General Education Goals and Student Learning Objectives
This course falls within the general education curriculum and as such, it has specific General Education Learning Outcomes:
GELO 1: Describe how identities (i.e. religious, gender, ethnic, racial, class, sexual orientation, disability, and/or age) are shaped by cultural and societal influences within the contexts of equality and inequality;

GELO 2: Describe historical, social, political, and economic processes producing diversity, equality, and structured inequalities in the U.S.;

GELO 3: Describe social actions which have led to greater equality and social justice in the U.S. (i.e. religious, gender, ethnic, racial, class, sexual orientation, disability, and/or age);

GELO 4: Recognize and appreciate constructive interactions between people from different cultural, racial, and ethnic groups within the U.S.

Course Learning Outcomes:

CLO1: Explain how of race, gender, and class issues function in the criminal justice system.

CLO2: Explain how to read, write, and contribute to discussion at a skilled and capable level.

CLO3: Recognize the maintenance of systemic inequality in media and political campaigns and be able to decipher coded language.

CLO4: Obtain a working knowledge of the U.S. court system and key decisions that have impacted inequality/equality by the U.S. Supreme Court.

CLO5: Explain how moral panics are produced within the media and how they contribute to U.S. laws and policy.

CLO5: : Describe how media exposure creates irrational fears that result in racial alienation, lack of empathy, and policies and laws which promote state inequality.

Required Texts/Reading
Alexander, Michelle The New Jim Crow

Coates, Ta-Nehishi Between the World and Me

Online readings will also be assigned.

Course Requirements and Assignments

1. Group assignment: Each group will generate questions from a reading and inform the class on what they are looking for in the answers. The students will then lead a class discussion on the answers with the class. Students will also suggest grades on work submitted on the assignment they discuss.

2. Group assignment: Each group will research and create a plan of action and activism based on an issue studied in class. Students will then create a flyer, which they will distribute on campus. Students will then report to the class on their experience.

3. Short weekly assignments will be based on documentaries, class presentations or a current event that’s relevant to the course.

4. Class participation will be graded, and it will be particularly important to interact and ask questions when your fellow students are presenting assignment questions or reviewing answers. Don’t leave your fellow students hanging!

5. A midterm will include multiple choice questions.

6. The final will be a paper on your area of interest in the class.

7. Students are also encouraged to bring up issues about the law and media representations of violence, which can greatly contribute to your participation grade.

San Jose State is gaining in its reputation as an academic institution. Your graduation from this school and major continues to look more impressive on a resume. With that in mind, students should maintain and possibly increase the rigor of this and other classes. Students will set policy on late work on the first day of class.

All assignments and papers will be turned on Canvas. Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practice. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

Grading Information

The course requirements consist of class participation, analyses of the readings, midterm, group assignments, final paper, and presentation. The grades will be calculated as follows:

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/”

Justice Studies Reading and Writing Philosophy: The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act  If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability (e.g. additional time on the quizzes), please contact me as soon as possible. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the SJSU Accessible Education Center (AEC) to establish a record of their disability. You will need to email me a copy of your AEC form so that I can provide you with the appropriate accommodations. Academic Integrity  Students should know that the University’s Code of Student Conduct which can be found at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/docs/Student%20Conduct%20Code%202013.pdf. Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The website for Student Conduct and Ethical Development is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/.
PLEASE NOTE: Justice Studies students have only two opportunities to pass JS 132 with a C or better. Any student with a final grade that is C- or lower on the first attempt will be placed on administrative probation with a registration hold. Any repeating student with a final grade that is C- or lower will be disqualified from the Justice Studies degree program.

Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.
