ONLINE COURSE @ SJSU for SUMMER 2017
RELS 162: Religion & Political Controversy in the U.S.

Need help understanding today’s bewildering religious & political landscape?

Course Description: Contemporary problems (e.g., ecology, abortion, war, gender, sexuality and race) as interpreted by a diverse range of American ethno-religious groups.

This course will examine the history & context of:
- contemporary religious & political controversies about gender, sexuality, race, class, & other intersecting identities
- the separation of church & state, and the relationship between religion & politics
- legacies of inequality & struggles for social justice in American religious & political history
- FULFILLS SJSU STUDIES AREA S: Self, Society & Equality in the United States

Class Meets Fully Online: June 5 - July 7, 2017
- Instructor: Lee Gilmore lee.gilmore@sjsu.edu
- http://www.sjsu.edu/people/lee.gilmore/courses/rels162sp17