Course Description

JS130 surveys the relationship between sexuality and social and criminal justice. Students explore the nature and extent of sexual offenses against adults and children. A critical examination of recent public policies aimed at managing sexual aggression is included.

This class aims to explore how socially constructed norms shape the legal regulation of sexuality, and how various elements of sex and sexuality have been criminalized, policed, and governed. The course examines issues of sexual orientation, gender identity, sexual violence, commercial sex, criminalized consensual sexual activity, and reproductive justice, while providing the critical tools required to evaluate legislative and judicial responses to gender, sexuality, and sexual orientation. We will study cases and social movements to assess how legislative, judicial, and social institutions regulate sexual behavior, association, and expression.

Prerequisites

Enrollment requires previous completion of Core GE, satisfaction of the Writing Skills Test, and upper division standing (for students who begin continuous enrollment Fall 2005 or later, 100W is prerequisite or co-requisite to enrollment in all other SJSU Studies courses).
Required Texts/Readings

Textbooks
This course does not have a designated textbook. E-readings will be available on Canvas and via the Online Syllabus on Google Drive (through your @sjsu.edu email account).

Suggested Readings:
For an introduction to sexuality studies, refer to the following texts:

Student Learning Objectives
JS130 surveys the relationship between sexuality and social and criminal justice. Students explore the nature and extent of sexual offenses against adults and children. A critical examination of recent public policies aimed at managing sexual aggression is included.

SLO 1: demonstrate an understanding of various pieces of sex or sexuality related legislation and public policies surrounding sexual offending.

SLO 2: think critically about these issues and produce detailed, scholarly, and objective assignments that demonstrate their ability to conduct independent research and justify their perspective.

SLO 3: demonstrate their knowledge and familiarity with the material discussed during class by contributing meaningfully and respectfully to class discussions.

SLO 4: Students should read, write, and contribute to discussion at a skilled and capable level.

Classroom Protocol
1. This course depends on participation and interaction. Students are expected to be on time to class out of respect for your colleagues and instructor.
2. Readings about sexuality and justice can be challenging intellectually, personally, and emotionally. All students are encouraged to engage in self-care. This means that if particular topics or course materials raise emotional or other personal issues, you can simply choose not to speak or to leave the room without being questioned or penalized. Should you have any questions or concerns, free to contact the professor in person or anonymously (e.g., a note slipped under Dr. Kinney’s office door of 525B MacQuarrie Hall).
3. All classroom participants are expected to foster an environment that encourages participation, rather than silencing others (be respectful to one another, do not insult or intimidate others, and so forth). We will discuss ground rules and develop classroom standards of conduct at the beginning of the semester.

4. Students are expected to complete all readings and assignments by the dates indicated on the syllabus.

5. Students are responsible for any and all notes and materials missed in their absence.

6. Please turn off all cell phones, pagers, PDA’s or any other electronic device. The use of anything that beeps or vibrates during class is disruptive and will not be tolerated. If you are caught using a telephone (even silently, e.g. texting), you will be asked to leave the classroom. Computers may be used for e-readings and class activities, but you will be “on call” to answer questions about the readings if your computer is open.

Grading Policy

Readings

Students are expected to complete readings before the class session indicated on the course schedule. Students should come to class prepared to discuss the assigned readings such that class time is not wasted, and we can engage the material together. Though readings are not a graded assignment per se, the final and midterm exams will certainly focus on students’ ability to recall, understand, and integrate readings in their responses.

Grading Policies

Writing assignments will be graded on a 100-point scale and evaluated on content, clarity, and thoroughness. See Canvas for a detailed rubric and writing resources. This course will be using the +/- system on final grades based on the following percentages:

Assignments

Film Analysis  5% of final grade
Students will watch a film related to sexuality and justice (selections will be announced in class) and write a 3-page review analyzing the film and pertinent legal/justice issues.

Case Brief & Analysis  10% of final grade
Students will write one case brief summarizing a case/court decision. It should be no longer than 2 pages, and must include the case name; full citation; a summary of the relevant facts; the procedural posture of the case (where did the case come from, and which court wrote the decision?); a brief statement of the issue/legal question presented in the case; identify the holding/decision; and summarize the majority reasoning as well as the reasoning of any concurring and/or dissenting opinions (if applicable). A concluding paragraph should identify how the case relates to the principle we are studying (e.g., discretion, equal protection, 1st Amendment rights, cruel and unusual punishment, etc.) and analyze the implications of the case with regard to broad course themes/discussions/debates.

This exercise is intended to develop your legal reading and writing skills, as well as your ability to articulate what you have learned. We will discuss how to read, map, and analyze a case in class. Reading and understanding case law and legal writing is a skill that requires practice and patience. If you have trouble understanding a case or difficulty identifying key points, arguments, and holdings, please visit the professor during office hours.

Participation  10% of final grade
Critical reading, thinking, and writing involve a number of practical skills. These skills must be practiced to be developed and maintained. Students are expected to keep up with class reading, and to attend all class meetings well prepared to contribute to the classroom exchange of ideas and information. Attendance and participation (both in class and online) is essential in order to succeed in JS 130.

Midterm Exam  20% of final grade
Final Exam  25% of final grade
Students’ grasp of the material will be assessed by two examinations. Both tests will comprise multiple choice, short answer, and essay-style questions. More information will be provided in class.

Research Paper  30% of final grade
Students are required to write a original 10-12 page research paper that addresses an issue of your choosing (in consultation with the professor) related to sexuality and justice. Papers will be evaluated based on the quality and organization of their writing, as well as evidence of substantial effort to respond to feedback. This assignment observes that writing is a process; to complete the research paper, students will submit the following: (1) Abstract and Paper Proposal (2) An outline of your paper, along with a reference list of at least three empirical, peer reviewed journal articles that you intend to use in your paper. (3) A peer review will be conducted on a rough draft of your paper (4) The final paper, incorporating responses to the peer review and feedback.
Justice Studies Department Writing Philosophy

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e. reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

Students in JS 130 will have the opportunity to improve their writing and critical literacy skills through completion of in-class and online writing assignments, a research paper, exams, and extra credit (optional).

Library Liaison

For help with library resources and library research (including the use of databases and online research materials—such as journal search engines), students are strongly encouraged to contact the Justice Studies Library Liaison: Silke Higgins, MLIS, Academic Liaison Librarian 4th Floor, King Library / Phone: 408-808-2118 / Email: silke.higgins@sjsu.edu

University Policies

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendars document on the Academic Calendars webpage at http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/. The Late Drop Policy is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes.

Information about the latest changes and news is available at the Advising Hub at http://www.sjsu.edu/advising/.

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

University Policy S12-7, http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course and the following items to be included in the syllabus:
“Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s written/emailed permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.” As our class requires active participation of students and guests who may be on any recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well.

“Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

Academic integrity

Your commitment, as a student, to learning is evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University. The University Academic Integrity Policy S07-2 requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The Student Conduct and Ethical Development website is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) to establish a record of their disability.

Accommodation to Students’ Religious Holidays

San José State University shall provide accommodation on any graded class work or activities for students wishing to observe religious holidays when such observances require students to be absent from class. It is the responsibility of the student to inform the instructor, in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify the instructor, in writing, at least three days before the date that he/she will be absent. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed. See University Policy S14-7.

Fall 2015 Course Schedule and Readings

The Class Schedule below is tentative and subject to change. The dynamics and abilities of the individual class often dictate the amount of time spent on classroom discussions, and Guest Lecturers’ schedules often change. This usually means that it is necessary to adjust some activities or materials as the semester progresses. This makes it particularly important to come to class on time (to receive those announcements), to check Canvas and your email, and to check in with the instructor after any absences.
