

HUMAN ADAPTABILITY

and

MATERIAL CULTURE

How do humans adapt through their ability to alter and transform environments through technology? The resulting built worlds increasingly provide both the context in which we live and the most profound challenges for humans.

