Course Description
This course provides a more advanced understanding of global leadership development (GLD), both in others and in global organizations. In addition to facilitation and coaching skills to foster global leadership development in others, students are also taught to design a global leadership development program within an organization. Session topics include: strategic global leadership development, facilitating global leadership development, coaching across cultures, training design and practicum, organizational best practices in global leadership development, organization design and alignment for GLD, and advanced global change skills.

Students learn about global leadership and, in particular, its development in the SJSU’s Global Leadership Laboratory. As GLLab Associates, they help facilitate high impact experiential exercises, learn to give feedback and beginning coaching of student teams in global leadership courses.

Course Learning Outcomes
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Master the content knowledge of global leadership and its development
2. Foster and develop global leadership in yourself and others
3. Use basic facilitation, feedback and coaching skills
4. Design a leadership program for a specific organization’s needs

Required Texts/Readings

Other Readings

Additional readings will be assigned from a Reading List and posted on Canvas.

Classroom Format

There are two formats for this course. 1) The first is classroom lecture, cases, experiential exercises, group projects, skill building exercises, and peer coaching. This part of the course will teach you how to assist and facilitate courses or modules within a global leadership assessment center (the GLLab). 2) We will work occasionally with undergraduate students on campus in the GLLab classroom and also with a German university GLLab exchange program with SJSU MBA students on Saturday March 17th at Bunker Hill Lane. In the GLLab sessions, students will observe, provide feedback when asked, and do limited basic coaching.

In the GLLab, students undergo a battery of assessment instruments that provide them with feedback, work to develop their global skills, and then demonstrate them in simulations and projects. The methodology includes a mix of lectures, cases, experiential exercises, group projects, and especially skill-building exercises. The most effective method for teaching skills and cross-cultural sensitivity is via experiential exercises. We will use role plays, exercises, and simulations so that you can pull out your own learning points from these experiences. This type of course requires students to take responsibility for their own learning. In order for an experiential course to be successful, students must do all the reading and homework preparation before class and be present and participate actively in the classroom. Please do not underestimate the importance of participation in this course.

Class contributions may consist of:
1. Comments on readings:
   - Statement of a problem or issue related to the readings
   - Observations of how readings, etc. apply to specific situations
   - Application of readings to relevant personal experience or circumstance
   - Questions about the readings
   - Making connections between various readings
2. Active participation in simulations and exercises

Classroom Protocol

Because the course is taught experientially using value-added activities, attendance and participation are obligatory. Please notify the instructor in advance if an emergency prohibits your attendance. Students are expected to arrive on time and stay until the end of class unless previously arranged with the professor. Cell phone use and computer use unrelated to the class are not permitted. In the classroom, COB faculty allow students to use computers only for class-related activities such as taking notes on the lecture underway, following the lecture on Web-based PowerPoint slides that the instructor has posted, and finding Web sites to which the instructor directs students at the time of the lecture. Students who use their computers for other activities or who abuse the equipment in any way, at a minimum, will be asked to leave the class and will lose participation points for the day, and, at a maximum, will be referred to the Judicial Affairs Officer of the University for disrupting the course. (Such referral can lead to suspension from the University.)

Faculty Web Page and MYSJSU Messaging
Course materials such as syllabus, handouts, notes, assignment instructions, etc. can be found on the Canvas learning management system course website. You are responsible for regularly checking with the messaging system through MySJSU (or other communication system as indicated by the instructor) to learn of any updates.

Library Liaison (Optional)

Course Requirements and Assignments
SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf.

The scheduled course contact hours are in compliance with the required course credit hours (http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/catalog/rec-13692.14082.html) and the required course culminating

NOTE that University policy F69-24 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F69-24.pdf states that “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to insure maximum benefit for all members of the class.
Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading.”

Assignments aligned with the learning outcomes:
1. Reading & discussion will enable mastery of the content knowledge of global leadership development
2. Participation in classroom activities and experiential exercises will help develop practical skills in facilitation, coaching, peer coaching and feedback
3. Participation and facilitation at the GLLab will provide an opportunity to apply and practice coaching, facilitation and feedback skills developed in class exercises
4. The project for designing a leadership program provides the opportunity to learn and apply program
design skills

Assignments and Grading Policy
All written assignments in the MBA programs will follow the APA format.

Description of Course Assignments
Global Leadership Development Program Project
Students will design an integrated global leadership development program based upon the needs of a real organization. This project requires a needs analysis interview with a senior representative of an organization (for-profit or non-profit).

GLLab Practicum
Students will prepare for and participate in GLLab sessions. They will help facilitate specific activities or exercises/simulations and participate in debriefing sessions and limited coaching as per the instructors’ instructions. In all instances, students will exhibit a high degree of professionalism.

Personal Development Plan, Progress Reports and Report
Another important part of leadership development is the habit of continuous learning and personal development and reflection. For this reason, you are to create a personal development plan and submit weekly Canvas entries on your progress every Monday. The purpose of these activities is to help your ability develop global leadership competencies in others.

Global Leadership Development Reading Presentation/Discussion Facilitation
Students will present a summary of assigned readings during class and lead a discussion to understand and apply the key points. The reading list (short articles or selected book chapters) and assignments will be posted on Canvas.

Final Exam
The final exam will cover elements of global leadership development, cross-cultural coaching, and key course lessons.

Participation
Students will participate through discussions in class and taking part in various activities and simulations. Participation should demonstrate your ability to employ constructive critical thinking on global leadership development. Merely taking up air time will not raise your grade; it could lower it.

University Policies

General Expectations, Rights and Responsibilities of the Student

As members of the academic community, students accept both the rights and responsibilities incumbent upon all members of the institution. Students are encouraged to familiarize them-selves with SJSU’s policies and practices pertaining to the procedures to follow if and when questions or concerns about a class arises. See University Policy S90–5 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S90-5.pdf. More detailed information on a variety of related topics is available in the SJSU catalog, at http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/catalog/rec-12234.12506.html. In general, it is recommended that students begin by seeking clarification or discussing concerns with their instructor. If such conversation is not possible, or if it does not serve to address the issue, it is recommended that the student contact the Department Chair as a next step.

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendars document on the Academic Calendars webpage at http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/. The Late Drop Policy is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes.

Information about the latest changes and news is available at the Advising Hub at http://www.sjsu.edu/advising/.

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

University Policy S12-7, http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course and the following items to be included in the syllabus:

□ “Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”
  o It is suggested that the greensheet include the instructor’s process for granting permission, whether in writing or orally and whether for the whole semester or on a class by class basis.
  o In classes where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well.
□ “Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed.
