Course Format: Hybrid
This course will adopt a hybrid delivery format. Students will need access to a computer or tablet device with internet connectivity. Students are expected to complete the lecture and reading activities in the “online weeks” to be ready to engage in active activities in class.

Computer labs for student use are available in the Academic Success Center (http://www.sjsu.edu/at/asc) located on the 1st floor of Clark Hall and in the Associated Students Lab on the 2nd floor of the Student Union. Additional computer labs may be available in your department/college. Computers are also available in the Martin Luther King Library. A wide variety of audio-visual equipment is available for student checkout from Media Services located in IRC 112. These items include DV and HD digital camcorders; digital still cameras; video, slide and overhead projectors; DVD, CD, and audiotape players; sound systems, wireless microphones, projection screens and monitors.

Canvas Learning Management System
All course materials (announcements, syllabus, handouts, assignment instructions, lecture videos, etc.) will be available on Canvas. You are responsible for regularly checking both Canvas and your SJSU email (the one that ends with “sjsu.edu”) to learn of any updates. For Canvas support, please review the Canvas Student Resources (http://www.sjsu.edu/at/ec/canvas/student_resources_new/index.html).

Course Description (from SJSU Catalog)
This course will address the developmental levels of speech, language, and communicative competence including dialectical variations, and an introduction to second language acquisition and communication disorders. The course will provide a foundation for language assessment and development.

Kulkarni, S. Spring 2020
Course Learning Goals:
There are four goals for this course.

1. Students will develop knowledge of typical and atypical language development and the role of special education services in supporting individuals who are experiencing atypical language development.

2. Students will focus on the development of communicative competence, with a particular focus on the way in which speech and language develop and influence each other. As part of our discussion, we will consider dialectal variations, second language acquisition, and the impact of communication disorders on an individual’s ability to interact with and successfully express themselves with others.

3. Students will gain an understanding of both dis/ability and language with an emphasis on social, historical, political and economic contexts. Through readings, lectures, and activities, students will understand how disability intersects with other social markers (race, culture, language, gender, sexuality) to inform identity formation.

4. Students will study how dis/ability and language labels impact individuals in schools and societal contexts.

California Council on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) Standards

In compliance with the California Teacher Credentialing Commission’s Teaching Performance Expectations (TPEs) for the Single Subject Credential Program and Program Standards for the Education Specialist Instruction in Mild to Moderate Disabilities Credential Program, students will address, examine, and/or employ techniques that will help them develop the ability to meet the following Program Standards and Teaching Performance Expectations:

Program Standard 3: Educating Diverse Learners

Program Standard 11: Typical and Atypical Development

Multiple Subject and Single Subject Teaching Performance Expectations

TPE 1: Engaging and Supporting All Students in Learning

TPE 4: Planning Instruction and Designing Learning Experiences for All Students

TPE 6: Developing as a Professional Educator

SJSU Studies – SELF, SOCIETY, & EQUALITY IN THE U.S. (Area S)

General Education Learning Outcomes (GELOs)

After successful completing the course, students shall be able to:

1. Describe how identities (i.e., gender, language, racial, class, sexual orientation, disability and/or age) are shaped and constructed in society;

Kulkarni, S. Spring 2020
2. Describe historical, social, political, and economic processes producing diversity, equity, and inequities;
3. Describe social movements and activism that has led to greater equity in the U.S.
4. Embrace differences across social identities (gender, race, language, culture, sexuality, dis/ability).

Program Learning Outcomes (PLOs)

1. Students assess and identify the educational needs and strengths of students with disabilities.
2. Students develop Individualized Education Programs (IEP), Individual Family Service Plans (IFSP), and Individualized Transition Plans (ITP) with educational team members to meet the unique needs of students with disabilities from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds as appropriate to their credential.
3. Graduates align instruction with general education curricula and/or preschool foundations in the Individual Education Program, Individual Family Service Plan, and/or Individual Transition Plan as appropriate to their credential.
4. Graduates integrate culturally sustaining pedagogies and family perspectives into all aspects of instruction, including assessment and intervention.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Describe how cultural and social variables influence the identity and behavior of individuals with disabilities and recognize and describe structured inequalities and struggles related to disability in racial, ethnic, and cultural groups
2. Understand the heterogeneous world of disability and describe how religion, gender ethnicity, race, class, sexual orientation and age influence the experiences of persons with disabilities in the U.S. in terms of equality and inequality
3. Understand how past/current social, historical, political, and economic processes have affected the rights and experiences of persons with disabilities in the US in terms of equality and structured inequality and the role they have played in formal/informal public policies and practices that lead to greater equality and social justice for persons with disabilities in the US
4. Define common linguistic terminology and understand the most prevalent theories of language acquisition.
5. Describe the stages of normal language development from preschool to the young adult years and identify challenges that can arise in language acquisition that can lead to speech and language delays or disorders.
6. Understand the relationship between language acquisition and biological processes, cognitive development, and the environment and understand linguistic diversity of different cultural groups.

Required Texts

Note: The 9th edition is required because previous editions do not contain the important revision in Chapter 11-Second Language Acquisition.

Note: A reserve copy has been placed both as an e-text through the SJSU Library and a physical copy for 24-hour loan. Visit the Course Reserves Website: (https://reserves.calstate.edu/sanjose/course/362207360002919) for more information.

Other Readings and Excerpts (posted on CANVAS)

Course Assignments [Total of 250 points]

1. Reading Reflections (5 Reflections @ 10 points each): Over the course of the semester, students will choose one reading from the assigned reading for each reflection week. They will submit a 1-page summary and 1-page reflection of the reading. Specifically, students should connect reflections to (a) personal lives including experiences with education, and (b) ideas generated about language development and/or teaching of students with dis/abilities at the intersections of race, language, sexuality, and gender.

High Leverage Practices: HLP4, HLP 6, HLP 7, HLP12, HLP 18, HLP 22

2. Stakeholder Interview and Support (50 points): Students will choose an educational stakeholder (teacher, family member, or service provider) and conduct a brief interview with them using structured questions that ask about their experiences with people who have dis/abilities at the intersections of race, language, gender, and sexuality. Using the

3. Atypical/Typical Language Development Reading Quizzes (5 Quizzes @ 20 points each): A total of 5 in-class quizzes on the Gleason & Ratner textbook Development of Language will be provided on course readings. Quizzes will be completed individually in class. Students who are absent during quizzes may make up a quiz by providing a written request at least 24 hours before the date of the quiz or with medical documentation of an emergency.

Expectations

1. Make efforts to...
   a. Be on time to class. If you arrive late or need to miss class, it is your responsibility to “ask 3 before me” and check with peers about what you missed before directing questions to the professor.
   b. Turn in assignments on time. I use a 48-hour rule. If you require an extension for an assignment, I need a written request 48 hours before it is due. Only exceptions include documented emergencies (e.g. illnesses, accidents, family emergencies), which means documentation must be provided in the case of the emergency.
   c. Take a social media break during class. Reduce time you’re on social media apps or other non-class related websites during our time together.
   d. Respect your professor and your peers! Differences of opinions and/or perspectives are going to be a part of our time together.
   e. Practice self-care. There will be moments of seriousness, laughter, and discomfort that occur during our class. Be mindful of when you may need to step away, take a breath, and then return. Also note that we will be using a brave space rather than safe space approach.

University Policies
Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/
