Why the Humanities Are Important

Lui Lam
San Jose State University, USA
Importance of humanities could be seen:

1. If all present “science” research is stopped, the world is still the same—chaos and tragedies will continue—because it is the humanities (underdeveloped in the last 2400 years since Plato, which include decision making) that matter in human affairs.

2. Another way of seeing this is through the lesson of Apple company:

Putting a good humanist among “scientists”/engineers could create great companies—good for the economy.
Wrong decision making (a discipline in the humanities) causes lives, millions of lives.

Holocaust in Germany (WWII)

6 million dead
Raising the scientficity (scientific level) of the humanities will reverse the declining enrollment in the humanities in universities.

The way to do it is through humanities-”science” blending—the scimat approach.