Class Overview

The expectation is that you will spend 4-6 hours for each module, completing the readings, watching videos and completing the assigned exercises and assignments. You will need to complete work every week. This is always due by midnight on Saturdays - see the due date column on the right below.

You will have a quiz on the readings every other week (three quizzes), in addition to the midterm, final, and four reflection papers.

Please send all communication via Canvas. This is where you will complete quizzes and submit assignments, as well. All course readings and materials are available in the class folder on Drive.

Course Description

From Catalog: “This course is a lower division introduction to the history of human rights as a concept and body of international law, and to the complicated role of human rights in contemporary social justice campaigns.”

This course explores the following:
- The origin of human rights (as an idea and body of law)
- The definition of human rights in international law (i.e. through human rights instruments, such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights)?
Functions of the major international courts (ICC and ICJ)
Significant human rights related international NGOs and their workings
The relationship between international human rights and human rights struggles and social problems in the U.S. and local communities

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- (GELO1) Place contemporary developments in cultural, historical, environmental, and spatial contexts.
- (GELO2) Identify the dynamics of ethnic, cultural, gender/sexual, age-based, class, regional, national, transnational, and global identities and the similarities, differences, linkages, and interactions between them.
- (GELO3) Evaluate social science information, draw on different points of view, and formulate applications appropriate to contemporary social issues.
- (GELO4) Students will be able to apply multidisciplinary material to a topic relevant to policy and social action at the local, national, and/or international levels.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

The goals of this course are to (1) give students a basic understanding of the events, actors and ideas that gave rise to the concept of human rights; (2) give students a basic understanding of international human rights law and a general familiarity with common human rights instruments; (3) give students the opportunity to grapple with the complicated relationship in theory and practice between human rights and social justice. As part of this last goal, students will become relatively familiar with several contemporary human rights campaigns.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- (CLO1) Recall a general history of human rights including the significant events, actors, and ideas that gave rise to the concept of human rights.
- (CLO2) Demonstrate a general familiarity with major human rights instruments and how these instruments work with regard to international (treaty) law.
- (CLO3) Demonstrate a familiarity with several current human rights campaigns (domestic and international), reporting agencies (Human Rights Watch, Amnesty International, etc.), and policy debates.

Library Liaison

For help with library resources and library research (including the use of databases and online research materials—such as journal search engines), students are strongly encouraged to contact the Justice Studies Library Liaison: Silke Higgins, silke.higgins@sjsu.edu, (408)808-2118.

Course Requirements and Assignments

Timely completion of all assignments including; online discussions, reflections, quizzes, midterm, final and any assigned activity.

Quizzes

All quizzes will be administered via Canvas. They will have a time limit of 45 minutes and can be taken at any point during the week they are assigned on the syllabus and must be completed before that Friday at 11:59 p.m.

Reflections
Each reflection should have a minimum of 500 words and include these elements:
1. Introduction: (introduce main ideas and key takeaways from the readings, videos, and activities from the previous week)
2. Body of your essay: (details about main concepts and your takeaways, realizations, questions and reflections on this newly acquired knowledge from the videos, readings and activities).
3. Conclusion: (sums up everything you wrote concisely)

Mid Term and Final Exams
There will be a midterm and final exam in this course to cover all course material and topics discussed and assigned. Both exams will be relatively straightforward, in a multiple-choice format, with both retention and application questions designed to evaluate students’ substantive grasp of course material. Each of these exams will be worth 30% of the final course grade (GELO 1-4; CLO 1-3).

Grading Information
Grades will be calculated from a weighted point system. There are no “curves” applied to grades in this course.

Classroom Protocol

1. This course depends on participation and independent learning via online resources. Students are expected to complete all assignments in a timely fashion.
2. Students are expected to complete all readings and assignments by the due dates indicated on the syllabus. There will be no extension for any assignment.
3. Students will be tested on acquired knowledge regularly throughout the course, any questions should be directed to the instructor of the course ahead of time.

JUSTICE STUDIES READ AND WRITING PHILOSOPHY

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e., reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/
