

MST Information Meeting

Looking for an educational experience to prepare you for an exciting, intellectually engaging and prestigious career in taxation?

Whether you are currently working as a tax professional or are considering moving into a career as a tax accountant, a Masters of Science in Taxation (MST) degree will help you reach your goal.

No doubt, taxes are complex, which is why many tax accountants and attorneys continue their education by earning an advanced degree in taxation. San José State University's MST program is unique. The program has a wide selection of electives; provides for an emphasis in high technology tax matters; has an advisory board with leaders from Big 4 firms, local and regional CPA firms, law firms and high technology companies; and is accredited by the prestigious Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

To learn more about the program and to learn how you can benefit from earning an MST degree, please come to the informational meeting:

Wednesday, July 8, 2009

6:00 - 7:30 pm

SJSU's Lucas Graduate School of Business
180 Rose Orchard Way (near Tasman and First Streets)
