Course Catalog Description:

Advanced research and proposal writing. Students conduct background research and develop a preliminary research proposal that demonstrates their capacity to do independent research, analysis, and writing about a complex planning problem.

Course Description and Course Learning Objectives:

This course provides students with the skills and knowledge to prepare a preliminary research proposal required prior to enrolling in URPB 298A. Students will learn how to frame effective research questions and identify appropriate peer-reviewed literature relevant to their research topic. We will explore a variety of research methods and identify which methods are appropriate to answer the students’ research questions. In addition, students will learn how to provide constructive feedback on a colleague’s writing.

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Conceptualize problems from complex, real-world situations so the problems are meaningful to the intended audience and research-worthy.
2. Identify and summarize appropriate peer-reviewed literature relevant to a proposed area of research.
3. Describe the key strengths and weaknesses of qualitative data collection methods for planning and policy analysis, such as interviews, focus groups, observations, and case studies.
4. Prepare constructive, tactful feedback to help colleagues improve their writing.
Note that MUP students who entered the program in Fall 2012 or later must pass URBP 279P in order to enroll in URBP 298A. In addition, if students decide that they wish to work in URBP 298A on a topic different from the one they write about for the 297P Preliminary Research Proposal, then before the semester they take 298A they need to prepare a new Preliminary Research Proposal that is assessed by the URBP 298 Faculty Coordinator as being of passing quality.

Planning Accreditation Board (PAB) Knowledge Components

This course partially covers the following PAB Knowledge Components:

2.a) Research: tools for assembling and analyzing ideas and information from prior practice and scholarship, and from primary and secondary sources.

2.c) Quantitative and Qualitative Methods: data collection, analysis and modeling tools for forecasting, policy analysis, and design of projects and plans.

A complete list of the PAB Knowledge Components can be found at http://www.sjsu.edu/urbanplanning/courses/pabknowledge.htm.

The Preliminary Research Proposal assignments

You will write two drafts and a final version of a preliminary research proposal. The proposal will include your proposed URBP 298 planning report’s research question and an explanation of its importance, an overview of the methods you anticipate using, and an annotated bibliography of at least 30 substantive sources related to your topic. The drafts will each be graded pass/fail, and the final assignment will receive a letter grade. Additional instructions will be given on a separate handout.

Meeting with the instructor

Between 10/8 and 11/5, you must meet with me for an in-person or phone conversation to discuss your preliminary proposal. (You are most welcome to meet with me additional times during the semester as well.) You will receive a pass/fail grade on this component of the class, based on whether or not you meet with me during the required time period.

Peer evaluation

You will prepare written feedback on three of your classmates’ second proposal drafts. Additional instructions will be given on a separate handout. The assignment will be graded pass/fail. Students who complete the assignment with a reasonable level of effort will receive a passing grade.

Course Workload

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of forty-five hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities including but not limited to internships, labs, clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

Classroom Protocol

As a courtesy to other students and to me, during class times please refrain from checking email, browsing the web, or any use of an electronic device that is not directly related to the class activities. Please also turn cell phones to silent mode and plan not to respond to incoming calls during class.
Academic Integrity Statement, Plagiarism, and Citing Sources Properly

SJSU’s Policy on Academic Integrity states: “Your own commitment to learning, as evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University, and the University's Academic Integrity Policy requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the Office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development” (Academic Senate Policy S07-2). The policy on academic integrity can be found at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/S07-2.htm.

Plagiarism is the use of someone else's language, images, data, or ideas without proper attribution. It is a very serious offense both in the university and in your professional work. In essence, plagiarism is both theft and lying: you have stolen someone else's ideas, and then lied by implying that they are your own.

Plagiarism will lead to grade penalties and a record filed with the Office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. In severe cases, students may also fail the course or even be expelled from the university.

If you are unsure what constitutes plagiarism, it is your responsibility to make sure you clarify the issues before you hand in draft or final work.

Learning when to cite a source and when not to is an art, not a science. However, here are some common examples of plagiarism that you should be careful to avoid:

- Using a sentence (or even a part of a sentence) that someone else wrote without identifying the language as a quote by putting the text in quote marks and referencing the source.
- Paraphrasing somebody else’s theory or idea without referencing the source.
- Using a picture or table from a webpage or book without reference the source.
- Using data some other person or organization has collected without referencing the source.

The University of Indiana has developed a very helpful website with concrete examples about proper paraphrasing and quotation. See in particular the following pages:

- Overview of plagiarism at www.indiana.edu/~istd/overview.html
- Examples of plagiarism at www.indiana.edu/~istd/examples.html
- Plagiarism quiz at www.indiana.edu/~istd/test.html

If you still have questions, feel free to talk to me personally. There is nothing wrong with asking for help, whereas even unintentional plagiarism is a serious offense.

Citation style

It is important to properly cite any references you use in your assignments. The Department of Urban and Regional Planning uses Kate Turabian’s A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 7th edition (University of Chicago Press, 2007, ISBN-10: 0-226-82336-9). Note that Turabian’s book describes two systems for referencing materials: (1) “notes” (footnotes or endnotes), plus a corresponding bibliography, and (2) in-text parenthetical references, plus a corresponding reference list. In this class, students should use the first system (footnotes and a bibliography).

Accommodation for Disabilities

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the DRC (Disability Resource Center) to establish a record of their disability.

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify people when you are recording them. You must obtain my permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.

Library Liaison

The SJSU Library Liaison for the Urban and Regional Planning Department is Ms. Toby Matoush. If you have questions, you can contact her at toby.matoush@sjsu.edu or 408-928-2096. You can also schedule individual meetings with her to ask for advice on your particular research topic.

SJSU Writing Center

The SJSU Writing Center is located in Room 126 in Clark Hall. It is staffed by professional instructors and upper-division or graduate-level writing specialists from each of the seven SJSU colleges. The writing specialists have met a rigorous GPA requirement, and they are well trained to assist all students at all levels within all disciplines to become better writers. The Writing Center website is located at http://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter/about/staff/.
URBP 297P – PLANNING REPORT PRELIMINARY PROPOSAL
FALL 2012

COURSE SCHEDULE

Notes:
• Schedule is subject to change with fair notice by email or in-class announcement
• Readings are to be completed by the dates listed
• Assignments are due by class time on the dates listed (or by midnight, if it’s not a class meeting day)

9/10 – Class meeting 1

Topics
• Introductions & course overview
• Research in planning: what is it, why do it, and how to do it?
• Overview of the Planning Report process (what to expect in 297P, 298A, and 298B)
• Overview of 297P and the Preliminary Research Proposal assignment
• How to develop a research question

Reading:
• Required: Turabian, Chapters 1 and 2 (on developing research questions)
• Recommended:
  o Booth et al, Chapters 1 – 4 (the purpose of research and developing research questions)
  o Johnson, Chapter 3 (developing research questions)
  o May, Chapters 1 – 3 (philosophical & intellectual debates about the research process)

9/17 – Class meeting 2

MEET AT THE MLK Library, room 213

Topics
• Finding library resources: presentation by SJSU Reference Librarian Toby Matoush
• Strategies for reading technical articles

Readings/viewing:
• Required:
  o Turabian, Chapters 3 and 4 (finding and engaging with sources)
UniLearnings’s “Reading Efficiently” and “Reading Critically” webpages. Start at http://unilearning.uow.edu.au/reading/1d.html. Follow the “next” buttons at the top left to read all the relevant pages. On the first page, be sure to click on the “Journal article” link at the bottom.

Topics:
- Overview of how to choose research methods
- Strengths and weakness of qualitative methods (e.g., interviews, focus groups, observations, content analysis)
- Storyboarding your concept for your project

Readings
- Required:
  - Johnson, Chapters 4 – 6 (designing methods)
  - Scan the UC Berkeley’s Environmental Design Library’s “Preparing for Thesis & Dissertation Research” list of research method texts at http://www.lib.berkeley.edu/ENVI/thesisgd.html#Methods (to get ideas on methods books you may wish to read for your project)
- Recommended
  - May, Chapters 4 -7 (theoretical and practical discussion of various methods)
  - Rugg and Petre, Chapter 1 (nature of research and designing methods)

10/1 – Class meeting 4

Draft Preliminary Research Proposal #1 due

Topics
- How to provide constructive peer reviews
- In-class peer feedback on the draft preliminary proposals

11/19 - Draft Preliminary Research Proposal #2 due
11/26 – Class meeting 5

Due: Written critique of your peers’ Draft Preliminary Proposal #2

Topics:
• Quick review of citation formatting
• Discussion of peer feedback on Draft Preliminary Research Proposal #2

12/10 - Final preliminary proposal due
