Course Description
The human organism from an evolutionary perspective. The foundations of life and evolutionary theory. Introduction to primate behavior and the fossil record. Human biocultural evolution over the last sixty million years. There are no prerequisites to take this course.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)
To fulfill the GE writing requirement students will write three 2-page (500 words) essays. Each writing assignment is a take-home assignment and will be submitted using turnitin.com and hand in a printed version in class. Both the writing assignments and exam questions will be utilized to assess GE learning outcomes.

Upon successful completion of this GE course, students will be able to:
1. use methods of science and knowledge derived from current scientific inquiry in life or physical science to question existing explanations;
2. demonstrate ways in which science influences and is influenced by complex societies, including political and moral issues; and
3. recognize methods of science, in which quantitative, analytical reasoning techniques are used.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)
The most important contribution this course can make to your education is to provide you with greater ability to think critically. This skill will contribute permanently to your further education and for the rest of your life.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:
1. explain the evolutionary process, how it works, and how scientists have come to understand the process (specifically to understand ourselves).
2. describe the evolutionary history of our species and the biological bases that are at the foundation of this process. Introduction to Human Evolution, ANTH012, Fall 2019 Page 2 of 5
3. comprehend basic biological knowledge relating to molecular biology, cell reproduction, fundamental principles of micro- and macro-evolutionary theory (especially the role of natural selection), and the intellectual background leading to the development of evolutionary theory.
4. explain from a comparative perspective how humans are related to other primates (and what this implies structurally, physiologically, and behaviorally).

Course Requirements and Assignments (Required)

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.”

Preparation and participation requirements. Read the text prior to coming to class, complete the activity sheets at the end of each chapter, and come with questions.

Final Examination or Evaluation

Exam requirements. There will be three exams and a comprehensive final exam. Exam questions are designed to assess course and GE learning objectives.

Writing requirements. There will be three 500-word papers. Writing assignments must be turned in both as a printed version at the beginning of class and to Turnitin.com before class begins on the scheduled due date.
Topics and requirements will be discussed in detail in class and are designed to address the GE learning objectives. Writing assignments will be graded in accordance to GE guidelines, which states that “writing shall be assessed for grammar, clarity, conciseness and coherence.”

There will be extra credit opportunities, which are based on preparedness for the review sessions.

Grading Policy
Grades will be posted on Canvas.
To pass this course, you must receive a grade of D- or higher.

Students should keep track of their grades, which entails picking up writing assignments and exams in a timely manner. I will bring graded assignments to class or students can come to my office to pick them up. If you have any grade issues, you must come to my office to discuss them.

Grading Information
Grades will be based on the following (each is graded on a scale of 100):
Writing Assignments 3 X 10% = 30%
Exams 3 X 15% = 45%
Final Exam 1 X 25% = 25%
Total 100%

Make-up Work: If you know in advance that you are unable to attend an exam, contact me to set up a time to take the exam prior to its scheduled date. Requests for extensions will be dealt on a case-by-case basis, but in most circumstances only students who were ill or have another valid documented excuse will be able to take an exam (including the final) or submit an assignment late. The final will be given on the scheduled time.

Determination of Grades
Grades will be assessed based on writing competency and clarity, coherence and accuracy of argument, and professional presentation.
