

Presentation Guidelines and Schedule

Monday 5/4:

(Not sure of order on any given day.)

Nigel P.
Samuel T.
Aaron M.
Joey S.
Ilze P.
Michael M.
Fred R.

Wednesday 5/6:

Chris W.
Eric F.
Dominique D.
Ryan S.
Ryan L.
Frederick K-T.
John K.

**

You each have 10 minutes TOTAL, including questions. You must leave at least 2 minutes for questions (I'll cut you off after 8 minutes.)

It's hard to give an 8-minute talk. TIME YOURSELF BEFOREHAND. Also, make sure you know exactly what your first sentence or two will be so that you can get started instantly without hemming and hawing.

If you want to use Powerpoint, you must email me your slides by 7am on the morning of the presentation. If you want to use another program, talk to me. Chalk-talks are fine.

The audience is your peers; make it accessible. If the material is too high-level for your peers to understand, you won't get a lot of extra credit.

You won't be able to discuss everything in your paper, so don't try: in general I suggest focusing on doing a few things well (in depth) rather than a lot of breadth.

Come talk to me, or email, if have have questions or want feedback!

-K