Class Days/Time: Tuesdays and Thursdays, 3:00-4:55

Classroom: MacQuarrie Hall 233

Requisites: Completion of, or co-requisite of 100W

Course Description: History of legal issues and individual and institutional discrimination/oppression of ethnic/cultural, women and religious minorities, gays, lesbians, trans in education, employment, criminal justice. The impact of mass incarceration, immigration and employment law on diverse populations will be investigated.

Solutions for structured inequality in the U.S. will be presented and discussed. The class will center on class presentations, discussions, documentaries and guest presenters. Media’s role in the creation and maintenance of systemic oppression will be highlighted. Historical power and gender theories will also be explored to explain enduring inequality.

Strategies on how groups have disrupted systemic oppression will also be presented.

Justice Studies Reading and Writing Philosophy: The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

University Policies Per University Policy S16-9: University-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/” Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability (e.g. additional time on the quizzes), please contact me as soon as possible. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the SJSU Accessible Education Center (AEC) to establish a record of their disability. You will need to email me a copy of your AEC form so that I can provide you with the appropriate accommodations. Academic Integrity Students should know that the University’s Code of Student Conduct which can be found at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/docs/Student%20Conduct%20Code%202013.pdf. Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University and the University’s integrity policy, require you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The website for Student Conduct and Ethical Development is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/.

PLEASE NOTE: Justice Studies Students have only two opportunities to pass JS 132 with a C or better. Any student with a final grade that is C- or lower on the first attempt will be placed on administrative probation with a registration hold. Any repeating student with a final grade that is C- or lower will be disqualified from the Justice Studies degree program.

Instances of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. Cheating on exams or plagiarism (presenting the work of another as your own, or the use of another person’s ideas without giving proper credit) will result in a failing grade and sanctions by the University. For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include in your assignment any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy F06-1 requires approval of instructors.

Resources for Students: The Peer Connections is located in Room 600 in the Student Services Center and Clark Hall, first floor, Academic Success Center. GELO7: Students will be able to recognize the maintenance of systemic inequality in media and political campaigns and be able to decipher coded language.

GELO8: Students will obtain a working knowledge of the U.S. court system and key decisions that have impacted inequality/equality by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Course Assignments:

1. Each student will generate questions from a reading. The student will then lead a class discussion on the answers with the class. The instructor will approve the questions before they are distributed to the rest of the class. Students may also suggest grades on work submitted on the assignment they discuss.

2. Short weekly assignments will be required on readings, documentaries, class presentations or a current event that’s relevant to the class.

3. Class participation will be graded, and it will be particularly important when your classmates are leading discussions on assignments as discussed in course assignment one. Don’t leave your fellow students hanging!

4. The midterm will include multiple choice and short answer questions.

5. The final will be a paper on your area of interest in the class and will also include a class presentation that summarizes your paper and connects your research to something we’ve learned in class. Papers will be type written, doubled-spaced, 7 to 10 pages and include at least seven sources from books or articles.
6. Collectively, the class will isolate an aspect of inequality in the community. The class will then create a flyer and distribute it and post it around campus.

7. Students are also encouraged to bring up issues about the law and inequality that they see in the community and the media.

Grading:

1. Leading class discussions - 20 percent.
2. Weekly assignments – 20 percent.
3. Class participation – 10 percent
4. Midterm – 15 percent
5. Final paper and presentation – 30 percent
6. Class project on inequality – 5 percent
