Course Description
This course will take a sustained look at the history of our discipline and its methods; we will consider how art history developed as an independent intellectual discipline and how it has been practiced.

Learning Outcomes and Course Goals
The learning objectives of the course are to:
1) develop a critical understanding of the history of art history and provide an introduction to the thinkers who have shaped the discipline;
2) develop a critical awareness of the ideas, values and prejudices that have shaped art history and the issues that continue to enliven it;
3) learn new critical methodologies that can broaden understanding of art and sharpen awareness of the methodologies we use;
4) evaluate our assumptions about art, beauty, history, aesthetics;
5) improve vocabulary and critical analysis and critical reading skills;
6) and generally become more thoughtful, self-aware and careful interpreters of works of art.

These objectives will be assessed in the Papers, the Portfolio Exercise, the Oral Presentation and the Final Exam. Number 5 will be particularly addressed in the vocabulary work and in exercises assigned for specific readings throughout the semester.

Other Readings

Other readings will be available on the Course Website http://arth.sjsu.edu. Click on course web pages at the left of the screen and then on our course; the user name is arth and the password will be given to you on the first day of class.

You will be expected to keep a running vocabulary list and thus should have a good dictionary at hand. There are many good ones, but I recommend the Merriam-Webster Collegiate Dictionary.

Library Liaison

Our library Liaison is Rebecca Kohn. She can be reached via email at Rebecca.Kohn@sjsu.edu and by phone at (408) 808-2007. Her office is located on the 4th floor of the King Library and she welcomes students to contact her with research questions. Art and Art History Library Resources are available online at: libguides.sjsu.edu/Art. All of the University Library Resources can be accessed at: libguides.sjsu.edu/az.php

Course Requirements and Assignments

Coursework and Expectations

This will be a challenging course for all of us. The course will be run in a seminar-style with discussions and student presentations. Participation by each student is essential. Everyone must prepare the reading assignments each week and be ready to participate in the discussion. Individual students will lead discussion of the reading for each class with my assistance. My expectation is that you will not miss any classes, and absences will not be excused except in the case of serious or contagious illness. If it is absolutely necessary for you to miss a class or turn in an assignment late, you must notify me by email as soon as possible.

One of the challenges (but also an opportunity) of this course will be in the complexity of the reading we will necessarily encounter. I have tried to make choices that fall on the accessible side of the range of potential assignments, but the reading will be difficult. One way to face this challenge squarely is to use this class as an opportunity to improve critical reading skills and vocabulary. It is essential that you come to class with a hard copy of the reading in hand, ready to participate in the discussion, having read the material carefully (perhaps twice) and answered any prep questions or completed any exercises I have given you. We will develop an email list so that I can send you study questions or clarifications in advance of our class meetings. Our discussions will often include close reading of important passages.

Vocabulary, Written Work and Grading

Throughout the semester, I would like you to keep an ongoing vocabulary list that will be handed in to me, perhaps unannounced, perhaps more than once, but certainly at the end of the course. For each reading, prepare two vocabulary lists:

- Choose ten words in your reading that you do not understand and that seem important to know in order to improve your understanding of the reading. Look those words up and provide a definition for them that you can understand and could explain to others. This should be handwritten, not cut and pasted from the computer. (LO 5)
- Choose two concept words that seem essential to the argument of the author and work toward developing a definition in your own words of what is meant by the term. I have in mind, particularly, words that may seem familiar to you but are elusive in their precise meaning--
"form" would be an example. I'd like you to do this each week, though it is possible that words will be repeated and that your understanding of them will change and grow. (LO5)

Each of you will be responsible for a painting that you will use as a basis for applying the ideas we encounter in the reading. I will assign these images near the beginning of the course. Students will produce a portfolio of exercises based on this painting and make a short presentation of these works in early October and then will come back to the image again and again during the class, giving quick presentations and writing two short papers. In all, you can expect to write about 15 pages for this course and give one or two short presentations. (LO 1-6).

There will also be a final exam that requires you to synthesize and apply the reading for the second part of the course (LO 1-6).

Grading Policy

Written work will constitute 75 percent of your grade (the visual analysis paper will be worth 10 percent, the groundwork presentation and portfolio 30 percent, the second paper 20 and the final exam 15). The other 25 percent will be determined by participation in class. Participation will be determined by contribution in class, the vocabulary work (10 percent) and occasional written exercises (10 percent) designed to improve your reading skills. I do use plus or minus grades.

- Papers must be turned in on time, but if for some reason you are unable to do so, I must receive an email from you, by the time the paper is due, informing me that the paper will have to be late. If you do not notify me, I will have to deduct points--2 points for each day the paper is late.
- There is no extra credit unless attendance at some event pertinent to our course becomes available.
- Please read the university policy on Academic Integrity below and know that I will not tolerate plagiarism of any kind, including reuse of your own work from another class.

Classroom Protocol

The citizens of the State of California subsidize your education at a level that is higher than you probably realize. You owe it not only to yourself, but also to them to attend every class and make the most of it. I shouldn’t have to put in writing that you are expected to be on time with your cell phone turned off and put away. That is simply mature behavior expected of any college student. If an emergency situation makes it necessary for you to make or receive a call during class time, you must inform me before class. I do not subscribe to the widespread current notion that a person who is not physically present requires more consideration than the people around you.

University Policies

General Expectations, Rights and Responsibilities of the Student

As members of the academic community, students accept both the rights and responsibilities incumbent upon all members of the institution. Students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with SJSU’s policies and practices pertaining to the procedures to follow if and when questions or concerns about a class arises. See University Policy S90–5 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S90-5.pdf. More detailed information on a variety of related topics is available in the SJSU catalog, at http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/catalog/rec-12234.12506.html. In general, it is recommended that students begin by seeking clarification or discussing concerns with their instructor. If such conversation is not possible, or if it does not serve to address the issue, it is recommended that the student contact the Department Chair as a next step.
Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendars document on the Academic Calendars webpage at http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/. The Late Drop Policy is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes. Information about the latest changes and news is available at the Advising Hub at http://www.sjsu.edu/advising/.

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

- “Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”
  - It is suggested that the greensheet include the instructor’s process for granting permission, whether in writing or orally and whether for the whole semester or on a class by class basis.
  - In classes where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well.
- “Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

Academic integrity

Your commitment, as a student, to learning is evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University. The University Academic Integrity Policy S07-2 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S07-2.pdf requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The Student Conduct and Ethical Development website is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 at http://www.sjsu.edu/president/docs/directives/PD_1997-03.pdf requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) at http://www.sjsu.edu/aec to establish a record of their disability.
