Course Description

JS130 surveys the relationship between sexuality and social and criminal justice. Students explore the nature and extent of sexual offenses against adults and children. A critical examination of recent public policies aimed at managing sexual aggression is included.

Students in JS 130 examine legal cases, empirical research, and advocacy materials to explore how socially constructed norms shape the legal regulation of sexuality and sexual behavior, and how various elements of sex and sexuality have been criminalized, policed, and governed. We will critically examine how different populations engage the criminal justice system as offenders, victims and survivors of sexual violence, law enforcement, and treatment professionals.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLOs)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

CLO 1: Demonstrate an understanding of how sex and sexuality intersects with and is treated by various institutions of social and criminal justice.
CLO 2: Demonstrate an empirical understanding of the nature and extent of sexual offenses against adults and children.
CLO 3: Demonstrate an understanding of various pieces of sex or sexuality related legislation and public policies surrounding sexual offending.

CLO 4: Think critically about these issues and produce detailed, scholarly, and objective assessments that demonstrate their ability to conduct independent research and justify their perspective.

CLO 5: Demonstrate their knowledge and familiarity with the material during class by contributing meaningfully and respectfully to class discussions.

CLO 6: Students should read, write, and contribute to discussion at a skilled and capable level.

Required Texts and Readings

Students may use electronic devices in class to access readings, but must stay on task; students using computers and electronic devices during class will be “on call” to respond to questions.

Library Liaison

For help with library resources and library research (including the use of databases and online research materials—such as journal search engines), students are strongly encouraged to contact the Justice Studies Library Liaison Silke Higgins, MLIS, Academic Liaison Librarian

Determination of Grades

Writing assignments will be graded on a 100-point scale and evaluated on content, clarity, and thoroughness. See Canvas for a detailed rubric and writing resources. Students must submit all assignments online at the Canvas website. Grades are determined based on exams, written assignments, research project, and participation. Students should read and follow instructions carefully, and review/edit assignments. Points will be deducted for incorrect grammar and spelling. Canvas Discussion / Activity Posts (10% of final grade)

Canvas Discussion / Activity Posts allow students to explore case studies, current events, documentaries, investigations, and debates in the field of Sexuality & Justice. Students should review the materials and provide original analysis in a post that links the issues to course readings and discussion themes. Students must complete at least three Canvas Discussion posts before April 24, 2018.

Quizzes (5% of final grade)

Students are expected to complete readings before the class session indicated on the course schedule. Students should come to class prepared to discuss the assigned readings such that class time is not wasted, and we can engage the material together. Though readings are not a graded assignment per se, prepare for quizzes on assigned reading, including True/False, matching, multiple choice, or short answers.

Law in Action Research Paper Project (25% of final grade)

Students are required to write an original 10-12 page research paper that addresses an issue of your choosing (in consultation with the professor) related to sexuality and justice. Papers will be evaluated based on the quality and organization of their writing, as well as evidence of substantial effort to edit and respond to feedback. Review the writing guidelines and rubric available on Canvas. This assignment observes that writing is a process; to complete the research paper, students will submit the following: (1) Abstract and Paper Proposal (2) An outline of your paper, along with a reference list of at least three empirical, peer reviewed journal articles that you intend to use in your paper (3) A peer review will be conducted on a rough draft of your paper (4) The final paper, incorporating responses to the peer review and feedback. The paper will be due on Canvas by 11:59 p.m. on the last day of instruction, May 14, 2018.

Midterm Examination (25% of final grade)

Students’ grasp of readings and course material will be assessed by a midterm examination comprised of multiple choice, definitions, short answer, and essay-style questions. More information and guidance on how to best review for the exam will be provided in class. The Midterm exam will be in class on March 27, 2018.

Participation (5% of final grade)

Critical reading, thinking, and writing involve a number of practical skills. These skills must be practiced to be developed and maintained. Students are expected to keep up with class reading, and to attend all class meetings well prepared to contribute to the classroom exchange of ideas and information. Active participation (both in class and online) is essential in order to succeed in JS 130.
Final Examination (25% of final grade)

The final examination will be comprehensive, and will assess students’ ability to understand, analyze, and apply concepts from readings and activities covered throughout the course. The final exam will be comprised of multiple choice, definitions, short answer, and essay-style questions. The final is May 17, 2018 from 5:15 – 7:30 p.m.

Extra Credit
Extra credit opportunities, including lectures, films, workshops, and on- and off-campus opportunities will be announced throughout the semester in class and via email. Check our course Canvas website for updates. To receive extra participation credit, students must write a 1-2 page reflection paper relating the event / activity to course themes. Upload extra credit submissions to Canvas before the last day of instruction.

SJSU Workload Expectations
SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf.

Academic Integrity and Plagiarism
Students should review SJSU’s Academic Integrity policy:
www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/docs/Academic_Integrity_Policy_S07-2.pdf

Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development.

The University will not tolerate instances of academic dishonesty. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. Students must complete all assignments unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have previously submitted for credit, or plan to submit for another class, please note that the SJSU Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.
Classroom Protocol

1. This course depends on participation, discussion, and interaction. Students are expected to be on time to class out of respect for your colleagues and instructor. Prepare for class to ensure you can contribute to discussion and debate.

2. Please turn off/mute all cell phones and other devices. Computers and electronic devices may only be used for note taking and accessing electronic readings. Students using electronic devices will be “on call” to answer questions and look up pertinent research questions online.

3. All classroom participants are expected to foster an environment that encourages participation, rather than silencing others (be respectful to one another, do not insult or intimidate others, evaluate alternative views with an open mind). We will discuss ground rules and develop classroom standards of conduct at the beginning of the semester.

4. Students are expected to complete all readings and assignments by the dates indicated on the syllabus. Be sure to check the course Canvas website regularly for updates.

5. Students are responsible for any and all notes and materials missed in their absence.

6. Readings about sexuality and justice can be challenging intellectually, personally, and emotionally. All students are encouraged to engage in self-care. This means that if particular topics or course materials raise emotional or other personal issues, you can simply choose not to speak or to leave the room without being questioned or penalized. Should you have any questions or concerns, free to contact the professor in person or anonymously (e.g., a note slipped under Dr. Kinney’s office door of 525A MacQuarrie Hall).

If you or a friend is in need of emotional support, please visit SJSU’s Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) www.sjsu.edu/counseling service. Phone: (408) 924-5910. Location: Student Wellness Center, Room 300.

Department’s Reading and Writing Philosophy

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e., reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program, but also over the span of a lifetime.

SJSU Writing Center

The SJSU Writing Center is located in Clark Hall, Suite 126.
