

ON-LINE MATH 70 CLASSES

FALL 2009

The Department of Mathematics is offering two on-line (web-based) Math 70 classes in Fall 2009 semester (sections 16 and 17). The main advantage of this web-based course is that students can work at home at their own pace, reading lectures and doing homework and quizzes online. Students enrolled in any of the Math 70 online sections and those who want to be added must come to ONE of the First-day class meetings listed below.

The mandatory First-day class meetings will be held on:

Day	Date	Time	Place
Monday	August 24, 2009	12:00 pm - 1:00 pm	MH 221
Tuesday	August 25, 2009	11:00 am – 12:00 pm	MH 221
Wednesday	August 26, 2009	3:00 pm – 4:00 pm	MH 221

Students that enroll in Math 70 on-line class will get, together with the textbook, free software MyMath-Lab/CourseCompass that will be used throughout the course. Demonstration of this user-friendly software will be given at the beginning of semester and is strongly recommended. It will be held on:

Day	Date	Time	Place
Thursday	August 27, 2009	3:00 pm – 4:00 pm	MH 221
