AJ 136
VIOLENCE AND HATE IN THE FAMILY & COMMUNITY

Course Description

This course examines abusive relationships and responsive community and justice system policy and preventive interventions. Topics include child abuse, child neglect, gang and hate crimes, sexual violence, marital violence and elderly abuse.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course students will:
1. define and differentiate the abuse of power and the use of violence based upon gender, ethnicity, race, religion, class, sexual orientation, disability and age;
2. identify how historical, social, psychological, economic and political factors have influenced the recognition of and response to each type of abusive relationship;
3. review current knowledge about the consequences of violence and effects on victims from diverse backgrounds;
4. develop self-awareness about their own prejudicial attitudes and behaviors that tolerate and promote abusive relationships;
5. explore and evaluate ways that individuals from diverse backgrounds and communities can prevent and intervene in each type of abusive and violent relationship;
6. critique the current justice system response and propose ways in which greater equality and justice can be achieved in each type of abusive relationship. This involves reviewing
   i) statutory laws,
   ii) role of law enforcement,
   iii) proceedings within criminal, family and juvenile courts and
   iv) auxiliary services offered by child protective, victim’s advocates and family court agencies.
Course Content

The course is divided into five parts that range over the life span:
- infants and children’s neglect and psychological maltreatment, physical and sexual abuse;
- neighborhood gang violence and hate crimes motivated by religious, racial and sexual orientation discrimination and prejudice during adolescence and young adulthood;
- date rape and sexual violence between intimate partners;
- violence, stalking and psychological terrorizing in dating, cohabiting and marital partnerships;
- abuse of the elderly and handicapped in the family and care institutions.

Reoccurring themes are social discrimination on the basis of gender, religious, racial and ethnic background, socioeconomic status, disability, age and sexual orientation. The dynamics of power and control in relationships and the social and historical processes and institutions that legitimate the abuse of power provides the basic framework for the analysis of all violence and abuse. An understanding of how infants and children’s development is compromised by witnessing abuse and being the objects of abuse, provides a complementary developmental understanding (or mechanism) to help explain the intergenerational cycle of abusive relationships.

Prerequisites

Students should have passed the Writing Skills Test (WST), have upper division standing (56 units), and have completed their CORE GE classes.

Advanced GE Course

AJ136 has been approved for Area S. of Advanced General Education.

Required Reading

Recommended Readings

Recommended readings will be excerpts from the following books. These are available on reserve in the instructor’s office.

Course Requirements and Grading

Two take-home written assignments (total 3,000 words) are required during the semester. Each assignment involves viewing a movie or reading a book or observing court proceedings, and writing a six-page summary and analysis based on the relevant information covered in the course. Students are expected to complete at least one of their two written assignments on court proceedings during the semester.

Refer to separate handouts for instructions on these papers.

A mid-term exam and a final exam will be a combination of multiple choice, true/false, fill-ins and short essays. This will be based on assigned readings and lecture material. Exams are not comprehensive.

Grades will be made up of 35% for each exam and 15% for each report. (The academic standards for each grade are provided in a separate handout.)

Extra Credit

Students may be raise their grades by ½ level by attending the Santa Clara Domestic Violence Conference, October 6, 2000 at the Fairmont Hotel, San Jose and writing a 3 page paper on what is learned. Call 408-792-2898 prior to September 22 to apply for a scholarship to attend this conference.
Teaching Philosophy

This class combines lectures and video segments to present the conceptual material. Regular small group discussion and group exercises during class time are used for students to critique the readings, lectures and videos. These small group activities along with individually written assignments also enable students to examine their own attitudes, cultural and family beliefs about abusive relationships. The focus of these student activities is upon developing practical, creative and effective community and justice system ways of preventing and intervening in violence that is respectful of diversity and achieves greater justice and equality.

In accord with departmental policy, make-up exams and acceptance of late reports after the due date will be provided only in extreme cases and only where appropriate documentation is provided. Make-up or re-takes of the mid-term exam can only be done at the time of the final exam.
