E-Mail Guidelines and Text Messages
I request that you please adhere to the following when e-mailing or sending a text:

1. For E-Mail, include the course number and your name, (e.g., JS131, Debbie Smith) in the “subject line”. If you want to be called, please include a contact number and the best time to reach you. I will make every effort to respond to E-Mail messages within 24-hours.

2. Text messages are welcome at any time although responses may be delayed due to my schedule and/or erratic sleep patterns. Please include your name and identify the course in the text.

Course Description
This course is designed to give students a range of communication, crisis intervention and negotiation skills for resolving conflict, intervening in critical situations and gaining cooperation of others through the use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) methods instead of using physical force, coercion and litigation.

Instructor’s Comments on Course Design and Purpose
Education is not something you get – it is something you do. That concept sums up the approach of this course. This is not a “warm body in a seat” class – one you attend half-conscious, take the occasional note and leave after 75 minutes.
This class is built around two-way communication, and provides opportunities to improve interpersonal skills. I place very heavy emphasis on class participation, and each of you is responsible for more than just your individual success or failure. Come to class prepared to share your opinions, ask questions, challenge the norm, and get involved.

Course Goals

Students involved in the JS 131 course will develop:

1. A theoretical framework for understanding people in crisis and/or conflict and the ability to identify and apply appropriate strategies to deal with them.
2. A command of communication styles, interviewing techniques, crisis intervention and problem-solving methods necessary in crisis events, and ways of mediating just and fair solutions in various types of stressful situations.
3. The ability to identify and utilize appropriate strategies and techniques for managing and resolving conflict and adapt these strategies and techniques to a broad range of situations.

Student Learning Objectives

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to meet the following learning objectives:

LO1: Effectively identify and apprise individuals in crisis and/or conflict situations and apply appropriate strategies to the situation.

LO2: Demonstrate a variety of communication styles, interviewing techniques, crisis intervention and problem-solving methods necessary in crisis events, and articulate the procedures for mediating and restoring just and fair solutions in various types of stressful situations.

LO3: Students shall be able to identify and use specific and appropriate conflict management and resolution techniques and apply those techniques to a broad range of situations.

Textbook: There is not a required text book for this course. There are, however, Required Course Readings posted on Canvas.

Course Assignments & Evaluation Criteria

1. In-class Exercises encourage active learning and opportunities to practice practical applications of crisis intervention and mediation strategies while applying appropriate and effective communication skills. You are expected to participate in a meaningful way during these In-class exercises in order to receive the maximum number of points for this assignment grouping. In-class exercises occur weekly. Active participation in these exercises is worth a maximum total of 25 points.

2. Journal entries are in response to writing prompts posted on the course website (Canvas). Many of the prompts relate to topics presented and discussed in class while others draw from general life events and all prompts are intended as opportunities for reflection and introspection. In order to receive full credit, the responses are a minimum of 1 page, double-spaced, 12-pt. font, “normal” font (Times New Roman, Arial, etc.) and 1-inch margins. There will not be grade reports from the instructor for these entries. Grades will be determined from my subjective assessment of your ability to compose entries that demonstrate a critical thinking process. Also factored into the final assessment are the proper number of posts made in a timely manner (due dates are noted on Canvas), and quality of writing. Completed journals contribute 25 points to the student’s overall grade.

3. Agency / Topic Research Assignments produce opportunities to explore services within and outside our community. Students are also responsible for researching and reporting significant issues (symptoms, behaviors, appropriate intervention, etc.) for significant at-risk populations in our society. Directions for completing these assignments are provided in class. Your findings are discussed in class. These assignments are worth a total of 20 points.

4. Movie / Documentary Review provides a conduit through which you can vicariously, through the actors, events that your life has not encountered. You are to select a movie or a documentary that describes, through story, crisis in life of the central character. Watch the movie (or documentary) and complete a 2 page double spaced paper articulating the insights and/or hypotheses you developed from the movie/documentary about the character/subject and crisis. The completed assignment is worth a possible 15 points towards your grade. A list of suggested films and documentaries is available on Canvas.

5. Self Assessment Paper and Discussion provides an opportunity, at the end of the semester, to evaluate your accumulated knowledge and skill development in this course. Completion of this final process is worth a maximum of 15 points.

Letter Grades are based on the overall percentage of the total number of points received on the evaluation criteria (stated above) during the semester. The maximum total is 100 points. Percentages are distributed as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percentage Range</th>
<th>Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>100 – 94%</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>93 - 89%</td>
<td>A-</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>88 – 85%</td>
<td>B+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>84 - 82%</td>
<td>B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>81 - 79%</td>
<td>B-</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
78 – 74% = C+ 73 - 70% = C
69 – 65% = D+ 64 - 60% = D 59% and below = F

Incomplete Grades: Students who cannot fulfill all the work for a course due to a medical or family emergency may be assigned an incomplete only if arrangements are made with the instructor. An incomplete must be made up within one calendar year immediately following the end of the term in which it is assigned.

It is the responsibility of the student to bring pertinent information to the instructor regarding why they cannot fulfill all the work during the current semester and to reach agreement on the means by which the remaining course requirements will be satisfied. If the instructor agrees, the instructor will enter an "I" grade for that course for that semester.

Extra Credit: There are no extra credit assignments for this class. It is expected that students will earn their individual grade in JS 131 by coming to class regularly, completing the assigned reading, participating in class discussions and group work, and completing assignments.

Expectations and Classroom Etiquette

I hope that this course will be challenging both intellectually and personally. This class is designed as a collaborative endeavor. I ask that you:

1. Participate in interactive dialogue between other students and me.
   Note: Participation does not include simply occupying a seat, nodding, shaking one’s head, or simply repeating what someone else has already contributed. Substantive contributions that foster an atmosphere of open discussion conducive to learning constitute participation.

2. Complete the readings prior to class and be well prepared to participate in discussions and experiential learning assignments (level of participation is taken into consideration in final grade assignments).

3. Be responsible for all missed notes, materials and announcements due to absence. Students are encouraged to create an e-mail list in order to update each other on class news and projects. Please do not e-mail me asking about what was covered in a missed class.

4. Acknowledge that people in our culture have different experiences based on race, class, sex, age and sexuality. I ask you to think about these issues and critically analyze your opinions and beliefs.

5. Agree that our classroom should be a place where no one is made to feel embarrassed or ashamed. Disrespectful behavior will not be tolerated. This includes rude interruptions, yelling, insults, or personal attacks. We do not have to agree with one another, but we must be able to discuss our differences in a respectful manner.
6. Be aware that there are most likely students in the class who have experienced (or are close to someone who has experienced) sexual assault, domestic violence, or other forms of victimization. It is important that comments made in class are respectful of these experiences and the impact that these experiences may have had on people’s lives.

7. Refrain from engaging in behavior that is rude to the instructor, other students, or guests of the class. This includes coming in late, sleeping, talking, texting, playing games, listening to music, shopping, web browsing, sending of pictures/video or any other type of non-class activity on your laptop, netbook, cell phone, or any device that in any way connects to the world outside of the classroom during class time. Before class begins, please turn off and disconnect from everything electronic!

8. Regularly check Canvas for newly posted course materials and updated announcements.

9. Understand that his class includes guided discussions, small and large group exercises, and case studies. You are strongly encouraged to ask questions and share your personal opinions and viewpoints. Sharing of personal experiences is optional.

10. Know that I insist on confidentiality concerning any shared personal experience. In other words, what is shared in the classroom stays in the classroom. Examples of cases and events used in class involve real-life situations. You are asked to approach and regard all course subject matter with respect.

Department of Justice Studies Writing Philosophy

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language, with emphasis on writing, throughout its curriculum.

A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural.

Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

Required University Policies Statements

Academic Integrity:
www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/docs/Academic_ Integrity_Policy_S07-2.pdf

Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose
State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The University will not tolerate instances of academic dishonesty. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. Students must complete all assignments unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that the SJSU Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act: If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case of building evacuation, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the AEC (Accessible Education Center) to establish a record of their disability. For more information call their office at 408-924-6000 (v) or 408-924-5990 (TTY).

Accommodation to Students’ Religious Holidays: San José State University shall provide accommodation on any graded class work or activities for students wishing to observe religious holidays when such observances require students to be absent from class. It is the responsibility of the student to inform the instructor, in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify the instructor, in writing, at least three days before the date that he/she will be absent. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed. See University Policy S14-7 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S14-7.pdf.
