &= \text{B-} \\
70-72\% &= \text{C-} \\
60-62\% &= \text{D-} \\
93-95\% &= \text{A} \\
83-85\% &= \text{B} \\
73-75\% &= \text{C} \\
63-65\% &= \text{D} \\
\end{align*}

A student with a semester average below 60\% will fail the course.

SJSU mandates that a grade of Incomplete be granted only when a student has satisfactorily completed a substantial portion of the course requirements and is unable to complete the course because of an accident, illness, or some other event beyond the student's control.

University Policies
Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/”
