Advice for Undeclared Freshman

Things you need to know about your situation:

- Declaring Kinesiology as your major will be very competitive. A rule of thumb for a target GPA is minimally 3.0. In other words, you should strive for an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher to have a strong chance of qualifying to declare Kinesiology as your major.
- Don't take all these qualifying courses in one semester. Spread your courses out over at least two semesters.
- Have a back-up plan. Look for a second field, outside of Kinesiology, that really interests you. Start taking courses in that field such that you can switch to that field as your major, in case you cannot qualify for Kinesiology.
- When you have completed at least the qualifying courses, arrange by email to show a copy of your most recent transcript to the Advising Manager for approval. Change of Major Form is at <http://www.sjsu.edu/registrar/forms/> The KIN Advising Manager is Mrs. Janet Clair (jclair@kin.sjsu.edu)
