COURSE DESCRIPTION

History of legal issues and definitions of individual and institutional discrimination. Laws relating to women, ethnic and cultural minorities, gays and lesbians and the disabled in education, labor market, criminal justice system and family relations. Recent court decisions on affirmative action and reverse discrimination. Solutions explored for structured equality and inequality in the U.S.

N.B.1: This syllabus has been prepared with the invaluable assistance of Ann Lucas and Dorian Dreyfuss, and is based upon their earlier course offerings. It has been adapted for a twelve-week summer schedule.

N.B.2: Students should anticipate that, as this course progresses, there will be announcements of minor variations from this syllabus in the order of readings, dates, or other specifics.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

AT THE TIME OF THE FINAL EXAM STUDENTS SHOULD BE ABLE TO:

1. Define concepts of different cultural/social identities and theories of prejudice and discrimination from a multidisciplinary and multicultural perspective.

2. Describe the legal history and current legal context of minority group and gender discrimination.

3. Identify the structural sources of inequality and equality in major societal institutions; family, education, labor market, criminal justice, and religion, and how these inequalities and equalities are reflected in the law.

4. Analyze case law and constitutional guidelines in reviewing claims of discrimination by women and men, by racial/ethnic and religious minority groups, by the aged, the disabled, and by persons of different sexual orientation.

5. Analyze competing legal rights of men and women in domestic relations including marriage, reproduction, adoption, child custody and divorce.

6. Analyze legal and social developments in issues relating to sexual harassment, hate crimes, and affirmative action/reverse discrimination.

7. Identify social and political movements offering solutions to structured inequality between people of different race, ethnicity, gender, class, religion, age, sexual orientation and ability.
8. Recognize your own and others’ attitudes towards racism, sexism and discrimination of all groups.

9. Recognize and appreciate constructive interactions between people from different cultural and social groups and identities in the U.S.

10. Gain greater competence in research and writing skills.

11. Gain greater verbal articulation skills, and ability to communicate with people of different background and identities.

REQUIRED TEXTS

CLASS REQUIREMENTS

Three exams are required; two midterms and final administered in class during the final examination period. A total of 3500 words of writing is required for credit in the class. Each exam will consist of both essay (approximately 500-600 words) and short answer questions. A research paper 8-10 pages in length (2000-2500) words is also required for a total of 3500 or more words. A handout on the paper will be provided outlining topics, research requirements, format, outlines, due date and grading procedures. We will conduct a library tour outside class time if necessary. The instructor will provide feedback on research paper drafts that are submitted at least two weeks before paper due date.

Additionally, two in class structured written assignments are required. They will be based on videos, and review of major concepts of equality and inequality. Small-group discussions based on the Rothenberg readings will be spaced every couple of weeks. Participation in the group will be evaluated by the instructor and points distributed.

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION

Regular class attendance is expected. Outstanding class participation may result in the improvement of the final grade by as much as 1/2 grade point. Assigned readings must be completed prior to the class meeting to promote understanding and informed class discussion. Students must bring the appropriate text—Rothenberg if small group discussions; Lindgren if case law discussion. Check the greensheet to ensure you are prepared. If you are absent, you must rely on classmates for notes. Do not ask the instructor for notes. Missed exams and in-class assignments may only be made up for compelling reasons, at the discretion of the instructor. The instructor should be given prior notice of absence.
