Justice Studies Department Reading and Writing Philosophy

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e., reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf.

Weekly Assignments

Students will be assigned weekly reading and writing assignments in class and as reflected below. Weekly Assignments are due during Wednesday class sessions, or as instructed, and will consist of a two-to-three paged double spaced typed analysis in 12-point font. (CLO 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5)

Project

Final Projects will require students to conduct independent research to craft a thesis paper specific to white collar crime in the United States supported by reliable data to compare and contrast specific criminal offenses, factors contributing to causation, and a proposal for methods of prevention and deterrence, to be assigned and explained extensively in class, in the form of a fifteen-page written analysis, due during the last scheduled day of instruction as reflected below. Reliable sources for all assertions should be cited in the American Psychological Association (APA) format. (CLO 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5)

Final Examination

Students will complete a cumulative final examination using key terms and concepts from readings and class discussion consisting of short and essay based questions. (CLO 1, 2, 3 & 4)
Participation

Students will be assigned to work in groups and are expected to participate in an informed, professional and respectful manner. Participation credit will be rewarded in response to student preparedness and politeness in class. (CLO 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5)

NOTE that University policy F69-24 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F69-24.pdf states “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to insure maximum benefit for all members of the class. The term “White-Collar Crime” was first used in 1939 by Edwin Sutherland, an American sociologist and criminologist, to describe professionals’ illegal fraudulent money-related criminal behavior. Our text defines white-collar crime as “Any violations of criminal, civil, or regulatory law, or deviant, harmful, or unethical actions committed during the course of employment in various occupational systems” (pg 428). The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) reports this species of crime is “characterized by deceit, concealment, or violation of trust and not dependent on the application or threat of physical force or violence. The motivation behind these crimes is financial, to obtain or avoid losing money, property, or services or to secure a personal or business advantage.” Prosecutions of white-collar crime are currently at a twenty-year low in the United States. The projected number in 2016 is higher than 6,000; while there were nearly 11,000 in 1995 (Transactional Records Access Clearinghouse at Syracuse University); Greed, Ponzi Schemes & Business Crimes in general; Embezzlement & Fraud; Discussion/In-class exercise: What is White-Collar Crime?
