For several years, Dr. John Bond of the University of Leicester in England has run a successful forensic science summer school with SJSU, known as CSI: Leicester. Now, Dr. Bond and his colleague, Dr. Lisa Smith, July 8-12th, 2013, will offer CSI: San Jose-

- Assume the role of a forensic scientist
- Apply real life forensic analysis techniques
- Compare US and UK forensic methods
- Lectures and hands on laboratory work
- Receive credit from SJSU through JS 181

Student comments: "CSI Leicester was most definitely one of the best experiences of my life!" “Everything about it was perfect - we learned and had fun at the same time...I would gladly do it all over again if I had the chance." "It was an honour to be part of this course. It was a great experience. “
I really enjoyed the labs and lectures. Everything was great! "The coursework and instructors were great.”

For more information, contact Professor Steve Lee sblee999@gmail.com or steven.lee@sjsu.edu
408-924-2948
3 unit course credit will count toward JS and FS degrees.
Read more at http://justicestudies.sjsu.edu/2011/12/06/csileicester%E2%80%93a-summer-abroad/

Biographies- Dr. John Bond: John read Applied Physics at the University of Bath and then went on to research for a D.Phil. at the University of Sussex in space plasma physics. Following a period as an EPSRC Research Fellow at Sussex and some time in private industry, John joined Northamptonshire Police in 1993 to head the force’s Forensic Science Unit. Since then, John has become more interested in understanding the forensic process (from a crime being reported, to its detection) and how it can be used to increase the detection of crime by forensic science. In recent years, this has led to John’s involvement with a number of UK universities, principally in the areas of Forensic Psychology, Chemistry and Physics. More recently, this involvement has been in increasing collaboration with the University of Leicester through its internationally recognised reputation for research in these disciplines.

Dr. Lisa Smith, Senior Lecturer in Criminology: Lisa joined the department in January 2011, after working for five years in the Forensic Psychology department at Leicester. After completing her BSc in Psychology (with a minor of study in Philosophy of Law) at the University of Toronto, she completed an MSc in Forensic and Legal Psychology at the University of Leicester, followed by a PhD in Psychology at Leicester. Prior to relocating to the UK from Canada, Lisa worked with the Ontario Provincial Police as the Program Coordinator of a victim services response unit.